OUTLOOK FOR FUSION GLOOMY

Committee Strikes Snags in Effort to Get Together on Platform

Single Taxers Withdraw and Name Robert C. Macauley for President

CHICAGO, July 14.—Hopes for the survival of the new fusion party were at ebb tide as the all night conference of the new body's resolutions committee dragged along today in an effort to get together on a platform acceptable to Senator La Follette.

The extreme left which yesterday controlled the amalgamation and forced its platform desires on the more conservative elements in the convention struck a snag when it met the veto of the probable presidential nominee of the new party. Forty-eighters, who constitute the right wing group of the fusion movement, are bitterly opposed to the more socialistic ideas of the radical labor

DRACUT WOOLEN MILL

Many Operatives Would Like to See it Start up—Pres. Morrison's Statement

At the Navy Yard, Dracut, a Sun representative finds the sentiment of the people in favor of reopening the Merrimack woolen mill which was closed by the voluntary action of the operatives in refusing to work during July and August at the scale of wages in force in May and June. The information given below was obtained in response to the following communication:

Editor Sun.

Dear Sir:—I notice that in your article in yesterday's paper referring to the condition of business in the local mills you made no mention of the Merrimack Woolen mills in Dracut. There are a good many people who would like to know how long the Dracut mill is to remain closed or whether it will open soon, as many of the operatives are still idle. If you can give any information on this matter you will greatly oblige.

Yours truly,
MILL OPERATIVE.

In order to obtain some information relative to the Merrimack Woolen mill in Dracut a representative of The Sun yesterday talked with a number of the Navy Yard people and it seems to be the sentiment of the vast majority in that district at least, that it was a big mistake to allow the mill to close if it could have been kept running by a compromise arrangement covering the two months of July and August.

When asked whether the people would like to have the mill reopen, one man formerly employed in the mill said: "Yes, certainly, the people around here would like to see the mill reopen. Many of the young men who worked there have secured em-

THREATENS NEW REIGN OF TERROR

Villa Will Reopen Hostilities in Northern Mexico Unless Demands Are Heeded

Manifesto to Huerta Calls for Abolition of Present Constitution

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 14.—Restoration of the constitution of 1857 and the abolition of the constitution of 1917, which now is in force, is the principal demand contained in a copy of Francesco Villa's manifesto to the De la Huerta government, which has reached here from Villa's camp south of the Big Bend district. Other demands made in the manifesto are:

The immediate resignation of General P. Elias Calles from the portfolio of minister of war and marine; the withdrawal of all federal officers from the Obregonista army in Chihuahua; and that Villa be authorized to name one of his generals commander of the north in charge of all operations in the state of Chihuahua.

Failure to comply with any or all of these demands will cause Villa to reopen hostilities in northern Mexico and "begin a new reign of terror," according to the manifesto. July 15 is the date given in the demand for the resumption of hostilities if the new government fails to meet the demands.

CHAUFFEUR ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT

Justin B. Jenkins, a chauffeur employed by the Cruickshank Ice Cream company and driver of the truck which struck and killed Alice C. Corte, 12 years, of 15 Elm street, on Back Central street, last evening about 5 o'clock, was charged with manslaughter in police court this morning, before Judge Enright. Jenkins did not enter a plea, but was granted continuance under bonds of $2000 for trial on August 4.

Jenkins had driven the truck from Charles into Back Central and was going towards Towers' corner when the girl, according to witnesses, darted into the path of the machine. According to the police, Jenkins applied the brakes so quickly that the truck skidded 52 feet before striking the child and about 5 feet after she was struck. The girl did not regain consciousness after the accident, and died at St. John's hospital about two hours later.

LOWELL BOY IN OLYMPIC TRYOUT

William F. Walsh, prominent in his grammar school days as an athlete for the Morey school and on last Memorial day as the winner in the half-mile run on the South common, will be the only boy from this city who will compete in that event in the National A.A.U. junior tryouts for the Olympic games at the Harvard stadium in Cambridge on Friday, July 16. If Walsh comes out a winner on Friday he will be listed up for the senior tryouts on Saturday.

Walsh has shown considerable speed lately and his friends and backers expect good results on Friday. Even if he does not come through as a competitor unattached for the Olympic games he has a chance of showing his speed against several other men from distant parts of the country.

COX REPLIES TO HARDING

Democratic Nominee Calls Opponent's Front Porch a Listening Post

Says Latter Has Harked Back to Days of 30 Years Ago

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—Charging that Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, had made his "front porch a listening post," Governor Cox, the democratic nominee, today issued a statement replying to Senator Harding's statement of yesterday, that the Wilson administration had saddled the League of Nations upon him as the chief campaign issue.

The governor's statement, which was given to the newspaper correspondents at the morning's conference, follows:

"I recognize the eagerness of the gentlemen of the press who are assigned here to develop news copy daily. I have no disposition to discourage that enterprise, but, at the very outset, it is well that we have this understanding of a very fundamental phase of the present situation.

"Senator Harding has made two definite announcements: That he purposes to hark back to the days of 30 years ago, and that he will make of his front porch a listening post. This means that he will be as far removed from the running current of progressive thought as the senatorial oligarchy of Lodge and Penrose and Smoot has been removed from the heart beats of the American people for a year or more.

"My campaign will be dedicated to the task of bringing peace with honor, of readjusting the affairs of civilization, and of creating a new day out of which we will make the best of the lessons of the past. Therefore, things that the senator believes vital and pertinent from his isolated perspective will not, in all probability be so regarded by me. His last statement is but a reiteration of what has been said in the senate time after time, so that if this campaign on the one hand develops into mere morning sessions of the senate, you will very readily perceive the uselessness of daily response."

ALL FRANCE IN GALA ATTIRE

131st Anniversary of Fall of the Bastile Centres in Paris

Stupendous Review of Military at Vincennes Witnessed by Thousands

Brilliancy Marred by Absence of Pres. Deschanel and Marshal Foch

PARIS, July 14.—France today celebrated the 131st anniversary of the taking of the Bastile. Artillery and infantry estimated to number 41,000 marched through Paris to the Vincennes race track, where they participated in a great review. Points of vantage were occupied by thousands of Parisians, who took up their positions shortly after dawn. All the buildings of Paris were flag-bedecked, the French and American flags being entwined with the colors of the allies.

The brilliancy of the military review was marred by the absence of President Deschanel and Marshal Foch. The president sent word regretting that ill health compelled him to continue his rest for several weeks, while Marshal Foch was at Spa, to which city he had been summoned by the allied premiers.

General Pershing's greeting to "Foch, France and its army" and the American Legion messages to the French were prominently displayed in all newspapers.

Paris today was one vast playground. All business was at a standstill, and even surface transportation ceased. Tonight immense bonfires will blaze in several districts of the capital and in many other large cities, while there will be great displays of fireworks.

During the military review 16,000 crack troops particularly symbolized France's victorious army. These troops charged as they came before the grandstands, where groups of war widows and orphans and mutilated soldiers were given places of honor. As the rising sun sparkled on the waves of shining bayonets and the helmets of the cuirassiers, the cheering of the spectators drowned the music of a dozen bands.

Marshal Petain presented gorgeous silk colors to new colonial regiments and conferred the insignia of their promotion in the Legion of Honor upon General Mangin, victor of the battle of the Aisne and 12 other commanding officers.

U. S. SOLDIERS JOIN BIG CELEBRATION

COBLENZ, July 14.—The American army on the Rhine today celebrated France's national holiday. The army band gave concerts and salutes were fired.

Brigadier General H. T. Allen, commander-in-chief of the American army of occupation, went to Mayence to participate in the observance of the day at the headquarters of the French army of the Rhine.

COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT HERE SENTENCED

BOSTON, July 14.—George R. Hermans of Brooklyn, N. Y., was sentenced in the federal court today to five years in the Atlanta prison for having counterfeit money in his possession and passing it. Hermans was arrested in Lowell by federal officers, who had trailed him from Springfield where he passed six bogus bills. The officers seized $12,000 in twenty and fifty dollar bills, all of which were counterfeits. Hermans was wounded during the war while serving as a wireless operator with the Belgian army.

Hermans was apprehended in this city through the action of two Appleton street garage employes, who had been warned of his approach by Lieut. Petrie. Marking Hermans' automobile by its set of white wheels, the young men gave chase, picking up a patrolman on the way and overtook the fugitive near the junction of Merrimack and Pawtucket streets.

Berlin Representatives Show No Disposition to Yield to Allies on Coal Delivery Question

Ministers Hurriedly Arrange Informal Conferences in Effort to Bring About Harmony and Prevent Dissolution Without Agreement—Await Action of Allies, Say German Delegates, Who Will Make No Further Concessions

SPA, July 14 (By Associated Press).—In an effort to compose the differences between the Germans and the allies over the question of coal deliveries by Germany and prevent a breakup of the conference here, a series of informal conferences were arranged early this afternoon. Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons this morning showed no disposition to yield to the allies on the question of coal deliveries.

"The German delegation regrets that the conference may be dissolved without further agreement," said Dr. Simons to the correspondent, "but we have done as much as we could, and await the action of the allies."

The alleged ministers appear equally firm in their decision that Germany shall deliver 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly.

Allies Not Bluffing

SPA, July 14.—(By Associated Press.)—Premier Lloyd George received Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, at the latter's request this afternoon and told him emphatically that the allies were not bluffing.

The allies, Mr. Lloyd George declared, intended seriously to take measures for enforcement of execution of the Versailles treaty unless the Germans meet the allied modified terms regarding coal.

OFFICER RYNNE'S CASE

Hearing Scheduled for Today Didn't Materialize—Officer's Own Story

Michael F. Rynne, the patrolman who was last week transferred from the municipal swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard to other police duty on the charge that he refused to wear a regulation police uniform, stated today that he was told by Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department when the new bath house was opened for the season to wear a bathing suit while on duty at the bath house. He did, so, thinking that he was complying with the wishes of his superiors. The next development, he said, was an order from the park commission asking him to wear his regular police uniform, despite the instruction of the superintendent and the mayor that he should wear a bathing suit.

In order to clear up the matter and present his side of the story Patrolman Rynne visited Clarence W. Weed, chairman of the board of park commissioners, last Saturday, and asked for a hearing.

It was agreed then, Rynne said today, that he should be given a hearing at the office of the park department in city hall at 12 o'clock, noon, today. He visited the office at 12 and found the door locked and nobody connected with the department, in sight, he says.

"I do not feel that I have been given a square deal in the matter," Rynne said after coming from city hall. "I have refrained from telling my side of the story, hoping that I would be given an opportunity to present it to the proper officials. When I was ready to do so this noon, however, I found the door of the park department office locked despite my previous arrangement with Chairman Weed to be heard today. I think it is now time for me to let the public know my side of the case."

HIGH HUMIDITY TODAY

Weather Man Lays Siege to Sweltering City — Telephones Affected

That doughty old warrior, General Humidity, corralled all his forces of discomfort and sweltering unpleasantness today and laid siege upon Lowell with vim and vigor. The whirring of electric fans became the city's most valued possession, soda fountain clerks had nary a minute to chat and store clerks mopped perspiring faces and inwardly wished that their big holiday had been slated for today instead of tomorrow.

The weather man joined forces with the general and sent the thermometer shooting skyward. From 75 at 2 o'clock this morning the mercury mounted rapidly until at noon it was 85 in Merrimack square with every indication of 90 before the day should end.

The municipal swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard came into its own with scores of bathers, old and young, taking advantage of the new bath house and the inviting waters of the Merrimack. Everybody who had the slightest "pull" with the boss broke away from the daily grind at noon and the early afternoon cars to neighboring resorts gave Old Bill Bay State a broader smile than he has worn all summer.

Up at the telephone exchange in Appleton street the usual wire trouble caused by excessive humidity was in evidence but Manager Charles J. Leathers said that the situation had not yet become serious. High humidity dampens the delicate mechanism of the huge switchboard at the exchange and, of course, this trouble is almost immediately reflected in the service. But as soon as any defects are discovered they are remedied by experts so that the effect on the general public has so far been almost negligible. The real humid days come later in the summer and then more serious inconveniences may result but up to the present time this has not been the case.

Asked if individual subscribers could do anything to avoid this trouble, Manager Leathers said that they could not, as the trouble was wholly in the main exchange. In Worcester 600 'phones have been put out of commission by the humidity.

ST. LOUIS GIRL RESCUED

Jessie Costello, Abducted in April, Found With Gypsies, in Havana

HAVANA, July 14.—Jessie Costello, 10 years old, daughter of John Costello, of St. Louis, said to have been missing from her home since April 25, was rescued last night by detectives who raided a house in the Jesus del Monte suburb of Havana and arrested a gypsy woman named Milano Merino, and her son and daughter, George and Anna. The raid was made at the solicitation of the girl's father, who the police say, has been on the trail of the child's alleged abductors for more than a month. Besides abduction of the child, Costello charges the gypsies with having robbed him of $1750 in money which, according to the authorities, was found in the raided house.

Third Party May Scramble Presidential Election

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 14.—Here's a unique bit of dope that tastes uncommonly nice—a sort of conversational bonbon—to the tongues of some of the enthusiastic and optimistic delegates to the committee of forty-eight national convention:

A virile third party, big enough and strong enough to roll up sufficient votes next November to carry a number of states, might result in—

Throwing the presidential election into the house of representatives!

Plenty of people never thought of that. Whether remote or not, it's an eventuality.

Only twice in the history of the United States has such a thing happened. The house of representatives chose Jefferson as president in 1800 and John Quincy Adams in 1824.

Look up your constitution. It provides that in case no candidate receives a full majority of electoral votes—one more than half of the total—the house of representatives, voting by states, shall choose a president from the three leading contenders.

The Tilden-Hayes scrap in 1876 was not similar, this being decided by an electoral commission because it did not involve a tie vote or the absence of a majority. It was a question of the legality of 22 electoral votes from four states. All were awarded to Hayes, giving him 185 electoral votes to Tilden's 184.

"Looks as if the third party would carry a number of states," said a delegate to the Chicago convention, "so a final decision by the house of representatives might be necessary. It's different than in 1912. Then the progressive ticket took practically all its strength away from the republicans. This time, if the third party takes electoral votes from both republicans and democrats, none of the three may have a majority."

And here's another angle of such a hypothetical mix-up:

In a presidential election by the house of representatives, each state only has one collective vote. If a state's congressmen, in caucus, were tied and couldn't decide how to cast their one collective vote—that state's vote would be lost.

And if such a thing happened in the case of half the states—or enough so that one of the three leading contenders didn't get the votes of 25 states, a majority of the 48—then no president would be chosen! And the vice president would automatically become president!

LA FOLLETTE WILLING TO BE NOMINEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 14.—Senator La Follette sent a message to the new party convention last night expressing his willingness to head its presidential ticket, according to a statement made by the senator to a correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel. He intimated very strongly, however, that the platform must measure up to his wishes before he would give his unqualified consent to carry the party's standard, the statement said.

CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The census bureau today announced the population of Superior, Wis., as 39,624, decrease 750, or 1.9 per cent.

TENTATIVE DRAFT OF PARTY'S PLATFORM

CHICAGO, July 14.—Two planks of the platform being drafted by the conference committee of the labor party and the committee of 48 still were in dispute when word was received that Senator La Follette objected to certain planks in the tentative draft.

Inclusion of the Plumb plan and declaration for government ownership of mines were said to be the points in dispute.

The unofficial version of the tentative draft which did not meet Senator La Follette's approval follows:

1—Repeal of all sedition and criminal anarchy statutes.

2—Amnesty for political prisoners jailed because of religious belief or industrial activity.

3—Recognition of the right of all workers, including government employees, to strike and stripping of the courts of powers seized in dealing with industrial disputes and injunctional proceedings.

4—Recognition of right of free speech, free press, free assemblage and the right of asylum.

5—Declaration against war except in case of invasion, without referendum vote.

6—Recognition of the Irish republic and the new government in Russia, and immediate lifting of trade restrictions with Russia.

7—Denial of military or financial aid to any foreign government invading Ireland or Russia.

8—Declaration for government ownership of utilities generally.

9—Discharge of national war debts and all obligations to soldiers, sailors and marines in the late war by means of a graduated capital tax levy, imposed especially on profiteers.

Other planks in the unofficial version favor the referendum and recall declaring that the United States should not aid in exploitation of weaker nations "for the benefit of many masters," refusal to go to war with Mexico "for the benefit of Wall street," and abandonment of America's "imperialistic platform with regard to Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam and Santo Domingo."

faction. In this stand, they have the support not only of La Follette but of several minority organizations subscribing to the political combination.

The first evidence of a possible breaking up of the new party movement followed last night's session when the single taxers withdrew adopted their own plank platform and nominated presidential candidates For president they chose Robert C Macauley of Philadelphia, and for vice president, they selected R. C. Barnum of Cleveland. They quit the new party, Jerome C. Reis, a single tax leader said, because it was not only apparent they could not obtain their platform desires and a candidate committed to them but also because they "could not stand the socialistic ideas" of the dominant labor group.

The birth of the new party yesterday after five days of conferences was attended by tumultuous scenes in which more than once the fledgling movement faced shipwreck on the rocks of jealousies and group antagonisms. In the very beginning, the labor party organization grabbed the rudder and steered the course until consideration of the platform resolutions was begun. Several planks had been read and approved when forty-eighters began to interpose strenuous objections to their delegation in the background.

There followed quickly demands for revision of the procedure by which the resolutions were being passed. Leaders of the 48 delegation insisted on a more prominent position in the proceedings. In an effort to placate the angry delegates, the labor leaders surrendered the chairmanship to Parley Christensen of Utah, who presided over the original 48 convention.

The concession failed utterly, however, to iron out the widely divergent views on platform planks. As a result, the fusion movement was again placed in practically the same position in which it had been during more than 50 hours of backing and pulling in conference committees.

Forty-eighters then played their trump card when they brought Senator La Follette's influence to bear and demanded platform concessions before their presidential candidate would consent to make the race. Questions of nationalization of essential industries and a plank dealing with foreign relations, were the principal stumbling blocks. La Follette's representatives held out strongly against inclusion of these planks as dictated by the labor party.

Two possibilities, therefore, stood out today: First, that for the sake of harmony the labor leaders may yield to the La Follette forces and permit changes in their platform drafts; second that they may remain steadfast in their determination and demand a candidate who can ride on their declaration of principles.

Leaders of both factions are eager to avert a breach, but yesterday's prolonged sessions showed plainly that their ability to control and direct the convention's actions has been strained to the breaking point. The slightest appeal to prejudice and passion, the leaders fear, would start a stampede that would undo all they had accomplished. So near was the stampede last night that Chairman Christensen, for nearly two hours, kept the delegates milling about redistributing their seats and wearing down their determination for immediate consideration of the platform, which, it was apparent, could not be had.

The delegates at last yielded in their desire for action, which would permit them to complete their work and go home, and voted to meet again today when the hope a platform can be adopted and candidate nominated.

WILL BOLSTER UP EAST'S COAL PREDICAMENT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Decision of the interstate commerce commission to extend for 30 days its order giving preferential distribution of open top cars to coal mines east of the Mississippi, was accepted today by mine operators generally as a step that would aid materially in solving the coal transportation problem. The decision which was announced late yesterday, came too late for consideration by the conference of operators who had held a two days' meeting here to discuss methods of relieving a threatened coal shortage in New England and the northwest this winter. Individually, however, the operators were well pleased.

In announcing extension of the original order which would have expired July 21, the commission advised Chairman Daniel Willard of the advisory committee of the association of railway executives of three amendments. The first provides that the roads must place an embargo against consignees failing to unload open top cars within 24 hours after delivery. The second provides that railroads may assign cars without regard to existing ratings for the mines so as to provide fuel for current use to public utilities and public institutions. The third defines what types are to be considered as coal cars.

The commission also suggested to Chairman Willard that the carriers prohibit more than one reconsignment of coal-laden cars. No action toward relieving the coal shortage in the northwest was taken by the commission, which stated that solution of this problem had been left to the conference in New York today of the operators and railway officials.

AR-NE-SIS CONQUERS RHEUMATISM

W. A. Varney, Dear Sir—

"For seven years I did not know a day that I was without pain. All my joints were afflicted; when I moved my head I could hear and feel grating like there was gravel or sand in my neck. My knees were so drawn up I was unable to straighten them. To sit down I would have to literally fall in a chair. The last doctor said I would never get rid of the disease as it was the worst form of rheumatism, Arthritis Deformans. I was in bed sixteen months.

After taking Var-ne-sis, the pain and stiffness became less noticeable. The chalky bunches of the fingers and knees disappeared, my hands straightened. I can now feed and dress myself, walk down stairs, sew a little, and do some housework."

What Var-ne-sis has done for others it can do for you. In liquid or tablet form at your druggist's. You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges." Write to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. It's free.

BOLIVIA'S POLICIES TO BE AMERICAN

BUENOS AIRES, July 13.—Dr. Jose Maria Escalier, chief of the republican party of Bolivia, which is reported to have overthrown the Guerra government told the Associated Press today that he planned to return to Bolivia within a week, having received dispatches that the revolution had been successful in three of the principal Bolivian cities, La Paz, Aruro and Potosi. Dr. Escalier, who was presidential candidate of his party in 1917, and opposed Jose Gutierrez Guerra, who has been ousted from control, has made his residence in this city for several years, but has made frequent trips to Bolivia, and was made chief of the republican party last November. The revolution in Bolivia, if successful, seems likely to change the complexion of South American international politics. It probably will upset the recent accord between Bolivia and Chile, relative to the former's aspirations for an outlet to the Pacific, and a new situation in the Tacna-Arica controversy may be created.

Dr. Escalier explained the status of affairs relative to an outlet for Bolivia by declaring that, while the Guerra government sought a pacific outlet through Arica, the title to which is in dispute between Chile and Peru, the republican party claimed the outlet should be through the Chilean port of Antofagasta. This was one of the ports that Bolivia lost to Chile in the war of 1880. He asserted the new government purposed to withdraw the claim for the Arica outlet which was presented to the League of Nations and present instead, claims for Antofagasta. He indicated Bolivia, which recently has been on the verge of hostilities with Peru, on account of the former's aspirations regarding Arica, now would draw closer to that country.

He said the Bolivian national policy would be American and that she would follow the lead of the United States regarding the League of Nations.

"While the army has apparently joined the revolution and imprisoned President Guerra and his cabinet," he said, "this is fundamentally a popular uprising for the restoration of the freedom of the press, fair elections and other liberties. It is not merely an army mutiny."

Confirmation of reports that the revolution has been successful has not been received by the Bolivian legation here.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

SOMETHING HAPPENS

Will Woodpecker jumped when he heard the crackling underneath him, for Mrs. Woodpecker, you remember, had left him sitting on the eggs while she went shopping.

Tingaling and Nick and Nancy jumped, too, at the pop, pop, popping sounds, and, of course, all conversation about rent and money ceased at once.

In a moment or two came other sounds. This time it was "Peep, peep, peep, peep," they heard. Then everybody smiled, for the secret was out, I mean the eggs were out, or, rather, the new family was out at last!

Will slid off the nest in a hurry and stood looking proudly at his new children. "Well, well, well, what's all this?" he said fondly as the babies kept up their peeping and cheeping. A worried look came over his face. "My goodness, they haven't any clothes on," he said, "and I don't know where their mother keeps things. Besides, they look hungry and I don't know what to feed them. Dear, dear, dear, I do wish their ma would hurry back."

"Their ma!" exclaimed Tingaling and the twins. "Aren't you their ma?"

Then Will had to confess that he had

"MY GOODNESS, THEY HAVEN'T ANY CLOTHES ON," HE SAID, "AND I DON'T KNOW WHERE THEIR MOTHER KEEPS THINGS."

fibbed and that Mrs. Woodpecker was out shopping—probably buying finery when she should be at home with her children. Also that she had taken the rent money along.

But just then Mrs. Woodpecker returned. She pushed past everybody and flew right right over the nest. "You darlings!" she cried, hugging the babies in turn. She was so happy she forgave everybody right away, and nobody was happier than Will.

Her basket? Oh, yes, you want to know of course. Nighties for the kiddies and some little fat grubs to feed them. And besides, there was enough money left to pay the rent, all except three cents which Tingaling said Will could make up in carpenter work.

WOMEN LIKE TO KEEP MEN GUESSING

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Woman likes to keep man guessing. The militant suffragist is no exception to this rule. Witness the latest demand of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, long an active battler for votes for women and chief financial backer of the woman suffrage campaigns.

"Don't vote," she tells the millions of women who already have won the ballot in their home states and the other millions who will get the vote as soon as another state ratifies the Anthony suffrage amendment.

Both republican and democratic leaders are shocked, grieved, dismayed. What can this mean? The women fight for the ballot, picket and placard and heckle political gatherings of every sort until they get the right to vote. And as soon as they get it—

"Don't vote," they are told by one of their own leaders. "Stand aside.

MRS. O.H.P. BELMONT

Keep away from the republican and democratic parties. Husband your power!"

"Isn't that just like women?" the exasperated politicians exclaim. "What they haven't got, they'll fight for to the last gasp. Then when they get it they don't want it. Can you beat it?"

There is, of course, another string to the recommendation of the suffrage leader, and that is that women should not cast their vote for either republican or democratic nominee, but should join hands with a third party in the organization and direction of which women will have a bigger share than is accorded them by either of the old parties.

Incidentally, it is remarked that Mrs. Belmont—whether she is aware of it or not—is to be proposed as the candidate for vice president on the third party ticket to be nominated at Chicago. Mere male politicians, old and hardened in the game, suggest that she's trying to steer feminine votes away from the old line parties in order that they may cast their ballots for her and the third party ticket instead.

One effect of Mrs. Belmont's appeal for women to keep out of the old line parties and to "husband their votes" may be to make more difficult the calling of special sessions of the legislature in Tennessee and in Vermont and New Hampshire for the final ratification of the suffrage amendment.

The only reason the old parties will move at all to complete ratification is because they think that by so doing they might win the votes of grateful suffragists.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

One of the most entertaining photoplays in which Alice Brady has ever appeared is "Sinners," which will be shown at the Strand for the last time today. As a picture it has retained the qualities of sentimental and emotional appeal which made it a Broadway triumph. It's a great story, artistically produced, and wonderfully well interpreted. See it. Then Frank Mayo, supported by an all-star cast in "The Girl in Number 29," is another superior picture, that has all of the satisfying elements of the better class of photoplays.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of Charles Ray in "Homer Comes Home" and Douglas MacLean and Doris May in "Let's Be Fashionable" will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening and tomorrow afternoon the usual mid-week change of program will take place.

Featuring the bill for the latter half of the week will be Bessie Barriscale in "The Notorious Mrs. Sands," and Lew Cody in "The Butterfly Man."

Miss Barriscale's latest screen vehicle is a drama dealing with modern society and many of the scenes are laid in the homes of the fashionably elite. One of the most noteworthy settings in the production shows the interior of an elaborately furnished mansion owned by Grey Sands, a wealthy bachelor. Here rare tapestries, beautiful oil paintings and furniture reminiscent of the days of the Italian renaissance and the Jacobean period were used.

Miss Barriscale as Mary Ware, is forced by her mother into a marriage with Sands despite her love for another. The complications which ensue go to make up one of the most interesting photo-dramas of the year. Miss Barriscale is supported by a cast including Forrest Stanley, well-known leading man, Dorothy Cumming, Harry Meyers and Ben Alexander.

In "The Butterfly Man," from the pen of George Barr McCutcheon, a satire on present-day social extravaganza, Mr. Cody is seen in the role of Sedgewick Blynn, a gay young blade with "butterfly" tendencies. He is supported by three leading ladies, Louise Lovely, Lilie Leslie and Rosemary Theby, who wear Parisian gowns the cost of which runs well up into the thousands.

A comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will round out the bill.

OWL THEATRE

Three times daily for the remainder of the week "Riders of the Dawn" will be presented at the Owl theatre, and the hours are, 3, 6 and 9 p. m. Right on the dot this thrilling picturization of Zane Grey's great novel, "The Desert of Wheat" will be shown. Today the Boy Scouts will be given their chance to see just what clean, healthy manhood, beset by many difficulties is. There's nothing namby-pamby about this picture. The love element is there, a pulsing stream that underlies all else. The presenting cast is wholly sufficient, with Roy Stewart in the leading role. Claire Adams is a most likable heroine, who, in the final scene engages in one of the best gun duels ever enacted in pictures. For an hour and 20 minutes this picture is on, and there are several others, ranging from comedy through news and to big, gripping scenes.

Linen Slip-on Dress is Trim and Practical

BY CORA MOORE,
New York's Fashion Authority.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The practicability of the "slip-on" dresses that have been in vogue this summer is appreciated most of all by the actress.

One of the Paramount players evolved this model.

It is of white near-linen and fastens with the two buttons and a snap on the waist, although it appears to be much more complicated. The waist is cut to hip-length and made in cross-over effect. The skirt with the drapery across the back and sides is attached to the belt so that the whole thing can be slipped on together and fastened up trig and trim in next to no time at all.

Furthermore, the frock launders easily. The near-linen itself, like linen, improves with every contact with water and the drapery can be let out straight for pressing, then caught to the skirt either with snaps or a few stitches.

TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Gallivan Refutes Statement Relative to Jails

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 14.—Positive refutation of the oft-repeated assertion that jails are breeding places for tuberculosis is found in a report submitted to Sanford Bates, commissioner of correction, by Dr. William J. Gallivan, director of the division of tuberculosis in the state department of public health.

Dr. Gallivan found only seven active cases of the disease in all of the 1551 prisoners who were housed in the various jails of the commonwealth at the time of his examination. The survey was begun last March, and has only just been completed.

The results of the examination, Dr. Gallivan said today, compare very favorably with similar studies that have been made of the public at large.

"While it is impossible to ascertain with any degree of accuracy the percentage of the entire population who have become victims of consumption," he said, "it is generally accepted by the medical profession that there are ten active cases of the disease for every death resulting from it. From the last available figures it appears that 110,000 persons die annually in the United States from tuberculosis. This would indicate that 1,110,000 persons, or one and one-tenth of the population, are suffering with the disease. This percentage is more than double that of the prisoners found with the malady.

"The results indicate a vast improvement in jail conditions in this state, for as late as 1907 Dr. Lawrason Brown, a noted authority on tuberculosis, wrote: 'Forty per cent of the deaths in prisons are due to tuberculosis and a 10-year sentence is equivalent to a death sentence, so unhealthful are the conditions prevailing in jails.'"

In addition to the seven active cases found, the examining physician discovered 51 men whose health is such that they should be under observation. These were not even "incipient" cases, but were merely men whose physical condition is such that they would be easy victims for the disease if it were to attack them.

Not one active case was found in the two institutions under exclusive state control,—the state prison and the reformatory at Concord, although these have a combined population of 925, or three-fifths of the total prison population of the state. Twenty-two men who should be under observation were reported from the state prison, and none from Concord.

The seven active cases were found in county jails as follows: New Bedford, 2; Plymouth, Barnstable, Lawrence, Worcester and Deer Island, 1 each.

FIELD MARSHALS MEET AT CONFERENCE

SPA, Belgium, July 14.—Field Marshal Wilson of Great Britain, who was summoned here yesterday by the supreme allied council, after the German delegates engaged in the conference in this city, had rejected the allied solution of the coal delivery problem, is expected to arrive here tonight. He is expected to immediately confer with Marshal Foch of France, who also was summoned by the council, and with the allied premiers.

Marshal Foch and General Weygand, his assistant, arrived here from Paris at 3.30 o'clock this morning, and with the entire French delegation, called on Premier Millerand to present their respects on the occasion of the French national holiday. Later the delegates held a consultation before going to the conference.

Konstantin Fehrenbach, German chancellor and head of Germany's delegation here and Dr. Simons, German foreign minister, suggested to the allied governments that they send a commission composed of ministers and experts to Essen, to meet working men and their representatives for the purpose of talking over the urgency of increasing coal production. This proposal was made yesterday afternoon, but the premiers have not yet replied.

Dr. Simons explained to them his idea was this could be done immediately and the work of the commission be completed quickly, not taking more than three or four days. The allied ministers do not appear disposed to enter into direct negotiations with the German mining unions.

While the allied delegates were engaged in a conference this morning at the villa Fraineuse, the secretary of foreign Minister Simons called at the villa and had a short talk with Sir Philip Kerr, the secretary to Premier Lloyd George, regarding a conference this afternoon between Dr. Simons and the British premier.

BIG HANDICAP FOR SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S BOAT

NEW YORK, July 14.—The Shamrock IV's one chance to defeat Resolute in the America cup races, which begin Thursday off Sandy Hook, is to sail out by her lonesome, it would appear.

While the measurements of the two yachts will not be computed into their ratings until today and the exact time allowance the Shamrock must give will not be known before this is done, it is certain that the challenger will have to concede a handicap of at least six minutes. It would not be surprising, from some measurements that are known, if the allowance is more than that.

It means over the 30-mile course that the Shamrock must outsail the Resolute more than 12 seconds a mile to win. That is a big handicap. If the Shamrock races with the Resolute, she will have no chances whatever. She must go out in front and finish at least six minutes ahead.

For this reason the natural thing for Charles Francis Adams, the Resolute's skipper, to do will be to hang on to Shamrock, if he can, and not let her get out away from him where she might find a better breeze. Thus, if the Resolute is fast enough, one is apt to see the yachts nip and tuck most of the time.

William P. Burton, on the Shamrock, is known to be planning to rush out in front, if the challenger has it in her, and to sail his race regardless of where the Resolute is or what she does.

The Resolute's ability is pretty well known; the Shamrock's is not. The Resolute was thoroughly tried out in all points of sailing in her races with the Vanitie, her defending rival, while the Shamrock has had only a few brushes off Sandy Hook.

There is no way of comparing the speed of these two yachts or any other two of approximately equal size until they have met.

LOWELL MAN'S BODY FOUND IN WOODS

The body of the man found yesterday afternoon in Chelmsford on the side of the Littleton road was identified this morning as Edward Flynn of this city, by his son, William J. Flynn of 43 Hampstead street. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. James Gallagher of Lowell and Mrs. Arthur Davidson of Abington, Mass., and one son, William J. Flynn. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Mr. Flynn was a stationary engineer and was employed by the Bay State mills up to about one year and a half ago. Later he was employed by the United States Cartridge company. He left home a week ago today to work in a suspender factory in Littleton.

His son, wanting to make sure that his father had reached his destination, telephoned to Littleton and upon learning that he had not reached there, instigated a search, but failed to locate him and upon learning of the body being found in the woods off the Littleton road he made arrangements to view it as quickly as possible and identified it as that of his father.

A. G. CADETS' OUTING

The 15th annual outing of the members of the A. G. Cadets, their friends and relatives will be held tomorrow at Canobie Lake park. A list of sports will be carried out and a basket luncheon will be enjoyed. The arrangements are in charge of the spiritual director of the organization Rev. Rosario Jalbert, O.M.I.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

A largely attended meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni was held last evening, in the college hall, with President Tancrede L. Blanchette in the chair. Plans for a campaign for the raising of funds for the erection of a parish hall in St. Joseph's parish, in the fall, were discussed and arrangements were made for the annual outing of the association, which will be held August 12, at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro. A feature of the meeting was the nomination of officers, the following being chosen without opposition: Arthur Gaudette, president; J. A. N. Chretien, vice president; Arthur H. Giroux, secretary, and Ernest L'Heureux, treasurer. Ten members were nominated for the positions of directors. The election will be held on the afternoon of August 12, at the outing.

REWARD FOR RETURN OF HIS SECURITIES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 14.—George F. Hudson, a stock broker of Bloomfield, N. J., who yesterday lost $150,000 worth of negotiable securities from his automobile somewhere near Norwalk, offers a reward to the person recovering the fortune.

Mr. Hudson had placed the securities in a wallet on the seat beside him in the car a short way from Norwalk. He noticed that the door of the automobile had swung open and the wallet was missing. Mr. Hudson turned back and met another car and questioned the occupants. They told him that they had seen an automobile which contained three Italians stop and pick up something on the highway.

Mr. Hudson overtook three Italians who told him that they had picked up the wallet and placed it on a stump beside the road. He went back but was unable to find any trace of the lost securities. He then notified both the city and state police.

LONGER TERMS FOR BARNEY AND WARD

BOSTON, July 14.—Additional sentences of from three to five years were imposed today upon Herman L. Barney and Charles Ward, state prison convicts, for their escape on May 26. Jacob L. Dintzner, a trusty, who assisted them but failed of escape himself when a rope broke, was given the same extra sentence.

Counsel for Barney told the court that the convict, who is serving a term of 20 years for killing a police officer, surrendered and went back to prison at the request of his mother, who found out where he was hiding and got into communication with him.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

WILL DISCUSS LEAGUE WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Wilson will meet Gov. James M. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominees, Sunday for the first time since they were chosen at San Francisco.

The conference will be held at the White House to discuss plans for a vigorous campaign. It was arranged yesterday by Gov. Cox, who called the White House on the telephone from Columbus to ascertain what day within the next week would be most suitable for a meeting. The message was conveyed to the president and the answer went forward speedily that he would be delighted to see the governor and Mr. Roosevelt Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

While it was stated that the president had no particular choice as to the date, it was explained he considered Sunday more suitable as it would enable the governor to come here and return home in time to keep engagements with party leaders on Monday.

Party leaders declared yesterday there was no foundation for statements that the president and Gov. Cox were "far apart" on the league of nations. They said it was but natural that the governor should desire to exchange views with the president on this and many other questions before beginning work on his speech of acceptance.

While the president plans to remain in Washington all summer, his friends say that he can be depended upon to lend his influence to Gov. Cox's campaign in statements and letters. The president has obtained much first-hand information as to the preliminary campaign fight from men on whom he often has relied and has devoted much time daily to newspaper reading.

HEAVY LOSS CAUSED BY SLOW TRANSIT

BOSTON, July 14.—Sixty thousand pounds of string beans, tomatoes and carrots, condemned at local railroad yards by city health department division of food inspection agents, are now reposing harmlessly on the bottom of the sea.

Deputy Health Commissioner Patrick H. Mullowney announced the seizures late yesterday afternoon, when the last of them had been loaded aboard scows for the trip down the bay.

The vegetables were consigned to various Boston firms from southern and western points in refrigerator cars. The unusual delays incident to traffic congestion in the past fortnight are primarily responsible for the condition of the vegetables on their arrival, the ice having melted three or four days before.

LONDON, July 14.—Further advances by the Bolsheviki in their campaign against the Poles are reported in Tuesday's official communique, received by wireless from Moscow today. The statement reads:

"In the direction of Kovel, we crossed the River Goryn, 20 miles southwest of Sarny and are developing our advance. Fierce fighting is proceeding in our favor.

"In the direction of Lida we have occupied the railway station at Prudy and Polotchany and Ushalochka.

"In the direction of Baranovitchi, we have driven the enemy from his position on the River Svislotch and occupied Mikhanovitch and Stazons.

"Our advance along the entire front is continuing to develop successfully."

Try the Nitro-Phosphate Health System—$300 Guarantee

NEW YORK—If you are feeling run-down, weak, nervous, tired-in-the-morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people; or those who are anaemic, pale, frail, oft despondent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation, now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine; the formula is prescribed by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

With every box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE, are a few simple health rules and a $300 guarantee. Buy a box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold and recommended by A. W. Dows and all good druggists everywhere.—Adv.

SINN FEIN REFUSED TO RESENT INSULTS

BELFAST, July 13.—The Sinn Fein fooled the Orangemen on their annual demonstration by avoiding a conflict. The turnout was a big one. It was swelled by Orangemen from Londonderry who were forbidden to demonstrate there.

For two hours the Orange speakers indulged in such violent bigotry that even Sir Edward Carson winced. The Protestant clergymen were conspicuously intemperate in their language against the southern Irishmen.

Provocative arches were erected on the edge of the Catholic districts calling the Sinn Feiners murderers, but those were untouched as the word went out that there should be no conflicts.

The fanatical Orangemen, beating their drums with canes until blood ran from their fists, were unable to provoke the Sinn Feiners. The military defense of the roads with sandbag forts showed only what the government feared. The Sinn Fein cleverly maintained the attitude that all Irishmen are brothers, and ignored insults.

Lawyer for Dr. Keown, Apprehended Here, Warned by District Judge

BOSTON, July 13.—Judge George W. Anderson of the United States district court, in yesterday's hearings on petitions brought by Dr. James A. Keown of Lynn, for writs of habeas corpus and mandamus, warned Atty. E. C. Holden, Jr., counsel, to have indisputable facts in his possession if he intended to bring into the federal court charges against the integrity of the state courts.

Atty. Holden opened his case by reading charges by Keown that the state courts were prejudiced against him and that it was impossible to get justice in the state courts.

It was at this point that Judge Anderson broke in with his warning. He said:

"You ask me to impeach the integrity of the judiciary of Massachusetts. Do you really expect me to do that? You are a young man before the bar, and, as an old man before the bar I would advise you that you are making pretty serious and very reckless statements. Before you come here and charge that the state courts are prejudiced you had better be sure of your law and your facts."

Dr. Keown was fairly recently committed to the state hospital for the insane at Danvers following a verbal attack upon Judge Callahan of the superior court. He made an escape from the hospital but was re-captured in Lowell less than 24 hours later after an automobile pursuit race through the downtown streets. He now claims that all judges in Massachusetts are prejudiced against him.

Phelactine, New Wonder Worker for Hair Growths

(Causes Even the Roots to Come Out)

By an entirely new and perfectly harmless method, any woman afflicted with a growth of superfluous hair can now remove the disfigurement completely—roots included—in just a few seconds. Isn't that glorious news?

The recently discovered phelactine process is altogether different from electrical, depilatory and other methods heretofore employed for the purpose. It is the only thing that enables one to remove roots and all in one's own home without expert assistance. The result cannot be doubted, for the user sees the hair-roots with her own eyes. A stick of phelactine, with simple instructions, can be procured at any drug store. It is odorless, non-irritating, non-poisonous (a child could eat it without injury). The method is so thorough that the skin is left perfectly smooth and hairless, bearing not the least evidence of its former blemish.—Adv.

THE MYSTERY SPOT OF THE WORLD

The most mysterious spot in the world today! That describes eastern Europe—Soviet Russia and the border states. A great war is raging between the Poles and the Bolsheviks along the whole eastern boundary of Poland.

The Sun has Jimmy Hare, the world's most famous press photographer, on this front, and his pictures, not from the front line, are appearing exclusively in this newspaper.

Staff Correspondent J. Herbert Duckorth has penetrated into the heart of the Bolshevik "Land of Silence" and is writing the truth about Red Russia. Duckworth went across Esthonia from Reval; with a peasant girl guide, he crawled under the barbed wire frontier by night and went first to Pskov. From there he went all over the heart of Soviet Land, visiting Moscow, Petrograd, Novgorod, Tver and the country districts. His stories are now appearing in The Sun.

TIPS FOR CANNING WITHOUT SUGAR

BY SISTER MARY

The department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin urging housekeepers to can all the fruit possible—without sugar if necessary.

Canning without sugar is practical in the case of certain fruits, but the woman who attempts it in the ordinary home kitchen, with the usual domestic equipment, must keep the following facts in mind if she would do so successfully:

REMEMBER

Sugar is a preservative.

In eliminating sugar you eliminate about 50 per cent. of your surety of success.

CONSEQUENTLY

To can successfully without sugar you must select perfect fruit.

You must have perfectly sterilized cans.

AND

You must produce in each sealed jar at least a 98 per cent. perfect vacuum.

Choosing Your Fruit

Utmost care must be taken in the selection of fruit to be canned in this way. Beware of over-ripeness. Bacteria breed quickly and at the first indication of "specking" or softening it is unsafe to attempt preserving by this method. Every woman has "put up," in the old days, fruit that was just on the borderland of being too ripe for use. We made our "butters," jams, et cetera, of this class of produce, and with success. But we used plenty of sugar at 4 cents a pound. We cannot afford to use sugar at 30 cents a pound with the old lavishness even if we could secure it. So don't run risks with other than perfect fruit.

Test Your Jars

If you use the old-fashioned jar, which is still the standby of most housewives, be absolutely secure that the grooves for the screw top are perfect; mate your jars and lids before the rubbers are adjusted so that you are sure the lids will screw down straight and quickly. All of us have had the experience of a screw top lid going on slightly crooked, though apparently tight. Don't take chances of this sort in sugarless canning. Also don't forget that the time and trouble taken in this matching up of your jars and lids will add to the speed of sealing, and speed in sealing each jar is a requisite in sugarless canning.

Also be sure that the lids themselves are perfect. Most screw top lids—all, in fact, that are worth using—have an inner cap of white glass. This cap must be perfectly tight. Test each one with your fingers, and if it shows the slightest degree of looseness, discard the lid. There is air under the loosened cap, and no way on earth—that I ever heard of—to get it out. And last, but not least, don't try to use old rubbers (beware of that economical trick of putting two old rubbers on a can instead of one new one) and inspect each carefully, discarding any that indicate the possibility of pin bubbles in the rubber.

Actual Process

Here are the musts:

The fruit must be boiling hot.

Cans, lids and rubbers must be sterilized.

Here is how I do it:

I can only one jar at a time. Place the empty can in hot water deep enough to reach within an inch and a half of the top of the can. The rubber has already been put in place. Next, fill the can with the boiling fruit, using a can funnel so there is no danger of spilling any on the outside of the can and getting the rubber wet. When the can is filled to within about a quarter of an inch of the top, remove the funnel and carefully finish filling the can with a spoon. Next, screw the lid down as tight as you can without lifting the jar out of the hot water. When you have done this, lift out the jar lifter, (don't pick it up by the partially tightened top) protect your hands with towels, and twist the top down as tightly as possible. Allow the jars to stand upright until cool enough to handle with the bare hands, then stand on their heads in some place where they may remain without having to be moved for 24 hours.

Inspect each jar before storing in the fruit closet. If any show bubbles, open and recan. There will be a slight unfilled space in the jar due to the contraction of the contents during the process of cooling.

Easiest Canned

Semi-tart berries that grow on bushes (strawberries are not in this class) are the easiest fruits to can without sugar. I always put up a good many elderberries, huckleberries and blueberries for pies and puddings. I never put sugar in these at the time of canning, and I have never lost a jar. Of course, I do not attempt to serve this type of fruit as a sauce, and consequently it is always re-cooked with sugar, thus bringing out the flavor. Blackberries, raspberries and grapes to be used for pies and puddings can be put up in this way, too, also gooseberries and currants.

Light Syrups

Cherries come under the class of fruits discussed above. They can be canned with a fair degree of safety without sugar, and can be made palatable at the time of using by the addition of the sweet then, but most of the larger fruits cannot be put up with any great degree of success without at least a light syrup.

Besides the preservative value of sugar, in the case of peaches, plums pears and quinces, it must be remembered that it takes much less sugar to adequately sweeten cooked fruit in its first heated condition than after it has cooled. Also fruit canned in sugar—even a very light syrup—has the advantage of standing in the syrup and thoroughly absorbing all the sweetness.

A "light syrup" is made in the proportion of one cup of sugar to a quart of fruit.

There is no trick or mystery about canning. Luck has nothing to do with it. The process is perfectly simple and definite. Accuracy and care assure success.

THE JELLYFISH IS MINUS BACKBONE

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Consider the jellyfish. When the tide is going out, the jellyfish drifts out. When the tide comes in, the jellyfish drifts in. It is a slimy, spineless thing ever floating about, despised by all creatures.

Behold the salmon. It travels the mountain streams for thousands of miles. It drives against the current, shooting clear of the water to leap a cataract. It is a thing of life and vigor—a game fish that tests the mettle of a man.

The difference is that the jellyfish is spineless and inactive; while the salmon has a backbone and uses it.

Just so with folks. They divide themselves into two great classes—those who act and those who drift.

Don't be a jellyfish. Get action! Even if you make mistakes, it is much better for you to try and fail than not to try at all.

REDS SHOT 200 SENT ON ARK

Startling Statement Made by Emma Goldman to Mrs. Philip Snowden

Anarchist Who Raised Ructions Here Fares Very Poorly in Russia

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, N.E.A.

LONDON, July 14.—Emma Goldman is authority for the statement that 200 "radicals," deported by the United States on the "Red Ark" Buford, have been shot by the Bolshevists.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, member of the British labor party delegation to Russia to investigate Bolshevism, who has just returned to England, saw Miss Goldman in Petrograd. It was there, Mrs. Snowden states, that Miss Goldman told her of the shooting of the deportees.

Emma Goldman is sick of Russia and disgusted with Bolshevism, according to the British labor party investigator, and she signed herself in Mrs. Snowden's notebook: "A political refugee from America in Russia and afraid to talk fully, fearing spies."

Confirms Duckworth

Mrs. Snowden says she doesn't know how Miss Goldman manages to earn her bread.

"Bolshevism has brought to the common man hunger, cold and terror," says Mrs. Snowden; fully corroborating the statements of J. Herbert Duckworth, whose revelations of Russian conditions in The Lowell Sun, made after an independent investigation, are startling America.

"I am a socialist; a democrat and a Christian," says Mrs. Snowden, "and I am opposed now to Bolshevism because it is neither socialistic, democratic nor Christian.

"The so-called 'dictatorship of the proletariat,' means dictatorship by the communist party," says Mrs. Snowden. "Six hundred thousand members of the communist party are dictated to by six leaders and the extraordinary commission to suppress the counter-revolution," says Mrs. Snowden.

Free Speech Throttled

She found utter intolerance of free speech and free press.

"Newspapers are not permitted to print news other than Bolshevistic," she said.

"Persons who do not believe in Bolshevism are denounced as counter-revolutionists. The leaders lie to the people, claiming the revolution is shortly to come to America and England."

Bolshevism, Mrs. Snowden believes, has been aided by the Polish war. The people have united to repel invasion. If left alone by outside forces, she thinks Russian Bolshevism will purge itself, ceasing then to be Bolshevism as it is now known.

In Norfolk, Va., a railroad employe named Brady kissed a girl clerk in fun. A timekeeper named Divers joked Brady about it, and Brady resenting the jest, when another girl told him that Divers had found fault with her work and "made her cry," got his associates to join with him in demanding Divers' discharge. The Norfolk & Western railway refused to discharge the timekeeper and as a result 10,000 railroad employes were on strike for several days.

Brake inspection movement a splendid success

The aim of the Brake Inspection Movement is to persuade every motorist to have his brakes inspected before the touring season opens. State authorities have found that approximately 62% of the accidents traceable to brakes can be avoided.

Have your brakes inspected to-day

If they are in perfect condition the knowledge will increase your pleasure. If they need attention you want to know it for the sake of your car and its occupants.

If your brakes do need relining, go to a Thermoid dealer. He will equip your car with Thermoid because he knows it will give you the greatest satisfaction and the longest service.

Why Thermoid wears longest

To make Thermoid Hydraulic Compressed Brake Lining, it requires over 40% more material and 60% more labor than to make the highest grade of woven lining.

Thermoid Brake Lining is Grapnalized, an exclusive process which resists oil, gasoline and moisture.

Two thousand pounds of hydraulic pressure on each square inch make Thermoid Brake Lining uniform all the way through.

Have your brakes inspected to-day. It means greater safety.

STOP COAL EXPORT

With Lowell as with many other New England cities, the great question that disturbs the public mind is whether a sufficient supply of coal can be secured to keep the factories running.

At present, as already set forth in The Sun, the supply is very low and no relief is in sight. The Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the municipal council and the local coal dealers, has made one appeal after another for coal; but without result. Only mere driblets are obtainable with the result that the short supply on hand is getting so low as to threaten a shut-down of several factories in the near future.

In the midst of this menacing situation, Mr. Storrow, the fuel administrator, informs a conference at Boston, that there is plenty of coal at the mines and that it is being shipped to Norfolk, Va., in sufficient quantity to supply New England but from that point, it is being loaded on vessels to be shipped abroad.

How long is the government going to tolerate this state of affairs? Is this done with the government's sanction as well as its known connivance?

Why not arraign the exporters of this coal as profiteers who, for the increased price offered, are willing to menace the people and the industries not only of New England, but other parts of the United States? Where now is the Department of Justice that it tolerates this outrage?

Where is the Interstate Commerce Commission which we understand has the authority to issue orders that will relieve the situation. Where is President Wilson whose duty it is to protect the people against such imposition as results from the export of coal that is urgently needed here at home to sustain life and keep the wheels of the essential industries moving?

Should it come to the point that a situation would arise paralleling that under Fuel Commissioner Garfield during the war, it would sound the death knell of the democratic administration and the campaign of Cox and Roosevelt would be utterly hopeless.

This is a radical statement, some will say, but it is justified by the present coal situation. There is nothing to be gained by mincing words in an emergency of this kind. If the authorities at Washington do not wake up to the gravity of the coal situation and the extent of the robbery perpetrated by the export of coal, the citizens may be obliged to adopt summary methods to prevent a continuance of the abuse.

Perhaps it will be necessary for the citizens to hold indignation meetings in order to voice their views on the present outrageous disregard of the rights, the interests, the safety or even the lives of the people, as shown in the continued export of coal while both public utilities and essential private industries are threatened with suspension for lack of fuel.

This is a matter that concerns all the people. The mills of Lowell have to pay nearly twice as much for coal as formerly and have difficulty in getting enough to keep running, at any price. To allow the situation to become any worse than at present would be to invite a calamity.

The mayor of Boston has raised the alarm. When Boston hollers for coal, it is certain that Lowell is also in a serious plight. Much coal that was held up en route to Lowell has been commandeered by the Boston and Maine and other railroads. The shortage of cars is blamed, but in reality the one great cause why it is almost impossible to get a supply of coal for industrial uses is, that most of the coal mined is being shipped out of the country.

The demand of the moment is to stop it and stop it without further delay. Unless the export of coal be stopped within 24 hours, it will be the duty of the mayor of every city in New England to call an indignation meeting of citizens to demand that it be stopped forthwith and call upon the government to authorize measures to protect the people against the calamity of a forced suspension of industries.

GOV. CLEMENT'S VIEW

Whether unconsciously or otherwise, Governor Clement of Vermont has raised an important question in refusing to call a special session of the legislature to consider the ratification of the woman suffrage or 19th amendment to the constitution. He points out that in a recent decision the supreme court of the United States has ruled that a vote of the people of any state can have no effect in the ratification of a constitutional amendment. That decision places the entire responsibility for such amendments in the hands of the state legislatures.

Governor Clement very pertinently points out that the present legislature of Vermont was chosen without any reference to woman suffrage and hence without any instruction from the people on that particular question. He does not think it would be fair to the legislature or to the people of the state, to put the question of ratification before the legislature in such a peremptory manner as the special session suggested would involve.

He suggests that there should be an amendment of the federal constitution providing that amendments thereto, shall be submitted to a referendum of the people in the various states, in order to prevent the possible evils arising from the work of strong organized lobbies pushing amendments through congress and then through a sufficient number of state legislatures to secure ratification.

Governor Clement may be criticized as an enemy of woman suffrage; but there is much solid sense in what he says in reference to the power of ratification by the legislature. It is always well to allow the people to pass upon such important questions, if only for the purpose of informing the legislature upon popular opinion; and Governor Clement plays a shrewd political game in his own behalf in showing this deference to the will of the people.

THE THIRD PARTY

Republicans, who have been praying loud and long that the third party gathering at Chicago would develop into a movement to endanger democratic success at the polls in November, will have to change the tenor of their petition and keep on offering it awhile longer. There is not the slightest indication that the assemblage of political bedlamites who are cogitating and harranguing in the city by the lakeside, have anything in common with men and women of ordinary common sense. How many of this particular kind of economic and social malcontents there are in the country, no one pretends to know, but it is an insult to the name of American to think that there are more than a very few of them.

When we read of some of the reform proposals that have been advanced at the Chicago gathering, we find it difficult to believe that they have not been offered in humorous vein for the purpose of tickling a people sobered by hot weather, high cost of living and the congressional probe into campaign expenditures. There is nothing humorous, though, about the thunderous applause that is said to have greeted the remark of one speaker expressing the hope that "the working people of the United States would get together and do a job such as the workers of Russia have done." Perhaps it is just as well, however, to laugh at that also as the real workers of this country have no aspirations to embark upon a campaign of horror.

Sir Edward Carson is resuming his dictatorial attitude in Ulster, somewhat after the style of his threats in 1914. Carson is responsible for all the trouble that has occurred in Ireland during the past six years so far as that has been characterized by injustice on the part of the government and resistance by the people. The Irish people are certainly gifted with great patience in tolerating so much of Carson's audacity.

The municipal council has done the right thing in voting to make an addition to the Vocational school building on Broadway. Even if the school should be moved to Kirk street after the new high school shall have been finished, the building in Broadway would be a marketable asset. It would be an ideal location for a manufacturing plant, such as a machine shop or an automobile repair shop.

Perhaps now that 20,000 pounds sterling has been given to the University of Oxford to establish a chair of American history a few Englishmen may learn that John Hancock, and some of the other early patriots who helped to bring about the revolution were not, as a distinguished British historian has asserted, "smugglers whose illicit trade had been interfered with by the mother country."

"Senator Harding has gone into seclusion while preparing his speech accepting the republican presidential nomination." We should think a secluded place, with slow dirge music and drapery hangings of crepe, would be appropriate for his meditations on the Chicago platform.

One would feel a keener sympathy for Prince Henry of Prussia, who is reported to have been kicked and cuffed about and compelled to run the gauntlet by the Schleswig-Holsteiners, if the memory did not intrude of some of the things that were done by Hohenzollern soldiers in Belgium.

It is announced that the Murray Hill hotel in New York, a house of some sumptuousness in its day, is to be torn down to make a place for a new 3000-room hostelry. Another blow for the prophets who would have ushered in the day of doom for the hotel business with the dawn of prohibition.

It may be well to recall for the benefit of the present generation that Lowell has a special interest in the America's cup that Sir Thomas Lipton hopes to lift. It was a Lowell man—Gen. Benjamin F. Butler—and his yacht that first brought the piece of coveted silverware across the ocean.

If the administration at Washington allows the coal situation to become more serious, it will thereby help to give strength and vitality to the third party movement in Chicago. It is time the authorities awoke to the menacing character of the present coal situation.

It is gratifying to find that in spite of every difficulty, the mills of Lowell are running almost on full time with their usual quota of employes. The woolen mills alone are affected by market conditions that make their continued activity unprofitable.

The department of agriculture announces that prices for farmers' products decreased 1.7 per cent during June, and then proceeds to take all the starch out of its good news by stating that they are still 37 per cent higher than they were two years ago.

Vice Presidential Candidate Roosevelt says that the democrats are not to consider any state hopeless, but that the campaign fight will be carried on in every one of the states of the union. We need a little more of that spirit in Massachusetts.

If the ears of that federal official who spread broadcast the statement that half of the factories of Lowell were closed, haven't burned any lately it hasn't been for want of pointed comment by local mill men on his absurd announcement.

That seems to be a legitimate complaint of the men at the police station that, if the law compels them to furnish quarters for two or three weeks for stray dogs, the law should also provide the funds to pay for feeding them.

England, selling supplies to the Russian Bolsheviki and arms to the Poles to fight them with, seems to be in a position to get the best of the bargain at both ends and in the middle.

Lowell's younger sister, Miss Lawrence, down the river, is to spend $40,000 on a new playground. Lowell would be tickled if it could spend $4000 on the few playgrounds it already has.

Hurry up gentlemen of the park commission and rope off those streets for playgrounds—if the children are to use them they would like to begin while the summer is still here.

The word pictures that a Boston paper is presenting of Calvin Coolidge as a Vermont Denman Thompson ought to help make him solid with the farmer vote.

Give one thought to La Belle France today—it's a sort of national birthday over there—Bastile day.

SEEN AND HEARD

"No man can climb beyond the limitations of his own character."

Hoot mon rises from a bed of pain to remark that there still continues to be much dry comment by humorists on the wet subject.

Well, anyway, 'twere better for the returning conventionists to meet a bear than a laughing snake or a pink elephant.

If the prohibitionists could prevail upon bootleggers to drink some of their own brand they would soon be rid of bootleggers.

When Villa quits banditing, and Bill Bryan conventioning, the spiritualists may then see the spirit of a murderer and the murderer of spirits.

Humorous Breaks

Nowhere, perhaps, is to be found more unconscious humor than in the English penny-a-liners. Now in England, as among us, the journalist of a certain type depends upon verbosity to fill his column, and upon ponderous diction to afford it color. With him terseness is a literary crime. A bad fire is always a "terrific conflagration," a fight is a "desperate struggle," and fire and water respectively become "the devouring element" and "the watery grave."

But occasionally he produces a real gem of unconscious humor. The report of the murder of a man named Duncan once contained this amazing statement:

"The murderer was evidently in quest of money, but unluckily Mr. Duncan had deposited all his funds in the bank the day before, so that he lost nothing but his life."

Another wrote, in reference to a street accident:

"The unfortunate victim was taken to Guy's hospital where he now lies progressive favorably, although he is sedulously attended by the resident surgeon and some of the leading members of the medical staff."

A Glasgow paper contained this equivocal statement concerning a shipwreck:

"The captain swam ashore, and succeeded in also saving the life of his wife. She was insured in the Northern Marine Insurance company, and carried a cargo of cement."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

For Mr Knocker

Mr. Knocker, where do you come in? queries Dr. James L Vance. You have great kicking powers, but can you pull? You are strong at the brakes, but did you ever stretch the traces? You can raise objections, but did you ever put on anything that meant progress? You can defame and discourage the men who are trying to do something, but what single thing have you ever done to help your town up and on? You are wise, wonderfully wise. You know exactly how everything should be done. You have a mind that takes hold—not to speak of a tongue that bites. You have a wisdom that is seldom matched, never missed. One wonders why you have been overlooked. Such a boon reconstructor and regulator of human affairs should be elected by acclamation. It is a sight for gods and men when you get into action. Socrates and Methusaleh, from their caves in the land of shades, look on with envy as you dispense wisdom, but you never get beyond verbal pyrotechnics. Why don't you take hold and do something? Break into sweat. Bend your back to some burden. Stretch your muscles over some task. Empty your pocketbook to some good cause. Or at least join the crowd and help cheer some fellow who is doing all this. Not you. Not on your life! You were built for repose and advice. There you sit on your perch of self-esteem, dispensing criticism. It is an easy role to play. No one conducts so large a business on so small a capital as the critic. Brains thin by nature and exhausted by cultivation many still gain great notoriety by affecting criticism. But you are not really needed. A little of you goes a long ways. The people would be willing to vote you a vacation. They would let you go off on full pay, and, should you forget to come back, there would be no crape. There is a verse which says: "If a man thinketh himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself." There is food for thought in that Scripture. Quit knocking, dear patriot. Abate your critical instincts. It is not negations but positions that we need. Throw away your hammer and get a hoe!

The Lightning Bug

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

Consider the lightning-bug, my son.
Who isn't famed for a brilliant mind.
But who wins attention from every one
Because of the light that he sheds behind.

He brings us light and he brings no heat,
And that, of itself, is a wondrous feat,
A coup-de-something one rarely sees
On the part of political nominees.
For their procedure is different, quite:
They bring us heat, but they bring no light.

So consider the lightning-bug, my son,
Who sets an example for humankind.
May your fortune be, when your days are done,
To have radiated a light behind!

MATHEW TEMPERANCE INSTITUTE

The Mathew Temperance Institute held its regular weekly meeting last evening with President Arthur M. Flaherty in the chair and several matters of interest to the members were discussed. A committee was appointed to devise ways and means to assist in the movement for the erection of a chapel at Lakeview. Many of the members are prominently identified with the summer colony at Lake Mascupple and at their request the society has decided to offer its active co-operation in establishing the fund being raised for the chapel's construction. The members of the committee are Joseph Finnegan, chairman; James McGovern, secretary; Mathew Ryan, Harold McKeon, William Ryan, Francis A. Clarke, Bernard H. Rourke, Thomas J. Tighe, George W. Bowers, Thomas J. Durkin and Arthur M. Flaherty.

MAIN ABOUT TOWN

After a heavy rain the roofs of some buildings within view of The Sun building show pools of water that remain for days, sometimes for weeks. The owners evidently have no idea of the condition of their property so far as the roof is concerned.

The members of the Lowell post of the American Legion are not interfering in city hall matters and are in no way concerned with the affair of Officer Rynne as some people seem to suppose. The members are not trying to discredit anybody who did not go to the war and they are not interfering with the rights of others if occasionally they endeavor to assert their own or to stand up for the interests of the city, state or nation.

It is most interesting to note how popular the movies continue to be even in the most heated seasons of the year. Certainly, one could not ask for a more sultry night than last Monday, when there was little or no inducement for one to remain indoors if he could possibly get out. However, most of the local movie houses had few vacant seats in their orchestra floors and a large part of their balconies was filled. I don't know whether the theatres happened to have especially attractive offerings Monday, but the weather certainly didn't deter a large majority of their patrons from attending. Perhaps there's a bit of psychology entering into the matter; if one has his mind on the plot of an interesting movie he won't think of the heat. At any rate, the movies are continuing to attract even in July.

June, the month of roses, is past, but beautiful displays of the flowers are still to be seen in some of the home gardens of Lowell. One such display, that cannot fail to attract the attention of any person with a love for color and the beautiful, is in the yard adjoining the residence at the corner of Lawson and Queen streets. At one side of the yard is a trellis with a bending arch connecting its two pedestals. At the base of one of the pedestals a crimson rambler has been planted, and its limbs have climbed up to and started across the arch. It is just now a wild riot of crimson bloom and beauty. At the other side of the trellis is a rose bush with blossoms of a delicate pink. The thought naturally occurs—what a pity that a picture so entrancing to the eye cannot be caught and preserved in a photograph. But, alas, no very practical way has yet been discovered for making photograph prints in the original colors of nature. The colored photographs that one sees in the store windows are not, as some people think, photographs in colors. They are colored photographs, that is the pictures are made in the usual photographic way and then tinted by hand with water colors. There are the autochroms, and similar other kinds of photographic plates, that give transparencies that in some degree reproduce the colors of nature but not many of these are made.

LEGLESS OPTIMIST DRIVES JITNEY

BY EDWIN D. RIDER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, July 14.—In W. E. Gannaway there's a whole sermon on optimism.

Gannaway is perhaps the only legless jitney driver in America!

In a wreck near Kansas City in 1910, Gannaway, a brakeman, suffered both his legs cut off just above the knee. Did he give up life's struggle as many similarly afflicted do and start begging on the street?

Started All Over

Not "Bill" Gannaway! He just started all over again. For three years he ran a little hotel, but this life wasn't active enough for an old railroader.

So he invented special controls for a Ford and became a legless jitney driver. From the clutch he had a wide iron band extended to the edge of the seat so that he can operate it by pushing with his left "stub." All the other controls have special iron handle extensions that he works with his right hand while steering with his left. The new controls are his own inventions.

An Expert Driver

He is said to be one of the most careful and expert drivers in the city. Many who live out Troost way wait for Gannaway to come around.

Bill has a cheery outlook and is happy in his new work. He has never had an accident. "Speedin' don't pay," he says, "just gets you lore up."

ORPHANAGE CHILDREN'S OUTING

The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street was held yesterday in Tewksbury, the children being entertained on the beautiful lawn of the O.M.I. novitiate. The trip to the neighboring town was made in two special electrics and was under the direction of Rev. Joseph A. Bolduc, O.M.I. In the course of the day, games were played, a program of sports was carried out and the little folks were treated with ice cream and tonic, while at noon they were served an appetizing dinner to which they did fine justice.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

While operating his motorcycle through Gorham street early this morning James Logan of 3 Webster street crashed into a tree and as a result he is at St. John's hospital with severe injuries to his head, while his machine is a wreck. The accident occurred at about 1.30 o'clock near the corner of Fay street and shortly afterwards Logan was found on the roadside about 20 feet away from his cycle. The ambulance removed him to the hospital.

$50,000 Fire in Chelsea

CHELSEA, July 14.—The dyehouse and bleachery of Walker Brothers was damaged early today by a fire which caused the sounding of a general alarm. The blaze started in the drying room. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Returns Bag Containing $20,000

NASHUA, N. H., July 14.—Edwin B. Saunders of 134 Amherst street, wholesale meat dealer, while driving his auto back from Boston, picked up a bag in the road which contained $20,000. Of this amount $3500 was in cash and the remainder in stocks and bonds. When he opened the bag after reaching home he learned the address of the owner, a clergyman living just outside Boston, whose name he declined to give.

"TWO OLD VETS HOME"

Old Home in Tyngsboro Passes Into Hands of New Owners

The "Two Old Vets' home" in Tyngsboro, one of the oldest houses in this part of the country and long a familiar landmark has passed into the hands of new owners—George and Stella Ella Rand—and has been repaired and treated to its first coat of paint so that appearance that it has borne for many years has been much changed.

The house is supposed to have been built by Oliver Coburn. His father is believed to have been killed at the battle of Bunker Hill. In the same battle the son, who was called "Tumpy" by his comrades, was a drummer boy. "Tumpy" served through all of the Revolutionary war and then came to Tyngsboro to build his small home.

The house has all of the familiar features of the houses built over a century ago, including great fireplaces in the living rooms. Adjoining is a well that is noted for its soft and mellow water.

HUNTING TROUBLE IS HOBBY OF CHICAGO'S DEMON LEGISLATOR

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 13.—Lots of big city aldermen and councilmen dodge troublesome issues. They keep their jobs safe.

Not Max Adamowski, member of the Chicago board of aldermen from the twenty-eighth ward.

Adamowski goes out and borrows trouble. He's Chicago's demon legislator.

Paving ordinances and traction franchises and telephone rate raises bore him. There is no romance in them, none of the human touch. They're big things, but he prefers agitating for legislation on other things, even if some of them are bizarre.

Here are some of Adamowski's most recently proposed ordinances and investigations:

A law to prevent women from smoking in public.

Probe of the cost of apples from the orchard to the pie.

Police court fines for landlords who don't make apartment house janitors keep radiators hot in winter.

Ordinances regulating the high cost of eating in one-armed restaurants.

Investigation of cold storage food speculators.

And besides, Adamowski is interested in Alderman Kostner's plan to abolish by legislation "lightning-change" apartments of one and two rooms. He says the "bed-in-the-wall" flats are unsanitary. Calls them "race suicide flats."

Adamowski proposed his no-smokes-for-women ordinance because he said smoking has a bad effect on young girls.

He wants to find out, by pursuing the apple from the tree to the barrel, to the market, to the baker and finally to the restaurant, why an apple pie that used to cost the restaurant keeper 15 cents now costs 40 and 50 cents. He is against the half-dollar pie.

Flat dwellers are cheering the Adamowski proposed ordinance to fix the minimum winter flat temperature at 70 degrees Fahrenheit between 6 in the morning and 10 at night.

"I plan a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum fine of $200," says Adamowski, "for each time a landlord neglects to provide the necessary heat—each day to be a separate offense. The same for workshops and factories."

Adamowski is chairman of the council committee investigating the high cost of living. Just before they started probing activities of cold storage food speculators he called the committee together to start gathering facts. He had City Food Director Russell J. Poole prepare a lunch of sandwiches, pie and coffee, and lecture on prices.

The sandwiches cost 5½ cents each, the pie 5 cents a cut, the coffee a cent a cup. With statistics by the yard and the evidence before them, the Adamowski committee began investigating the high cost of living—by eating the evidence.

The girls at Joplin, Mo., have discovered that the white cloth of sugar sacks, cleaned and dyed, makes lovely waists and smocks, as well as milk strainers and shoe polishers. One stenographer has a sugar sack waist embroidered in wool.

BOULEVARD DANCE HALL

Application for Dance Hall License Filed With License Commission

Louis and George Bechard and Edward J. and Theophile Lirette filed application for a license for the dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard with the license commissioners last night. The proposed erection of a dance hall on the boulevard is meeting with more or less opposition in the Pawtucketville section and the promoters sought the advice of the commissioners last night in the event of the erection of the hall. The commissioners announced that if any opposition was made after the filing of the application a hearing would be held. They also stated that no license could be issued until the dance hall is completed.

The promoters have already spent $5000 on the project in the purchase of lumber and other materials. The foundation of the hall is already completed and the entire hall will represent about $20,000 in capital.

Minor Licenses

The board granted the following minor licenses:

Common victualler—Constantine Victualles, 523 Dutton street; Lowell Community Service, by John J. Walsh, 175 Dutton street; Charles E. Beaulieu, 28 Thorndike street E. T. Shaw Co., 18-28 Prescott street. Hawker and peddler—John Satpian, 69 Fulton street; Cartono Maladrino, North Billerica; Isaac Harris, 17 Sheldon street. Second-hand motors, Lowell Oakland company, 624 Middlesex street. Express—William J. Canole, R.F.D. 2, Dracut; William G. Mellen, 26 Dingley street; Lodging-houses—Joseph Beaudreau, 10 Lee st.; Hogop Margkarian, 85 Gorham street. Mrs. Frances Howard, 75 Chelmsford street; Cora A. Toby, 75 Westford street; Elsie Mayo, 601 Merrimack street. To sell ice cream on the Lord's day—Henry Leclair, 871 Moody street; Goza Stepanian 259 Central street; Rozzanna Barber, 10 Grove street; John E. Shrigley, 1161 Lawrence street.

WOULD REDUCE BLADDER OPERATIONS

CHICAGO, July 14.—A painless method of treating diseases of the gall bladder, which it was claimed would eliminate surgical operations in more than 50 per cent. of such cases, has been perfected by Dr. Frank Smithies, associate professor of medicine in the University of Illinois, it was announced today at the Augustina hospital clinic, where Dr. Smithies demonstrated his method to physicians and surgeons.

Following the line of experiment taken by Prof. Meltzer of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, Dr. Smithies' device consists mainly of a small, egg-shaped perforated ball, about one-quarter of an inch in diameter and one-half inch long and 54 inches of rubber tubing about the size of a lead pencil. The ball is easily swallowed by patients and the contents of the gall ducts are painlessly drawn through the tube by suction.

Dr. Smithies is secretary-general of the American College of Physicians and the American congress of internal medicine.

SUMMER TELEPHONE CHARGES REDUCED

Under the terms of an order made public yesterday afternoon by William H. O'Brien, chief of the telephone and telegraph bureau of the public utilities commission, the New England Telephone and Telegraph company is directed to allow a five months' minimum charge for seasonal telephone service.

The decision affects owners of summer residences who desire to install telephone service for only a portion of the year. It will undoubtedly be appreciated by them. At present they must agree to pay for a seven months' service, even though they use the telephone for only a month or two. The reduction was made after a conference between Mr. O'Brien and the representatives of the telephone company.

BUMPER CROPS OF HAY AND TOBACCO

BOSTON, July 14.—Bumper crops of hay and tobacco in Massachusetts this year were predicted by the state department of agriculture today. A continuation of favorable weather, it was said, would result in nearly normal crops of all kinds despite adverse conditions in the spring. The department said that acreage had been decreased 15 to 20 per cent, as a result of the scarcity of farm laborers earlier in the season but that the supply of workers is sufficient now.

POOR LITTLE RICH KIDS BEHIND THE RED WALL

These exclusive photographs were taken by James Hare, world-famous press photographer, in Kiep, while the Polish and Bolshevik armies were battling for the city. When they were snapped the Poles were in possession of the city. Now the Reds have recaptured the famous old Russian city and have pushed the Polish line back. Fierce fighting continues.

"The group of kiddies," writes Hare, "are children of the richest people in Kiev. Despite their worn and patched clothing they are the best dressed youngsters in the whole city."

Below, former Russian general who ekes out an existence by selling cigarets on the streets of Kiev. He went right on with his work during the struggle for the city.

Above, an aged Russian refugee who had money before the war and is now begging in Kiev. He is too old to be of any use in the Bolshevik labor gangs. Some of the Russian girls in Kiev still manage to dress attractively, in a crude way, despite the terrible shortage of clothing and cloth in Bolo-land—as the lower picture shows.

FARMER MANUFACTURER

Dairy Owners Move for Complete Independence in Milk Business

N.E.A. Staff Special

NEW YORK, July 14.—A step forward in the direction of complete independence from milk distributing companies is being taken by the dairy farmers of New York and five adjoining states.

Some $2,000 of these, organized in the Dairymen's league, Inc., already own co-operatively 12 country milk plants, and a campaign has just been launched to establish new plants in 13 different sections of league territory. The new project involves raising a fund of nearly $4,000,000.

All Milk Products

The plants include fluid milk shipping stations, butter and cheese factories and places for the manufacture of condensed, powdered and evaporated milk and other milk products.

Until farmers set out to get possession of country milk stations all such plants were owned by the distributors and manufacturers. Under the new scheme of things the farmer will be a manufacturer as well as a producer.

According to league officials the co-operative plan will give the producer a steady market for his milk and assure him a more equitable distribution of the proceeds. Co-operative activities will result in reduced costs, they declare, and consumers will reap the benefits.

Fair Price, More Trade

Fair prices, they add, will bring increased volume of business and increased returns to the producer-manufacturer.

Only recently the American relief administration placed with the Dairymen's League Co-operative association an order for something like 6,000,000 cans of the Dairymen's league brand of sweetened condensed milk. The total deliveries will amount in value to about $1,500,000.

HEALTH ADVICE

Rheumatism as Explained by U. S. Health Department

There are different forms of rheumatism, and some of the forms have several different names. Acute rheumatism, acute articular rheumatism and rheumatic fever are terms applied to one and the same disease. A milder form of the affection is called subacute rheumatism. In this form the symptoms are less severe, but the disease is more prolonged. It may continue for a long time and become chronic.

The term muscular rheumatism indicates an affection of the muscles as distinguished from joint affections. Lumbago and stiff neck are varieties of muscular rheumatism. The muscles, however, to a greater or less extent, may be involved in any form of rheumatism.

Other conditions simulating rheumatism, occurring in connection with or directly due to gonorrhea or to syphilis, are called gonorrheal rheumatism or syphilitic rheumatism as the case may be.

Rheumatism, either the acute or the chronic form may be due to the absorption of germs, or poisons produced by them, from abscesses at the roots of the teeth, or infections in the tonsils, nasal passages or other parts of the body.

Acute rheumatism (rheumatic fever) is a comparatively common disease in all climates within the temperate zone. It occurs chiefly during the winter and spring. Exposure to a cold damp atmosphere is the most frequently exciting cause in persons predisposed to the disease.

It may or may not begin with a chill or with a sore throat. The larger joints are usually affected. Swelling, heat, redness, tenderness and pain are the chief symptoms. The inflammation is apt to shift from one joint to another. The pain and fever are usually increased in proportion to the number of joints involved. The majority of cases are attended with profuse perspirations, scanty, highly acid urine, coated tongue and constipation. The heart is frequently involved.

In all cases of rheumatism a physician should be called for much harm may be done by improper treatment or neglect.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY ALL ITS OWN

In spring, when our lawns are dotted with glowing crocuses, one is not surprised to hear that this gay, yellow flower signifies cheerfulness in the romantic language of flowers.

Dedicated to Lovers

In the middle ages, however, the crocus was dedicated to lovers. It was said that it bloomed at dawn on St. Valentine's day and that it possessed the faculty to inspire love. So shy maidens gathered crocuses and brewed love potions from them.

The old Greeks and Romans used the crocus as medicine to prevent pestilence and plague and the odor of it was so well liked that Roman houses were decorated with crocuses on festive occasions.

Crocus and Smilax

The Greeks have a charming legend about the origin of this flower. Crocus was a handsome youth who loved a beautiful shepherdess, Smilax. Because the gods would not allow them to marry, Crocus killed himself. Flora, the goddess, pitied Smilax in her deep sorrow, and transformed both lovers into plants. Crocus became the beautiful flower named after him, and Smilax a vine. The tendrils of this vine were used to bind the garlands of crocuses that the Greeks used at their marriage festivals.

NEW STATION TO STUDY THE SUN

N.E.A. Staff Special

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Perhaps science is about to "find a use for sun spots."

These mysterious patches on the face of the sun have puzzled observers for years. Now it is believed they influence the weather and the Smithsonian Institution is about to establish a new sun-observing station in the Hauna Hala mountains in Arizona, where clouds are rare.

For 15 years observations of the amount of heat reaching the earth from the sun (solar radiation) has been carefully measured and Smithsonian scientists at Calama, Chili, discovered that the amount varied constantly, due to sun spots and other changes in the surface of the sun.

They also found that these changes in the "complexion" of Old Sol were followed in a few days by weather changes on earth.

One hundred and fifty signboards have been recently donated by a lumber company to the chamber of commerce [illegible] and have been placed at all of the cross roads and blind turns within a radius of 40 miles of that city.

SQUAW GOES INTO RING WITH "VAMP"

Personal encounters between Indian women to settle affairs of honor are not infrequent, and this is particularly true of the women of the Ponca tribe, who, although stoical and in many instances the slaves, particularly, of their husbands, are extremely jealous of their "men." They invariably settle their differences on the spot.

"They fight like wildcats," is the declaration of one rancliman who has lived among these Indians since the first days in Oklahoma. Seeing these women on the streets here daily, attired always in semi-tribal costume, seemingly paying little attention to anything that is going on, it is impossible to understand that they possess this spirit of jealousy. Their ties with their bucks they hold inviolate, however, and the squaw who attempts to go between them must fight whenever her interference becomes known.

Only recently there was a settlement of an affair of this nature in the general store on the Big V ranch, southwest of this city. The two Ponca squaws happened to meet in the store where they had both come to trade. One had accused the other of trying to "vamp" her husband and this was the first meeting of the two. Excepting for a brief quarrel in the Ponca tongue there were no preliminaries, and the bout started forthwith.

"It was one of the most bitterly fought encounters I have ever witnessed even between Indian women," said one of the white men who happened to be present. "It was not only a fairly good boxing match, but it developed into a rough and tumble, together with hair-pulling, biting and scratching, with frequent clinches.

"No Indian seemed to have any intention to interfere with the bout, and the white men have learned that these are strictly affairs of honor, to be kept away from. In fact, the man who would interfere might get a good trouncing for his trouble. Consequently the two women were permitted to have a finish fight.

"That portion of the general stock of the store that happened to be in the way of the fighters suffered considerably, and when the bout finally ended, with the complainant as the victor, there were cans of vegetables and fruit scattered everywhere, jugs were overturned, turnips, potatoes, sweet potatoes and onions were fairly well mixed on the floor. The Ponca women permit no double standard of morals. The man in the case is held equally guilty by his squaw with the woman who has tempted him, and he is not infrequently given a sound trouncing by his wronged wife."

"There are very few instances where the squaw, if she so desires, cannot and does not thrash her buck if he proves rebellious or unfaithful," said the man quoted above. "The women are accustomed to do more work than the men, who really do none at all if there is any way out of it. Consequently, the women are in better fighting trim. If the buck gets gay he is attended to immediately by his squaw.

"There are very few of these affairs of honor that ever reach the courts. None of them do through the Indians themselves. Once in a while the courts learn of a misdemeanor and the offending parties are taken in, but this is very seldom."—Tulsa World.

Old Welsh Dishes Are Favorites on English Prime Minister's Table

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE, FIRST CIVILIAN LADY OF GREAT BRITAIN, PREPARES HER HUSBAND'S DISHES

LONDON, England, July 14.—What's the old saying about the way to a man's heart? Mrs. Lloyd George, wife of the prime minister of England, must have learned it long ago. At any rate she has kept to the old Welsh traditions of good cooking, and knows the secrets of her husband's favorite dishes.

Here are four of Lloyd George's favorite dishes from recipes prepared by the first civilian lady in the British empire:

His Favorite Soup

The white parts of 8 or 10 leeks, and 4 potatoes, 3 pints of milk, half a pint of white stock, a small piece of margarine or butter. Method: Slice the potatoes and leeks very thin, put in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of water and a little salad oil or other fat. Simmer gently till tender. When quite soft, pass through a wire sieve and add milk and stock. Pepper and salt to taste. The soup should not boil after the milk is added or it will curdle.

His Favorite Pudding

One pound flour, 1 pound of suet, a less raisins, one-half pound of suit, a pinch of salt. Mix all together and moisten with milk. Put the mixture in a basin and boil (or steam it) for two hours. Serve with sauce or sugar.

His Favorite Tea Cake

One-half pound flour, 1 ounce of butter, 1 tablespoon of sugar. Rub the butter into the flour, add the sugar. Mix with the milk into a stiff dough and roll into thin, round cakes. Bake on a frying-pan, turning them over so as to brown both sides. Serve hot buttered.

His Favorite Currant Cake

Two pounds of flour, one-half pound of butter, 1 pound of raisins, 1 pound of currants, one-half pound of lard, one-quarter pound of mixed peel, 1 pound of sugar, 3 eggs, 1 packet of baking powder, 1 nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful carbonate of soda, some milk. Method: Rub the butter and lard into the flour, add the other ingredients, mix with sufficient milk to make rather a stiff dough. Divide into two or three cakes and bake in the oven.

Most people think that about the only typical Welsh dishes are stewed leeks, and the well-known Welsh rarebit. But here are four very old Welsh recipes which may be interesting to cooks who want to try something new. The Welsh names of the dishes are given, as prepared in Lloyd George's native town of Criccieth in Wales.

"Brwas"

Crumble a teacupful of white bread, put it into a basin, add a little salt, 1 teaspoonful of good dripping. Cover it with boiling water, let it remain for a few minutes, then crumble a little crisp oatmeal cake and add it lightly on the top of it, not too much to make it hard.

"Sican Gwyn"

Cover a basinful of oatmeal with 1 quart of cold water and half a teacupful of buttermilk, leave it to steep for two nights, then pour off the water. Put the thick portion through a sieve, adding another pint of cold water to it. Put it in a pan with a little ginger and sugar to taste. Boil for ten minutes, stirring it all the time.

"Torth Grt"

Two basinfuls of white flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 of egg powder, 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, pinch of salt, quarter of pound of butter or margarine. Put baking powder and the egg powder in the flour; also rub in the butter, then mix all together with a little milk, roll out and bake on a griddle.

"Llymru"

Three basinfuls of oatmeal, 3 quarts of water, 2 teacupfuls of buttermilk. Cover the oatmeal with the water and buttermilk; let it remain for two nights; then pour off the water, add a little fresh water to it and put it through a sieve. Then put it in a pan and, when it begins to boil, add 2 tablespoonfuls of white flour to it mixed with cold water and free from lumps. Boil it all together for 10 minutes, stirring it all the time.

Brains Not Needed to Pick up Big Fortune

BY JAMES HENLE,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 14.—"It doesn't take brains to make money."

That is a common enough saying.

Recently a sheriff's jury declared John W. O'Bannon incompetent. Not only has O'Bannon accumulated a fortune of from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000 through his own efforts, but testimony in court brought out the fact that during the past 52 days, when he was confined in the Riverdale sanitarium he has made $2,000,000.

Still Money Capable

"Who's looney now?" O'Bannon might inquire with some pertinency.

Nobody doubts that O'Bannon is not his old self, but, on the other hand, nobody can deny that he is still capable of making heaps and heaps of money. While he was in the sanitarium he worked out a scheme by which that institution could incorporate and quadruple its profits.

I brought the story of this amazing paradox to Dr. John D. Quackenbos of this city, eminent specialist in nervous diseases.

"There is nothing really surprising in this case," Dr. Quackenbos declared. "There are many wealthy men who develop monomania or paranoia and who do not lose their money-making ability.

Calls It a Faculty

"Money-making in itself does not imply nor require the possession of a gigantic intellect. It is as specialized a faculty as the ability to play the violin or to play chess. We read of infant prodigies who are musical wonders or marvels at chess, but they seldom at maturity show a normal, well-rounded intellect.

"More than one rich man, I have no hesitation in saying, is much inferior intellectually to his chauffeur.

"Many a man has made money in Wall street simply as the result of blind luck. I have yet to see that the acquisition of wealth requires the use of extraordinary intelligence."

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $50.00

100,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks held on option advance to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $700.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

FIRST RACE THURSDAY

America's Cup Contests Resumed After Lapse of 17 Years

NEW YORK, July 14.—The first race in 17 years for the America's cup will start tomorrow off Sandy Hook, the contesting boats being the cup defender Resolute, and the challenger Sir Thomas S. Lipton's Shamrock IV. It may be interesting at this time both to yachtsmen and to a great many who are not acquainted with this form of sport to read a few facts in connection with this historic yachting trophy.

To begin with the America's cup at first was not an international trophy. In fact it had no significance other than being a prize offered by the Royal Yacht Squadron for a race around the Isle of Wight, Eng., which was open to all nations. In August, 1851, the schooner yacht America, owned by Commodore John C. Stevens and four other members of the New York Yacht club, won this race and the cup became their property. Six years later Commodore Stevens and his associates conveyed the prize to the New York Yacht club in trust as a perpetual international trophy which has since been known as the America's cup, taking its name from the schooner yacht which won it in British waters.

The first race for the America's cup as an international prize, was held on August 8, 1870, over the regular course of the New York Yacht club in New York's lower bay. The challenging boat was Cambria, owned by James Ashbury, of the Royal Yacht squadron, Eng., and the cup was defended by practically the whole fleet of the New York Yacht club. That, however, was the only race in which the challenger ever had to sail against a fleet and the only contest in which the issue was decided by a single race. Cambria, by the way, finished tenth in that event while the old America finished fourth, the race being won by Single, the yacht idler finishing second.

In all there have been twelve contests for the cup, in the second of which Mr. Ashbury challenged with the schooner Livonia and the New York Yacht club agreed to defend the trophy with only one boat in the race. The 1871 contest was the best four out of seven races. Livonia won a single race owing to the steering gear of the defender Columbia breaking down. Only twice since that day, October 10, 1871, has a challenging yacht crossed the finish line ahead of the defending boat. On September 10, 1895, Valkyrie III. after following the defender finished 1 minute and 16 seconds ahead of the American boat and on October 4, 1901, Shamrock II. finished two seconds ahead of Columbia but lost to the defender by virtue of conceding 42 seconds time allowance.

In the races of 1876, 1881, 1885, 1886 and 1887, the contests were decided on the basis of the best two out of three races. From 1893, to the last race in 1903 the agreement was for the best three out of five races.

On only three occasions has one of the competing yachts for the America's cup failed to finish. In the last race of the 1895 contest, Valkyrie III. withdrew immediately after crossing the starting line. On October 11, 1899, Shamrock lost her topmast and withdrew in the second race of that year and on September 3, 1903, Shamrock II. did not finish in the final race of the series as she was already beaten and had nothing to gain by continuing.

Just once in the history of the cup races has a competing yacht been disqualified. This was in the second race of the series of 1899 when Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie III. was disqualified for fouling Defender.

The fastest time ever made in a race for the America's cup is credited to the old schooner Columbia. On October 25, 1871, the day before she was defeated by Livonia, she sailed 20 miles leeward and windward, 40 miles in all, in 5 hours, 1 minute and 38 seconds. It must not be inferred, however, that the Columbia was the fastest yacht that ever sailed for the cup. There is no method of determining the relative speed of two or more boats other than by the results of a race in which they sail together. When Columbia made the fast time referred to undoubtedly the conditions of wind, weather and sea were most favorable.

The fastest time ever made on a 15-mile course straight away and return, 30 miles in all, is credited to the Defender Vigilant. In a race on October 13, 1893, she covered the course in 3 hours, 24 minutes and 22 seconds.

The fastest time in a triangular race for the cup was made by Columbia on October 3, 1881, the time for the distance, thirty miles, being 3.30.14.

In the first three contests for the cup the challenging boats were schooners and the defenders for the second and third also were schooners. In all other contests, however, the yachts have been sloops or cutters.

The smallest challenger in the history of the cup race was Atlanta, which was built at Iberville, Ontario, Can., in 1881. She measured 84 feet on the water line and was the first sloop to appear in a contest.

The first yacht ever built especially to defend the trophy was Pocahontas. This was in 1881. Prior to that year the New York Yacht club had selected from its fleet the yacht considered to be best suited for the purpose. Pocahontas did not come up to expectations and was rejected in favor of Mischief, one of the finest sloops of the fleet. Since that year, however, new defenders have been built for every contest.

There were two candidates for the honor of defending the cup in 1885, two in 1886, and four in 1893, and in every contest, excepting one since the race between Atlanta and Mischief the cup has been defended by a yacht built for that particular race. The one exception was in 1901 when Constitution built for the race of that year was discarded in favor of Columbia, which successfully defended the trophy in 5.

RECORD PRICE PAID FOR TWO-YEAR-OLD

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., July 14.—The highest price ever paid for a two-year-old in this country was recorded here yesterday when Samuel C. Hildreth obtained Incheape, a chestnut colt by Friar Rock, for $125,000.

An offer of $100,000 made by Hildreth after the colt's victory in the Tremont stakes last Saturday was refused by Trainer Fred Burlow, acting for his employer, J. H. Rossiter, the California shipping magnate and breeder.

Incheape has started twice this year and was successful on both occasions. He was bred in California.

ORO FINO TAKES THE FREE-FOR-ALL

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 14.—Oro Fino, 2.03½, bought by the Woodstock Driving club from S. B. Hastings of Boston at the Readville sale, won the free-for-all pace here yesterday in a thrilling four-heat race at the closing day of the second meeting of the Maritime and Maine circuit, before a crowd of more than 7000 persons.

Driven by J. J. (Red) Hanifin of Boston, Oro Fino found most of his opposition in the Problem, his former stablemate in Tommy Murphy's grand circuit string, but he easily cut brushed them all when called upon.

JONES AND ADAIR GET UNDER WAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 14.—Match play to decide the amateur championship of the western golf association began on the Memphis Country club course today after two days devoted to qualifying rounds. The pairings for today included:

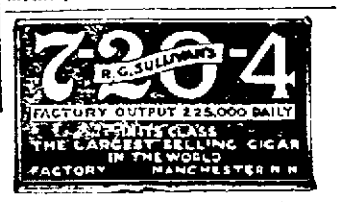
Bobby Jones, Atlanta, vs. Frank Crager, Helena, Ark.; Chick Evans, Chicago vs. J. L. Hickey, Atlanta; Perry Adair, Atlanta vs. Henry Wentzler, Memphis.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Victors defeated the Outlaws on the South common yesterday morning, 17 to 4. The batting of Cummings and Kennefick of the winners and the hitting of Moran and pitching of Sullivan of the losers were the features. Joseph D'Amour was the umpire. Both teams were made up of members of the local fire department.

MRS. ROOSEVELT GOES TO GREET HUSBAND

EASTPORT, Me., July 14.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leaving her children at the family summer home on Campobello island, has gone to Hyde Park, N. Y., to greet her husband for the first time since he was nominated as the democratic candidate for the vice presidency. She expects to return Saturday, accompanied by the candidate's mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt.



U. S. TO ENTER TEAMS IN CYCLE EVENTS

ANTWERP, July 13.—America will have 12 opponents in the bicycle road race and 10 in the Velodrome track events in the Olympic games. Among the contestants will be some of the best amateur cyclists on this side of the Atlantic, including Pekres, the famous Dutchman, who has been winning all over Europe.

Olympic committees today announced the following nations had entered the Velodrome events to be held August 9 and 10:

Great Britain, the United States, Holland, Denmark, Italy, South Africa, Canada, Luxemburg, Switzerland, Poland and France.

All of these except Switzerland will compete in the 170 kilometre road race on August 17. Czecho-Slovakia, Norway and Sweden have entered for the road race, but not for the Velodrome contests.

After much confusion due to clerical errors, it has been finally announced that the polo matches at Ostend will be played from July 24 to 31, instead of the dates in August which were announced last week. The American polo team includes Colonel Nelson E. Margetts, Col. John C. Montgomery, Captain Terry de la M. Allen and Captain Arthur Harris, regulars, with Captain William W. West, Captain K. C. Greenwald, Captain Sloan Doak and Captain Harry N. Chamberlain, substitutes. All of them are army officers, who have recently been playing in France and who are now training with the American ride and equestrian teams at Cobienz. Against the Americans will be the Belgian, Spanish, French and British teams, this being the first time in the history of polo that five national teams have engaged in a tournament.

Although the names of her participants have not yet been received, America, according to the Olympic committee, has also entered the archery target events, which will be held here from August 3 to August 5. Only two other nations, Holland and France, have teams entered for this feature of the Olympiad.

The executive committee with the main events of the meeting only a few weeks off is endeavoring to overcome what appears to be a lack of immediate interest prevailing among many of the various sub-committees recently appointed. Some of them are charged with work of importance, but up to the present have shown so little activity that they have been sharply censured by Belgian newspapers. With the exception of the executive committee and one or two others, bodies charged with arrangements for the Olympic games have done very little up to the present, and now find themselves flooded with work and in confusion.

PLAY RESUMED IN CLAY COURT TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, July 14.—The scheduling of 27 early round doubles matches, and the coming of the 1919 national turf tennis champion for the singles, Bindley Murray, assured a heavy day's play in the national clay court tournament at the South Side Tennis club here today. In order to catch up with his field in singles, Murray faced the task of playing through three rounds in the day of play. He is not entered in the doubles.

Several fourth round singles matches were scheduled to be resumed this afternoon after they were postponed in the middle of play for a point by a violent thunder storm yesterday afternoon. Edmund Levy of California took the courts with an advantage of 4-2 in games, and 40-30 in points against Wray Brown of St. Louis. Roland Roberts of San Francisco and Harry Waldner of Winnetka, Ill., the latter the president of the Western Lawn Tennis association and a veteran holder of many championships, resumed their match today with Roberts victor in one set, 6-2, and holder of a margin of 3-1 in games for the second set.

The victory of Vincent Richards of New York over Wallace Bates of California, in the fourth round yesterday, kept the 17-year-old Yonkers star in the forefront of the tournament. He won from Bates in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, after taking an early lead of 4-0 in each set, and did not seem to put forth his best tennis in the winning. One other fourth round match was finished yesterday before the storm forced play to suspend. In this contest George O'Connell, promising schoolboy star of Chicago, defeated the Filipino student, A. Marasigan, 6-2, 6-2.

INJURIES FATAL

Little Girl Struck by Auto Dies at Hospital

Alice C. Corte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Corte of 15 Elm street, died last evening at St. John's hospital as a result of a fractured skull received in an automobile accident, which occurred in Central street late yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 o'clock at a point near Tyler street, the automobile, the property of Cruickshank Ice Cream company, being operated by Justin B. Jenkins of 201 Appleton street. The operator of the machine claims the little girl darted from the sidewalk into the path of his car. He said he applied the brakes but was unable to bring the auto to a full stop before the little girl was struck. The child was rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance and died at about 7 o'clock. Deceased was 12 years of age.

Grosh of Lynn in the aeroplane accident at Salisbury Beach, Saturday took place at her home on Winter street this afternoon at 2. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. William Allen Knight of Plymouth Congregational church, of which Mrs. Long was a member. Interment was in Edgell Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Long's husband, Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor last fall arrived at his home here yesterday from San Francisco, where he was a delegate-at-large to the democratic national convention. Two youngest children, Charles and Mabelle, accompanied their father.

ATTEMPT TO KILL VON HINDENBERG

BERLIN, July 14.—An unidentified man broke into Field Marshal Hindenburg's house yesterday and fired at the field marshal. The bullet missed its mark and the man escaped.

JOHNNY DUNDEE MASTER OF JOHNNY DOWNES

BOSTON, July 14.—Johnny Dundee had an easy time earning the decision over South Boston Johnny Downes in 12 rounds of boxing here last night.

That Dundee could have given Downes a worse mussing up than he did was apparent. He is one of the few boxers who does not like to damage an opponent badly when he can earn the award without doing so.

For four rounds Downes put up a stiff argument. He jabbed Dundee in the face, uppercut him with his right and a few times shot right to eye and jaw.

While Downes was doing these things, Dundee was hooking his rival in the face with his left, jabbing him on the nose and mouth and banging away at the kidneys and stomach.

In the sixth round it looked like the curtain for Downes. After Dundee had hooked him a few times he drove one to the wind that almost doubled Downes up. He saw Downes was in bad shape from the punch and with rights and lefts to the face and body sent the South Boston boy to the mat just as the bell sounded.

After that round Dundee did not exert himself to any great extent, simply working so as to carry Downes along for the remainder of the bout.

Dundee at times showed Downes how easy it was for him to hit him where and when he wanted. A few times he introduced his act of bounding off the ropes. Downes several times caught him with the right to the head when he did it.

Dundee may be slipping, but he did not show any signs of it last night. He is the same fast, clever and cunning boxer he always was, still a past master in carrying along a boxer so that he can make a good show.

REPORT NOT FAIR TO MASSACHUSETTS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 14.—The figures recently published by Col. Ayres of the Russell Sage Foundation, purporting to show that Massachusetts had dropped to ninth place among the states in educational matters, are shown in a statement issued today by Payson Smith, commissioner of education, to have been only "estimates," and essentially wrong with respect to several states.

Backing Commissioner Smith in his statement is the United States bureau of education, which declares that Col. Ayres' estimates are not accurate enough for precise comparisons, and "vitiate his entire work in its application to individual states."

"The estimates," Commissioner Smith said today, "were made in the census office at the request of the bureau of education. In making them, however, no consideration was given to anything that has happened since 1910. In each case eight-tenths of the increase between 1900 and 1910 was added to the population of 1910 and the sum was assumed to constitute the population of 1918. It was assumed that the increase from 1910 to 1918 would be uniformly in the same arithmetical ratio as between 1900 and 1910.

"The limitation of that method when applied to rapidly growing states is apparent. According to it, if a place had 100 inhabitants in 1900 and 1000 in 1910, it ought to have 1720 in 1918. In other words, the increase was 900 per cent in ten years, but would be only 72 per cent in the following eight years. It is inevitable that these estimates are much too low for many of the states, and too high for others.

"When the figures of population are too low, the ratios based upon them are too high, as a matter of course. Of the states at the head of the list, it is certain that the school population of Montana, Arizona, District of Columbia and California is greater than the census office estimates which were published and used by Col. Ayres. The reported total school enrollment in all these states is greater than the estimates of school population, the ratios being 122.8 per cent, 107.8 per cent and 106 per cent, respectively. In Montana and Arizona the enrollment in public schools alone is greater than the estimated school population used by Col. Ayres.

"Further proof of the incorrectness of the census office estimates in some states is adduced in the District of Columbia, the report of whose actual population in 1920 has been published. That population is 437,571. Calculated upon the ratio developed in 1910, the number of children between 5 and 18 is about 88,389. There has been little increase since 1918, as the school records show; the number of children two years ago was nearly as great as the number now. There were not fewer than 85,000 children between 5 and 18 in the District of Columbia at the time the census office estimated the number to be 74,524. Col. Ayres used the smaller number in his calculations, and naturally the ratios based upon it are excessively high.

"In 'School Life,' the official publication of the bureau of education, the faulty work of the report of the census office is shown in the case of Montana, which, in the report of Col. Ayres', is placed first among the states. 'With correct data', School Life says, 'that state would be several degrees removed from the top of the list!' It seems unnecessary to go further in the examination of the figures."

ARTILLERY PRACTICE AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, July 14.—Two battalions of the 42d Railway Artillery Regiment, an outfit largely composed of New England men, will arrive at Camp Devens about August 1 for two months of firing practice along the coast, according to Lieut. Walter C. Sanders, sent in advance as the representative of the regiment. Lieut. Sanders has been recruiting in the state of Maine for his outfit for some time and he says that a good many men in the regiment are from that state.

The regiment is armed with eight-inch guns mounted on railway trucks so that they can be moved with ease from point to point. Their range is 13 miles. Most of the firing, says the lieutenant, will be done either at moving or at stationary targets in the water.

The 42d Railway Artillery Regiment served in France, was at the Argonne, at St. Mihiel and in several other engagements. Its colors were decorated by the French with the Croix de Guerre. The regiment is part of the 30th Railway Artillery Brigade, which has the famous oozefinch as its shoulder insignia. The oozlefinch is a bird which lives on a hill because one leg is longer than the other, and it has to stand on a slope. It has one feather and flies backwards to keep the dust out of its eyes.

Dracut Woolen Mill

ployment in the big machine shop, the Gillespie Mfg. company and the United States Cartridge company, but there are still perhaps 50 per cent. of the operatives idle. While all of them could take a vacation of two or three weeks without any great inconvenience they feel that a vacation of two months would be more than they could afford. Some of them have felt that the mills might be reopened soon so that they have not bothered as yet looking for employment elsewhere."

What was the real cause of closing down of the mill?" asked the reporter.

"Well," said the employe, "the company made a proposition that the help would work at the rate of wages in force in the month of June before the 15 per cent. increase was granted. This arrangement was to remain in force till September when according to Mr. Morrison, the rate would be restored or the same rates as paid in other mills of the same kind would be adopted.

"Some of the operatives thought this was a straight move for a cut-down in wages and that is why they rejected it. For my part, I think they made a mistake as by this arrangement the mills could have been kept running, while other woolen mills such as those of the American Woolen company have been shut down."

Another resident of the Navy Yard stated that he believed most of those who voted against accepting Mr. Morrison's proposition resided in Lowell and were confident that they could easily get employment in some of the factories in the city. Their view of the matter was of course different from that of the people who live around the mill and have worked there for a great number of years.

"Did the Merrimack Woolen mill pay as good wages as were paid in other woolen mills?" was asked another operative.

"They certainly did" was the reply. "The Merrimack paid the same scale of wages as the American Woolen Co.'s mills and during the war the operatives made splendid wages, many of them earning $50 and $55 a week. For my part, I feel now that the help made a mistake in not accepting Mr. Morrison's proposition."

Another former employe of the mill said that the reason why Mr. Morrison's plan was not favored was that "it was regarded as a cut-down, that it would lower the standard of wages and that mills in other places would point to the Merrimack Woolen mill in Dracut as working on a lower scale than is in force elsewhere. The unions are against any movement to put in force a lower scale of wages. But Mr. Morrison stated that his plan was proposed only to avoid a shut-down and keep the employes working during two months when business was so dull that woolen mills everywhere had to shut down.

A gentleman at one of the local stores said that so far as he could learn the local sentiment among the people who resided in the village, it was strongly in favor of reopening the mill.

President Morrison's Statement

President Morrison was reached by telephone today and asked as to the prospects of reopening the mill before September.

"At the present time," he said, "there's nothing to warrant reopening, as I have not heard that the operatives have changed their minds in regard to a shutdown through July and August. They voted in favor of two months' idleness rather than accept the plan which I proposed, and under which I hoped to keep the mill running when other woolen mills had shut down. I guess some of them thought I was trying to put something over on them, but that was not so. I was willing to take a big chance of losing on two months' work at a time when orders were being cancelled and when conditions generally were very bad. The shortage of coal has come on the heels of other troubles to make the situation still worse. I calculated as in the past to pay the same wages as other woolen mills and the arrangement I proposed was not a cut-down, but a mere 'tide-over' to enable us to keep running through the dull spell. I simply proposed a return to the rate of wages paid before the 15 per cent. increase and that is the rate paid today by practically all the woolen mills in operation.

"I am sorry for the shut down, sorry for our mill people being thrown out of work and scattered through the city. It was my hope to hold our force together in spite of dull times without suspension. I felt it was the best course but the operatives decided otherwise."

Running Full Time

In a report appearing in The Sun yesterday relative to the condition of affairs in mills in and around Lowell it was stated that the Beaver Brook mill of the American Woolen Co. was running on part time. An official of that mill informed The Sun today that the mill is running full time.

NEW PARKING LAW TO BE ENFORCED

"The people of this city might just as well begin now to acquaint themselves with the new parking ordinance which was adopted at the meeting of the city council yesterday morning after the proposal of Commissioner Salmon," said Supt. Welch this morning when asked as to the method of enforcing the law.

"The new law," he continued, "forbids the parking of vehicles within five feet of hydrants and within 30 feet on either side of any fire house. The maximum penalty provided in the provision is a fine of $20. Lately, Judge Enright has been imposing that amount on men found guilty of violation of city ordinances.

"I heartily endorse this law and will make every effort to have it strictly enforced as soon as it becomes effective on the 17th of this month. Since it would be almost impossible for us to post signs at all hydrants in the city it remains for the autoists to keep in mind the ordinance so that they will not have to be summoned into court.

"It will be much easier to enforce the law in regard to the fire houses because the firemen stationed there will require strict adherence to it."

DON'T LEAVE POOR PUSSY TO STARVE

If you plan to go on a vacation this summer, even though only for a few days, make arrangements for the care of your cat, or when you return you may find your pet no longer alive.

Such is the gist of a warning given local householders today by Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health, who says that the number of calls his office has had for the removal of dead cats has increased almost startlingly within the past few days.

"Many people," Mr. O'Hare says, "leave the city for their vacation and leave behind their cats, thinking that in some way or other the animal will manage to get along until their return. That is not true especially when there is any extended period of drouth as there usually is during the summer months. If a cat cannot get water to drink it will die of thirst, much more rapidly than a human being deprived of liquids. We note this situation summer after summer just as soon as the warm weather begins and people start on their vacation. This year again the annual toll of dead cats has started and one of our men is being kept on the jump removing the animals. Just a little forethought on the part of the vacationists will avoid a lot of this trouble."

AMBULANCE CASES

Louis Laseries of 217 Salem street and employed at the Lawrence Mfg. Co. received severe injuries to his face when he fell on an emery wheel while at his work shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. The ambulance removed him to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

Nine families, including 42 persons, living on Ohlsen avenue, Nutley, N. J., are complaining to the water board because all the water they get for family use is supplied by a single one-inch pipe.

HALF OF NORMAL SUPPLY BEING SHIPPED

WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Wilson has been kept fully advised as to efforts by the railroad administration, the interstate commerce commission and the coal operators' association to deal with the coal shortage situation, especially at lake ports.

A report by D. M. Eldord, assistant to the director general of the railroad administration, showing the present movement of coal about 50 per cent of normal was sent to the president today with other documents.

Discussing rumors of the possible appointment by the president of a fuel administrator, White House officials warned against intimations that such an official would not be named, explaining that, an emergency might arise later to make the appointment necessary. It was said at the White House, however, that ample powers to meet present conditions were vested in the interstate commerce commission under the Esch-Cummins railroad law.

OUTLOOK FOR FUSION GLOOMY

Convention Makes But Little Progress Toward Placating all Factions

Dissatisfaction Evident and Leaders Strive to Avert Wide Split

CHICAGO, July 14.—Little progress was made by the new fusion party during the first two hours of its convention today and an undercurrent of dissatisfaction was in evidence throughout the meeting. It once more required the pleas of the leaders and constant conference to prevent open breaks.

At 11.45 a. m., the platform conference ordered the typing of a third version of a fusion party platform, and sent word to the convention that it would report at 2 p. m. The convention adjourned until that time.

The committee of 48 at an early morning caucus decided to continue its state and national organization regardless of the action of the present convention and to meet separately tonight to consider the convention action.

Senator La Follette was still being represented in platform conferences but there were few indications of what decisions were being made.

This latest platform attempt was said by some representatives of the 48'er group to meet Senator La Follette's ideas in its planks on foreign relations and nationalization. The fact could not be absolutely confirmed because evident differences had developed between individuals influential in the former 48 organization.

HOPES AT EBB TIDE

Snags Struck at Chicago and Single Taxers Withdraw From New Party

CHICAGO, July 14.—Hopes for the survival of the new fusion party were at ebb tide as the all night conference of the new body's resolutions committee dragged along today in an effort to get together on a platform acceptable to Senator La Follette.

The extreme left which yesterday controlled the amalgamation and forced its platform desires on the more conservative elements in the convention struck a snag when it met the veto of the probable presidential nominee of the new party. Forty-eighters, who constitute the right wing group of the fusion movement, are bitterly opposed to the more socialistic ideas of the radical labor

Manifesto to Huerta Calls for Abolition of Present Constitution

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 14.—Restoration of the constitution of 1857 and the abolition of the constitution of 1917, which now is in force, is the principal demand contained in a copy of Francesco Villa's manifesto to the De la Huerta government, which has reached here from Villa's camp south of the Big Bend district. Other demands made in the manifesto are:

The immediate resignation of General P. Elias Calles from the portfolio of minister of war and marine; the withdrawal of all federal officers from the Obregonista army in Chihuahua; and that Villa be authorized to name one of his generals commander of the north in charge of all operations in the state of Chihuahua.

Failure to comply with any or all of these demands will cause Villa to reopen hostilities in northern Mexico and "begin a new reign of terror," according to the manifesto. July 15 is the date given in the demand for the resumption of hostilities if the new government fails to meet the demands.

CHAUFFEUR ARRAIGNED IN POLICE COURT

Justin B. Jenkins, a chauffeur employed by the Cruickshank Ice Cream company and driver of the truck which struck and killed Alice C. Corte, 12 years, of 15 Elm street, on Back Central street, last evening about 5 o'clock, was charged with manslaughter in police court this morning, before Judge Enright. Jenkins did not enter a plea, but was granted continuance under bonds of $2000 for trial on August 4.

Jenkins had driven the truck from Charles into Back Central and was going towards Towers' corner when the girl, according to witnesses, darted into the path of the machine. According to the police, Jenkins applied the brakes so quickly that the truck skidded 52 feet before striking the child and about 5 feet after she was struck. The girl did not regain consciousness after the accident, and died at St. John's hospital about two hours later.

WANDERER PLACED IN MURDERERS' ROW

CHICAGO, July 14.—Carl Wanderer was transferred today from the Hudson avenue detention home to the county jail where he was placed in "Murderers' row." He is the strangest and calmest inmate in the history of that row, the police said.

It was expected that during the day the two murder indictments against Wanderer, voted Monday by a grand jury, would be returned before Chief Justice Crowe of the criminal court.

The prisoner spent most of the day reading half a dozen prayer books and Bibles, which were brought to him by his father and his sisters, whom he saw for the first time since he was placed under arrest.

The former army lieutenant, who slew his wife and a man whom he had hired to be on hand so he could be killed and branded as a highwayman, said that death by hanging cannot come too soon.

COX REPLIES TO HARDING

Democratic Nominee Calls Opponent's Front Porch a Listening Post

Says Latter Has Harked Back to Days of 30 Years Ago

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—Charging that Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, had made his "front porch a listening post," Governor Cox, the democratic nominee, today issued a statement replying to Senator Harding's statement of yesterday, that the Wilson administration had saddled the League of Nations upon him as the chief campaign issue.

The governor's statement, which was given to the newspaper correspondents at the morning's conference, follows:

"I recognize the eagerness of the gentlemen of the press who are assigned here to develop news copy daily. I have no disposition to discourage that enterprise, but, at the very outset, it is well that we have this understanding of a very fundamental phase of the present situation.

"Senator Harding has made two definite announcements: That he purposes to hark back to the days of 30 years ago, and that he will make of his front porch a listening post. This means that he will be as far removed from the running current of progressive thought as the senatorial oligarchy of Lodge and Penrose and Smoot has been removed from the heart beats of the American people for a year or more.

"My campaign will be dedicated to the task of bringing peace with honor, of readjusting the affairs of civilization, and of creating a new day out of which we will make the best of the lessons of the past. Therefore, things that the senator believes vital and pertinent from his isolated perspective will not, in all probability be so regarded by me. His last statement is but a reiteration of what has been said in the senate time after time, so that if this campaign on the one hand develops into mere morning sessions of the senate, you will very readily perceive the uselessness of daily response."

ALL FRANCE IN GALA ATTIRE

131st Anniversary of Fall of the Bastile Centres in Paris

Brilliancy Marred by Absence of Pres. Deschanel and Marshal Foch

PARIS, July 14.—France today celebrated the 131st anniversary of the taking of the Bastile. Artillery and infantry estimated to number 41,000 marched through Paris to the Vincennes race track, where they participated in a great review. Points of vantage were occupied by thousands of Parisians, who took up their positions shortly after dawn. All the buildings of Paris were flag-bedecked, the French and American flags being entwined with the colors of the allies.

The brilliancy of the military review was marred by the absence of President Deschanel and Marshal Foch. The president sent word regretting that ill health compelled him to continue his rest for several weeks, while Marshal Foch was at Spa, to which city he had been summoned by the allied premiers.

General Pershing's greeting to "Foch, France and its army" and the American Legion messages to the French were prominently displayed in all newspapers.

Paris today was one vast playground. All business was at a standstill, and even surface transportation ceased. Tonight immense bonfires will blaze in several districts of the capital and in many other large cities, while there will be great displays of fireworks.

During the military review 16,000 crack troops particularly symbolized France's victorious army. These troops charged as they came before the grandstands, where groups of war widows and orphans and mutilated soldiers were given places of honor. As the rising sun sparkled on the waves of shining bayonets and the helmets of the cuirassiers, the cheering of the spectators drowned the music of a dozen bands.

Marshal Petain presented gorgeous silk colors to new colonial regiments and conferred the insignia of their promotion in the Legion of Honor upon General Mangin, victor of the battle of the Aisne and 12 other commanding officers.

U. S. SOLDIERS JOIN BIG CELEBRATION

COBLENZ, July 14.—The American army on the Rhine today celebrated France's national holiday. The army band gave concerts and salutes were fired.

Brigadier General H. T. Allen, commander-in-chief of the American army of occupation, went to Mayence to participate in the observance of the day at the headquarters of the French army of the Rhine.

COUNTERFEITER CAUGHT HERE SENTENCED

BOSTON, July 14.—George R. Hermans of Brooklyn, N. Y., was sentenced in the federal court today to five years in the Atlanta prison for having counterfeit money in his possession and passing it. Hermans was arrested in Lowell by federal officers, who had trailed him from Springfield where he passed six bogus bills. The officers seized $12,000 in twenty and fifty dollar bills, all of which were counterfeits. Hermans was wounded during the war while serving as a wireless operator with the Belgian army.

Hermans was apprehended in this city through the action of two Appleton street garage employes, who had been warned of his approach by Lieut. Petrie. Marking Hermans' automobile by its set of white wheels, the young men gave chase, picking up a patrolman on the way and overtook the fugitive near the junction of Merrimack and Pawtucket streets.

Berlin Representatives Show No Disposition to Yield to Allies on Coal Delivery Question

British Premier Emphatically Tells Germans at Conference That Measures for Enforcement of Execution of Treaty Will be Taken Unless Allied Terms Are Accepted—Conference Apparently Deadlocked With Outcome Uncertain

SPA, July 14 (By Associated Press).—In an effort to compose the differences between the Germans and the allies over the question of coal deliveries by Germany and prevent a breakup of the conference here, a series of informal conferences were arranged early this afternoon. Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons this morning showed no disposition to yield to the allies on the question of coal deliveries.

"The German delegation regrets that the conference may be dissolved without further agreement," said Dr. Simons to the correspondent, "but we have done as much as we could, and await the action of the allies."

The alleged ministers appear equally firm in their decision that Germany shall deliver 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly.

Allies Not Bluffing

SPA, July 14.—(By Associated Press.)—Premier Lloyd George received Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, at the latter's request this afternoon and told him emphatically that the allies were not bluffing.

The allies, Mr. Lloyd George declared, intended seriously to take measures for enforcement of execution of the Versailles treaty unless the Germans meet the allied modified terms regarding coal.

DRACUT WOOLEN MILL

Many Operatives Would Like to See it Start up—Pres. Morrison's Statement

At the Navy Yard, Dracut, a Sun representative finds the sentiment of the people in favor of reopening the Merrimack woolen mill which was closed by the voluntary action of the operatives in refusing to work during July and August at the scale of wages in force in May and June. The information given below was obtained in response to the following communication:

Editor Sun,

Dear Sir:—I notice that in your article in yesterday's paper referring to the condition of business in the local mills you made no mention of the Merrimack Woolen mills in Dracut. There are a good many people who would like to know how long the Dracut mill is to remain closed or whether it will open soon, as many of the operatives are still idle. If you can give any information on this matter you will greatly oblige,

Yours truly,

MILL OPERATIVE.

In order to obtain some information relative to the Merrimack Woolen mill in Dracut a representative of The Sun yesterday talked with a number of the Navy Yard people and it seems to be the sentiment of the vast majority in that district at least, that it was a big mistake to allow the mill to close if it could have been kept running by a compromise arrangement covering the two months of July and August.

When asked whether the people would like to have the mill reopen, one man formerly employed in the mill said: "Yes, certainly, the people around here would like to see the mill reopen. Many of the young men who worked there have secured em-

HIGH HUMIDITY TODAY

Weather Man Lays Siege to Sweltering City—Telephones Affected

That doughty old warrior, General Humidity, corralled all his forces of discomfort and sweltering unpleasantness today and laid siege upon Lowell with vim and vigor. The whirring of electric fans became the city's most valued possession, soda fountain clerks had nary a minute to chat and store clerks mopped perspiring faces and inwardly wished that their big holiday had been slated for today instead of tomorrow.

The weather man joined forces with the general and sent the thermometer shooting skyward. From 75 at 2 o'clock this morning the mercury mounted rapidly until at noon it was 85 in Merrimack square with every indication of 90 before the day should end.

The municipal swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard came into its own with scores of bathers, old and young, taking advantage of the new bath house and the inviting waters of the Merrimack. Everybody who had the slightest "pull" with the boss broke away from the daily grind at noon and the early afternoon cars to neighboring resorts gave Old Bill Bay State a broader smile than he has worn all summer.

UNCLE SAM CUTS DEEP INTO POCKETBOOK

BOSTON, July 14.—Uncle Sam cut into the incomes of Massachusetts individuals and corporations during the past year for almost a hundred millions of dollars more than the year before and for nearly twice as much as in the preceding year. His share of the prosperity and profits of the past year, as indicated by income tax collections, was $302,170,672. Collector John J. Mitchell announced today. Miscellaneous taxes of $48,757,553 brought the total collections for the district to $350,928,233.

Federal prohibition caused the only loss to the national treasury from this district, the tax on distilled spirits and fermented liquors for the year ending June 30, dropping to $7,056,000, a decrease of $5,500,000 from the preceding total. Non-alcoholic beverages contributed two millions of dollars more than in 1919, with a total of $2,252,000. The manufacturers' excise tax jumped from $2,216,434 to $5,351,000, and the consumers' excise tax from $133,000 to $2,313,000.

Total collection in this district grew from $9,166,701 in 1914 to the $350,928,233 aggregate of the year just closed.

ROOSEVELT WILLING TO LET PEOPLE DECIDE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 14.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, replying at his home here today to the charge of Senator Harding that President Wilson had forced the democratic presidential and vice presidential nominees to accept his view that the league of nations should become the dominant campaign issue, declared he was "quite willing, as I know Governor Cox is, to let the American people decide whether they will join with civilization and humanity in this great step forward."

"The attempt by Senator Harding yesterday," he said, "to befog the true league of nations issue by dragging in the name of President Wilson, is merely further evidence of the historical fact that a certain type of senatorial mind cares more about squaring an ancient grudge against an individual than it does to consi-

YACHTS GETTING FINISHING TOUCHES

NEW YORK, July 14.—The Resolute and Shamrock IV contenders for the greatest of yachting trophies—the America's cup, were being given their finishing touches and the last of their trial spins today, in preparations of the first race tomorrow. Both craft appeared in fine trim.

It is expected tomorrow's test will be over a 30 mile windward and leeward course. The government weather bureau report indicated today that a light south wind will prevail.

SCOTTY PLAYS HIS 600TH CONTEST

BOSTON, July 14.—Everett Scott, crack shortstop of the Red Sox, today played his 600th consecutive game. He had recently passed all records for consecutive playing. The infielder started his unbroken participation in games of the Boston club on June 20, 1916, and in the time since has led the shortstops of the league for four years, in two of which he set new fielding records for the position. The first game of a double header with Detroit today was his 600th game.

Third Party May Scramble Presidential Election

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 14.—Here's a unique bit of dope that tastes uncommonly nice—a sort of conversational bonbon—to the tongues of some of the enthusiastic and optimistic delegates to the committee of forty-eight national convention:

A virile third party, big enough and strong enough to roll up sufficient votes next November to carry a number of states, might result in—

Throwing the presidential election into the house of representatives!

Plenty of people never thought of that. Whether remote or not, it's an eventuality.

Only twice in the history of the United States has such a thing happened. The house of representatives chose Jefferson as president in 1800 and John Quincy Adams in 1824.

Look up your constitution. It provides that in case no candidate receives a full majority of electoral votes—one more than half of the total—the house of representatives, voting by states, shall choose a president from the three leading contenders.

The Tilden-Hayes scrap in 1876 was not similar, this being decided by an electoral commission because it did not involve a tie vote or the absence of a majority. It was a question of the legality of 22 electoral votes from four states. All were awarded to Hayes, giving him 185 electoral votes to Tilden's 184.

"Looks as if the third party would carry a number of states," said a delegate to the Chicago convention, "so a final decision by the house of representatives might be necessary. It's different than in 1912. Then the progressive ticket took practically all its strength away from the republicans. This time, if the third party takes electoral votes from both republicans and democrats, none of the three may have a majority."

And here's another angle of such a hypothetical mix-up:

In a presidential election by the house of representatives, each state only has one collective vote. If a state's congressmen, in caucus, were tied and couldn't decide how to cast their one collective vote—that state's vote would be lost.

And if such a thing happened in the case of half the states—or enough so that one of the three leading contenders didn't get the votes of 25 states, a majority of the 48—then no president would be chosen! And the vice president would automatically become president!

LA FOLLETTE WILLING TO BE NOMINEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 14.—Senator La Follette sent a message to the new party convention last night expressing his willingness to head its presidential ticket, according to a statement made by the senator to a correspondent of the Milwaukee Sentinel. He intimated very strongly, however, that the platform must measure up to his wishes before he would give his unqualified consent to carry the party's standard, the statement said.

CENSUS RETURNS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The census bureau today announced the population of Superior, Wis., as 39,624, decrease 769, or 1.9 per cent.

TENTATIVE DRAFT OF PARTY'S PLATFORM

CHICAGO, July 14.—Two planks of the platform being drafted by the conference committee of the labor party and the committee of 48 still were in dispute when word was received that Senator La Follette objected to certain planks in the tentative draft.

Inclusion of the Plumb plan and declaration for government ownership of mines were said to be the points in dispute.

The unofficial version of the tentative draft which did not meet Senator La Follette's approval follows:

1—Repeal of all sedition and criminal anarchy statutes.

2—Amnesty for political prisoners jailed because of religious belief or industrial activity.

3—Recognition of the right of all workers, including government employees, to strike and stripping of the courts of powers seized in dealing with industrial disputes and injunctional proceedings.

4—Recognition of right of free speech, free press, free assemblage and the right of asylum.

5—Declaration against war except in case of invasion, without referendum vote.

6—Recognition of the Irish republic and the new government in Russia, and immediate lifting of trade restrictions with Russia.

7—Denial of military or financial aid to any foreign government invading Ireland or Russia.

8—Declaration for government ownership of utilities generally.

9—Discharge of national war debts and all obligations to soldiers, sailors and marines in the late war by means of a graduated capital tax levy, imposed especially on profiteers.

Other planks in the unofficial version favor the referendum and recall declaring that the United States should not aid in exploitation of weaker nations "for the benefit of many masters," refusal to go to war with Mexico "for the benefit of Wall street," and abandonment of America's "imperialistic platform with regard to Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam and Santo Domingo."

faction. In this stand, they have the support not only of La Follette but of several minority organizations subscribing to the political combination.

The first evidence of a possible breaking up of the new party movement followed last night's session when the single taxers withdrew adopted their own plank platform and nominated presidential candidates For president they chose Robert C Macauley of Philadelphia, and for vice president, they selected R. C. Barnum of Cleveland. They quit the new party. Jerome C. Reis, a single tax leader said, because it was not only apparent they could not obtain their platform desires and a candidate committed to them but also because they "could not stand the socialistic ideas" of the dominant labor group.

The birth of the new party yesterday after five days of conferences was attended by tumultuous scenes in which more than once the fledgling movement faced shipwreck on the rocks of jealousies and group antagonisms. In the very beginning, the labor party organization grabbed the rudder and steered the course until consideration of the platform resolutions was begun. Several planks had been read and approved when forty-eighters began to interpose strenuous objections to their delegation in the background.

There followed quickly demands for revision of the procedure by which the resolutions were being passed. Leaders of the 48 delegation insisted on a more prominent position in the proceedings. In an effort to placate the angry delegates, the labor leaders surrendered the chairmanship to Parley Christensen of Utah, who presided over the original 48 convention.

The concession failed utterly, however, to iron out the widely divergent views on platform planks. As a result, the fusion movement was again placed in practically the same position in which it had been during more than 50 hours of backing and pulling in conference committees.

Forty-eighters then played their trump card when they brought Senator La Follette's influence to bear and demanded platform concessions before their presidential candidate would consent to make the race. Questions of nationalization of essential industries and a plank dealing with foreign relations, were the principal stumbling blocks. La Follette's representatives held out strongly against inclusion of these planks as dictated by the labor party.

Two possibilities, therefore, stood out today: First, that for the sake of harmony the labor leaders may yield to the La Follette forces and permit changes in their platform drafts; second that they may remain steadfast in their determination and demand a candidate who can ride on their declaration of principles.

Leaders of both factions are eager to avert a breach, but yesterday's prolonged sessions showed plainly that their ability to control and direct the convention's actions has been strained to the breaking point. The slightest appeal to prejudice and passion, the leaders fear, would start a stampede that would undo all they had accomplished. So near was the stampede last night that Chairman Christensen, for nearly two hours, kept the delegates milling about redistributing their seats and wearing down their determination for immediate consideration of the platform, which, it was apparent, could not be had.

The delegates at last yielded in their desire for action, which would permit them to complete their work and go home, and voted to meet again today when the hope a platform can be adopted and candidate nominated.

WILL BOLSTER UP EAST'S COAL PREDICAMENT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Decision of the interstate commerce commission to extend for 30 days its order giving preferential distribution of open top cars to coal mines east of the Mississippi, was accepted today by mine operators generally as a step that would aid materially in solving the coal transportation problem. The decision which was announced late yesterday, came too late for consideration by the conference of operators who had held a two days' meeting here to discuss methods of relieving a threatened coal shortage in New England and the northwest this winter. Individually, however, the operators were well pleased.

In announcing extension of the original order which would have expired July 21, the commission advised Chairman Daniel Willard of the advisory committee of the association of railway executives of three amendments. The first provides that the roads must place an embargo against consignees failing to unload open top cars within 24 hours after delivery. The second provides that railroads may assign cars without regard to existing ratings for the mines so as to provide fuel for current use to public utilities and public institutions. The third defines what types are to be considered as coal cars.

The commission also suggested to Chairman Willard that the carriers prohibit more than one reconsignment of coal-laden cars. No action toward relieving the coal shortage in the northwest was taken by the commission, which stated that solution of this problem had been left to the conference in New York today of the operators and railway officials.

BOLIVIA'S POLICIES TO BE AMERICAN

BUENOS AIRES, July 13.—Dr. Jose Maria Escaller, chief of the republican party of Bolivia, which is reported to have overthrown the Guerra government told the Associated Press today that he planned to return to Bolivia within a week, having received dispatches that the revolution had been successful in three of the principal Bolivian cities, La Paz, Aruro and Potosi. Dr. Escaller, who was presidential candidate of his party in 1917, and opposed Jose Gutierrez Guerra, who has been ousted from control, has made his residence in this city for several years, but has made frequent trips to Bolivia, and was made chief of the republican party last November. The revolution in Bolivia, if successful, seems likely to change the complexion of South American international politics. It probably will upset the recent accord between Bolivia and Chile, relative to the former's aspirations for an outlet to the Pacific, and a new situation in the Tacna-Arica controversy may be created.

Dr. Escaller explained the status of affairs relative to an outlet for Bolivia by declaring that, while the Guerra government sought a pacific outlet through Arica, the title to which is in dispute between Chile and Peru, the republican party claimed the outlet should be through the Chilean port of Antofagasta. This was one of the ports that Bolivia lost to Chile in the war of 1880. He asserted the new government purposed to withdraw the claim for the Arica outlet which was presented to the League of Nations and present instead, claims for Antofagasta. He indicated Bolivia, which recently has been on the verge of hostilities with Peru, on account of the former's aspirations regarding Arica, now would draw closer to that country.

He said the Bolivian national policy would be American and that she would follow the lead of the United States regarding the League of Nations.

"While the army has apparently joined the revolution and imprisoned President Guerra and his cabinet," he said, "this is fundamentally a popular uprising for the restoration of the freedom of the press, fair elections and other liberties. It is not merely an army mutiny."

Confirmation of reports that the revolution has been successful has not been received by the Bolivian legation here.

This Proves That AR-ME-GAS CONQUERS RHEUMATISM

W. A. Varney, Dear Sir—

"For seven years I did not know a day that I was without pain. All my joints were afflicted; when I moved my head I could hear and feel grating like there was gravel or sand in my neck. My knees were so drawn up I was unable to straighten them. To sit down I would have to literally fall in a chair. The last doctor said I would never get rid of the disease as it was the worst form of rheumatism, Arthritis Deformans. I was in bed sixteen months.

After taking Var-ne-sis, the pain and stiffness became less noticeable. The chalky bunches of the fingers and knees disappeared, my hands straightened. I can now feed and dress myself, walk down stairs, sew a little, and do some housework."

What Var-ne-sis has done for others it can do for you. In liquid or tablet form at your druggist's. You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges." Write to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. It's free.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

SOMETHING HAPPENS

Will Woodpecker jumped when he heard the crackling underneath him, for Mrs. Woodpecker, you remember, had left him sitting on the eggs while she went shopping.

Tingaling and Nick and Nancy jumped, too, at the pop, pop, popping sounds, and, of course, all conversation about rent and money ceased at once.

In a moment or two came other sounds. This time it was "Peep, peep, peep, peep," they heard. Then everybody smiled, for the secret was out, I mean the eggs were out, or, rather, the new family was out at last!

Will slid off the nest in a hurry and stood looking proudly at his new children. "Well, well, well, what's all this?" he said fondly as the babies kept up their peeping and cheeping. A worried look came over his face. "My goodness, they haven't any clothes on," he said, "and I don't know where their mother keeps things. Besides, they look hungry and I don't know what to feed them. Dear, dear, dear, I do wish their ma would hurry back."

"Their ma!" exclaimed Tingaling and the twins. "Aren't you their ma?"

Then Will had to confess that he had fibbed and that Mrs. Woodpecker was out shopping—probably buying finery when she should be at home with her children. Also that she had taken the rent money along.

But just then Mrs. Woodpecker returned. She pushed past everybody and flew right right over the nest. "You darlings!" she cried, hugging the babies in turn. She was so happy she forgave everybody right away, and nobody was happier than Will.

Her basket? Oh, yes, you want to know of course. Nighties for the kiddies and some little fat grubs to feed them. And besides, there was enough money left to pay the rent, all except three cents which Tingaling said Will could make up in carpenter work.

WOMEN LIKE TO KEEP MEN GUESSING

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Woman likes to keep man guessing. The militant suffragist is no exception to this rule. Witness the latest demand of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, long an active battler for votes for women and chief financial backer of the woman suffrage campaigns.

"Don't vote," she tells the millions of women who already have won the ballot in their home states and the other millions who will get the vote as soon as another state ratifies the Anthony suffrage amendment.

Both republican and democratic leaders are shocked, grieved, dismayed. What can this mean? The women fight for the ballot, picket and placard and heckle political gatherings of every sort until they get the right to vote. And as soon as they get it—

"Don't vote," they are told by one of their own leaders. "Stand aside.

MRS. O.H.P. BELMONT

Keep away from the republican and democratic parties. Husband your power!"

"Isn't that just like women?" the exasperated politicians exclaim. "What they haven't got, they'll fight for to the last gasp. Then when they get it they don't want it. Can you beat it?"

There is, of course, another string to the recommendation of the suffrage leader, and that is that women should not cast their vote for either republican or democratic nominee, but should join hands with a third party in the organization and direction of which women will have a bigger share than is accorded them by either of the old parties.

Incidentally, it is remarked that Mrs. Belmont—whether she is aware of it or not—is to be proposed as the candidate for vice president on the third party ticket to be nominated at Chicago. Mere male politicians, old and hardened in the game, suggest that she's trying to steer feminine votes away from the old line parties in order that they may cast their ballots for her and the third party ticket instead.

One effect of Mrs. Belmont's appeal for women to keep out of the old line parties and to "husband their votes" may be to make more difficult the calling of special sessions of the legislature in Tennessee and in Vermont and New Hampshire for the final ratification of the suffrage amendment.

The only reason the old parties will move at all to complete ratification is because they think that by so doing they might win the votes of grateful suffragists.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

One of the most entertaining photoplays in which Alice Brady has ever appeared is "Sinners," which will be shown at the Strand for the last time today. As a picture it has retained the qualities of sentimental and emotional appeal which made it a Broadway triumph. It's a great story, artistically produced, and wonderfully well interpreted. See it. Then Frank Mayo, supported by an all-star cast in "The Girl in Number 29," is another superior picture, that has all of the satisfying elements of the better class of photoplays.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of Charles Ray in "Homer Comes Home" and Douglas MacLean and Doris May in "Let's Be Fashionable" will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening and tomorrow afternoon the usual mid-week change of program will take place.

Featuring the bill for the latter half of the week will be Bessie Barriscale in "The Notorious Mrs. Sands," and Lew Cody in "The Butterfly Man."

Miss Barriscale's latest screen vehicle is a drama dealing with modern society and many of the scenes are laid in the homes of the fashionably elite. One of the most noteworthy settings in the production shows the interior of an elaborately furnished mansion owned by Grey Sands, a wealthy bachelor. Here rare tapestries, beautiful oil paintings and furniture reminiscent of the days of the Italian renaissance and the Jacobean period were used.

Miss Barriscale as Mary Ware, is forced by her mother into a marriage with Sands despite her love for another. The complications which ensue go to make up one of the most interesting photo-dramas of the year. Miss Barriscale is supported by a cast including Forrest Stanley, well-known leading man, Dorothy Cumming, Harry Meyers and Ben Alexander.

In "The Butterfly Man," from the pen of George Barr McCutcheon, a satire on present-day social extravaganza, Mr. Cody is seen in the role of Sedgewick Blynn, a gay young blade with "butterfly" tendencies. He is supported by three leading ladies, Louise Lovely, Lilie Leslie and Rosemary Theby, who wear Parisian gowns the cost of which runs well up into the thousands.

A comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will round out the bill.

OWL THEATRE

Three times daily for the remainder of the week "Riders of the Dawn" will be presented at the Owl theatre, and the hours are, 3, 6 and 9 p. m. Right on the dot this thrilling picturization of Zane Grey's great novel, "The Desert of Wheat" will be shown. Today the Boy Scouts will be given their chance to see just what clean, healthy manhood, beset by many difficulties is. There's nothing namby-pamby about this picture. The love element is there, a pulsing stream that underlies all else. The presenting cast is wholly sufficient, with Roy Stewart in the leading role. Claire Adams is a most likable heroine, who, in the final scene engages in one of the best gun duels ever enacted in pictures. For an hour and 25 minutes this picture is on, and there are several others, ranging from comedy through news and to big, gripping scenes.

Linen Slip-on Dress is Trim and Practical

BY CORA MOORE,
New York's Fashion Authority.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The practicability of the "slip-on" dresses that have been in vogue this summer is appreciated most of all by the actress.

One of the Paramount players evolved this model.

It is of white near-linen and fastens with the two buttons and a snap on the waist, although it appears to be much more complicated. The waist is cut to hip-length and made in crossover effect. The skirt with the drapery across the back and sides is attached to the belt so that the whole thing can be slipped on together and fastened up trig and trim in next to no time at all.

Furthermore, the frock launders easily. The near-linen itself, like linen, improves with every contact with water and the drapery can be let out straight for pressing, then caught to the skirt either with snaps or a few stitches.

TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Gallivan Refutes Statement Relative to Jails

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 14.—Positive refutation of the oft-repeated assertion that jails are breeding places for tuberculosis is found in a report submitted to Sanford Bates, commissioner of correction, by Dr. William J. Gallivan, director of the division of tuberculosis in the state department of public health.

Dr. Gallivan found only seven active cases of the disease in all of the 1551 prisoners who were housed in the various jails of the commonwealth at the time of his examination. The survey was begun last March, and has only just been completed.

The results of the examination, Dr. Gallivan said today, compare very favorably with similar studies that have been made of the public at large.

"While it is impossible to ascertain with any degree of accuracy the percentage of the entire population who have become victims of consumption," he said, "it is generally accepted by the medical profession that there are ten active cases of the disease for every death resulting from it. From the last available figures it appears that 110,000 persons die annually in the United States from tuberculosis. This would indicate that 1,110,000 persons, or one and one-tenth of the population, are suffering with the disease. This percentage is more than double that of the prisoners found with the malady.

"The results indicate a vast improvement in jail conditions in this state, for as late as 1907 Dr. Lawrason Brown, a noted authority on tuberculosis, wrote: 'Forty per cent of the deaths in prisons are due to tuberculosis and a 10-year sentence is equivalent to a death sentence, so unhealthful are the conditions prevailing in jails.'"

In addition to the seven active cases found, the examining physician discovered 31 men whose health is such that they should be under observation. These were not even "incipient" cases, but were merely men whose physical condition is such that they would be easy victims for the disease if it were to attack them.

Not one active case was found in the two institutions under exclusive state control,—the state prison and the reformatory at Concord, although these have a combined population of 925, or three-fifths of the total prison population of the state. Twenty-two men each who should be under observation were reported from the state prison, and none from Concord.

The seven active cases were found in county jails as follows: New Bedford, 2; Plymouth, Barnstable, Lawrence, Worcester and Deer Island, 1 HOYT.

Scores Injured in Outbreak

FIELD MARSHALS MEET AT CONFERENCE

SPA, Belgium, July 14.—Field Marshal Wilson of Great Britain, who was summoned here yesterday by the supreme allied council, after the German delegates engaged in the conference in this city, had rejected the allied solution of the coal delivery problem, is expected to arrive here tonight. He is expected to immediately confer with Marshal Foch of France, who also was summoned by the council, and with the allied premiers.

Marshal Foch and General Weygand, his assistant, arrived here from Paris at 8:30 o'clock this morning, and with the entire French delegation, called on Premier Millerand to present their respects on the occasion of the French national holiday. Later the delegates held a consultation before going to the conference.

Konstantin Fehrenbach, German chancellor and head of Germany's delegation here and Dr. Simons, German foreign minister, suggested to the allied governments that they send a commission composed of ministers and experts to Essen, to meet working men and their representatives for the purpose of talking over the urgency of increasing coal production. This proposal was made yesterday afternoon, but the premiers have not yet replied.

Dr. Simons explained to them his idea was this could be done immediately and the work of the commission be completed quickly, not taking more than three or four days. The allied ministers do not appear disposed to enter into direct negotiations with the German mining unions.

While the allied delegates were engaged in a conference this morning at the villa Fraineuse, the secretary of foreign Minister Simons called at the villa and had a short talk with Sir Philip Kerr, the secretary to Premier Lloyd George, regarding a conference this afternoon between Dr. Simons and the British premier.

BIG HANDICAP FOR SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S BOAT

NEW YORK, July 14.—The Shamrock IV's one chance to defeat Resolute in the America cup races, which begin Thursday off Sandy Hook, is to sail out by her lonesome, it would appear.

While the measurements of the two yachts will not be computed into their ratings until today and the exact time allowance the Shamrock must give will not be known before this is done, it is certain that the challenger will have to concede a handicap of at least six minutes. It would not be surprising, from some measurements that are known, if the allowance is more than that.

It means over the 30-mile course that the Shamrock must outsail the Resolute more than 12 seconds a mile to win. That is a big handicap. If the Shamrock races with the Resolute, she will have no chances whatever. She must go out in front and finish at least six minutes ahead.

For this reason the natural thing for Charles Francis Adams, the Resolute's skipper, to do will be to hang on to Shamrock, if he can, and not let her get out away from him where she might find a better breeze. Thus, if the Resolute is fast enough, one is apt to see the yachts nip and tuck most of the time.

William P. Burton, on the Shamrock, is known to be planning to rush out in front, if the challenger has it in her, and to sail his race regardless of where the Resolute is or what she does.

The Resolute's ability is pretty well known; the Shamrock's is not. The Resolute was thoroughly tried out in all points of sailing in her races with the Vanitie, her defending rival, while the Shamrock has had only a few brushes off Sandy Hook.

There is no way of comparing the speed of these two yachts or any other two of approximately equal size until they have met.

LOWELL MAN'S BODY FOUND IN WOODS

The body of the man found yesterday afternoon in Chelmsford on the side of the Littleton road was identified this morning as Edward Flynn of this city, by his son, William J. Flynn of 43 Hampstead street. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. James Gallagher of Lowell and Mrs. Arthur Davidson of Abington, Mass., and one son, William J. Flynn. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Mr. Flynn was a stationary engineer and was employed by the Bay State mills up to about one year and a half ago. Later he was employed by the United States Cartridge company. He left home a week ago today to work in a suspender factory in Littleton.

His son, wanting to make sure that his father had reached his destination, telephoned to Littleton and upon learning that he had not reached there, instigated a search, but failed to locate him and upon learning of the body being found in the woods off the Littleton road he made arrangements to view it as quickly as possible and identified it as that of his father.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE ALUMNI

A largely attended meeting of the members of St. Joseph's college alumni was held last evening in the college hall, with President Tancrede L. Blanchette in the chair. Plans for a campaign for the raising of funds for the erection of a parish hall in St. Joseph's parish, in the fall, were discussed and arrangements were made for the annual outing of the association, which will be held August 12, at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro. A feature of the meeting was the nomination of officers, the following being chosen without opposition: Arthur Gaudette, president; J. A. N. Chretien, vice president; Arthur H. Giroux, secretary, and Ernest L'Heureux, treasurer. Ten members were nominated for the positions of directors. The election will be held on the afternoon of August 12, at the outing.

REWARD FOR RETURN OF HIS SECURITIES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 14.—George F. Hudson, a stock broker of Bloomfield, N. J., who yesterday lost $150,000 worth of negotiable securities from his automobile somewhere near Norwalk, offers a reward to the person recovering the fortune.

Mr. Hudson had placed the securities in a wallet on the seat beside him in the car a short way from Norwalk. He noticed that the door of the automobile had swung open and the wallet was missing. Mr. Hudson turned back and met another car and questioned the occupants. They told him that they had seen an automobile which contained three Italians stop and pick up something on the highway.

Mr. Hudson overtook three Italians who told him that they had picked up the wallet and placed it on a stump beside the road. He went back but was unable to find any trace of the lost securities. He then notified both the city and state police.

LONGER TERMS FOR BARNEY AND WARD

BOSTON, July 14.—Additional sentences of from three to five years were imposed today upon Herman L. Barney and Charles Ward, state prison convicts, for their escape on May 26. Jacob L. Dintzner, a trusty, who assisted them but failed of escape himself when a rope broke, was given the same extra sentence.

Counsel for Barney told the court that the convict, who is serving a term of 20 years for killing a police officer, surrendered and went back to prison at the request of his mother, who found out where he was hiding and got into communication with him.

Washing Won't Rid Head Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Adv.

WILL DISCUSS LEAGUE WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Wilson will meet Gov. James M. Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic presidential and vice-presidential nominees, Sunday for the first time since they were chosen at San Francisco.

The conference will be held at the White House to discuss plans for a vigorous campaign. It was arranged yesterday by Gov. Cox, who called the White House on the telephone from Columbus to ascertain what day within the next week would be most suitable for a meeting. The message was conveyed to the president and the answer went forward speedily that he would be delighted to see the governor and Mr. Roosevelt Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

While it was stated that the president had no particular choice as to the date, it was explained he considered Sunday more suitable as it would enable the governor to come here and return home in time to keep engagements with party leaders on Monday.

Party leaders declared yesterday there was no foundation for statements that the president and Gov. Cox were "far apart" on the league of nations. They said it was but natural that the governor should desire to exchange views with the president on this and many other questions before beginning work on his speech of acceptance.

While the president plans to remain in Washington all summer, his friends say that he can be depended upon to lend his influence to Gov. Cox's campaign in statements and letters. The president has obtained much first-hand information as to the preliminary campaign fight from men on whom he often has relied and has devoted much time daily to newspaper reading.

HEAVY LOSS CAUSED BY SLOW TRANSIT

BOSTON, July 14.—Sixty thousand pounds of string beans, tomatoes and carrots, condemned at local railroad yards by city health department division of food inspection agents, are now reposing harmlessly on the bottom of the sea.

Deputy Health Commissioner Patrick H. Mulkerney announced the seizures late yesterday afternoon, when the last of them had been loaded aboard scows for the trip down the bay.

The vegetables were consigned to various Boston firms from southern and western points in refrigerator cars. The unusual delays incident to traffic congestion in the past fortnight are primarily responsible for the condition of the vegetables on their arrival, the ice having melted three or four days before.

BOLSHEVIKI MAKE FURTHER ADVANCES

LONDON, July 14.—Further advances by the Bolsheviki in their campaign against the Poles are reported in Tuesday's official communique, received by wireless from Moscow today. The statement reads:

"In the direction of Kovel, we crossed the River Goryn, 20 miles southwest of Sarny and are developing our advance. Fierce fighting is proceeding in our favor.

"In the direction of Lida we have occupied the railway station at Prudy and Polotchany and Ushatochka.

"In the direction of Baranovitchi, we have driven the enemy from his position on the River Svislotch and occupied Mikhanovitch and Stazons.

"Our advance along the entire front is continuing to develop successfully."

Try the Bitro-Phosphate Health System—$300 Guarantee

NEW YORK—If you are feeling run-down, weak, nervous, tired-in-the-morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorus in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people; or those who are anaemic, pale, frail, oft despondent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constitution.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation, now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine; the formula is prescribed by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

With every box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE, are a few simple health rules and a $300 guarantee. Buy a box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold and recommended by A. W. Dows and all good druggists everywhere.—Adv.

SINN FEIN REFUSED TO RESENT INSULTS

The following despatch from the New York World explains why peace reigned at Belfast, Ireland, during Monday's celebration:

BELFAST, July 13.—The Sinn Fein fooled the Orangemen on their annual demonstration by avoiding a conflict. The turnout was a big one. It was swelled by Orangemen from Londonderry who were forbidden to demonstrate there.

For two hours the Orange speakers indulged in such violent bigotry that even Sir Edward Carson winced. The Protestant clergymen were conspicuously intemperate in their language against the southern Irishmen.

Provocative arches were erected on the edge of the Catholic districts calling the Sinn Feiners murderers, but those were untouched as the word went out that there should be no conflicts.

The fanatical Orangemen, beating their drums with canes until blood ran from their fists, were unable to provoke the Sinn Feiners. The military defense of the roads with sandbag forts showed only what the government feared. The Sinn Fein cleverly maintained the attitude that all Irishmen are brothers, and ignored insults.

And gave Chicago one big thrill
With their famed slogan—"Hello Bill!"

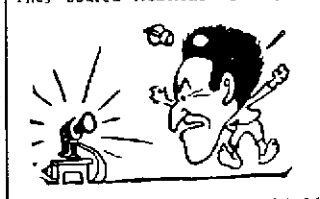
They poured libations of frappe.



One morn this week the Spanish king,
Awakened by the phone bell's ring,
At four a. m. with wrath did shake
To hear: "We rank you by mistake."
That's why the government, by nine,
Had taken charge of every line.

"It is not well," remarked Tod Sloan,
"I'm told for man to live alone.
"It also is a long time since

Lawyer for Dr. Keown, Apprehended Here, Warned by District Judge

BOSTON, July 13.—Judge George W. Anderson of the United States district court, in yesterday's hearings on petitions brought by Dr. James A. Keown of Lynn, for writs of habeas corpus and mandamus, warned Atty. E. C. Holden, Jr., counsel, to have indisputable facts in his possession if he intended to bring into the federal court charges against the integrity of the state courts.

Atty. Holden opened his case by reading charges by Keown that the state courts were prejudiced against him and that it was impossible to get justice in the state courts.

It was at this point that Judge Anderson broke in with his warning. He said:

"You ask me to impeach the integrity of the judiciary of Massachusetts. Do you really expect me to do that? You are a young man before the bar, and, as an old man before the bar I would advise you that you are making pretty serious and very reckless statements. Before you come here and charge that the state courts are prejudiced you had better be sure of your law and your facts."

Dr. Keown was fairly recently committed to the state hospital for the insane at Danvers following a verbal attack upon Judge Callahan of the superior court. He made an escape from the hospital but was re-captured in Lowell less than 24 hours later after an automobile pursuit race through the downtown streets. He now claims that all judges in Massachusetts are prejudiced against him.

Phelactine, New Wonder Worker for Hair Growths
(Causes Even the Roots to Come Out)

By an entirely new and perfectly harmless method, any woman afflicted with a growth of superfluous hair can now remove the disfigurement completely—roots included—in just a few seconds. Isn't that glorious news?

The recently discovered phelactine process is altogether different from electrical, depilatory and other methods heretofore employed for the purpose. It is the only thing that enables one to remove roots and all in one's own home without expert assistance. The result cannot be doubted, for the user sees the hair-roots with her own eyes. A stick of phelactine, with simple instructions, can be procured at any drug store. It is odorless, non-irritating, non-poisonous (a child could eat it without injury). The method is so thorough that the skin is left perfectly smooth and hairless, bearing not the least evidence of its former blemish.—Adv.

THE MYSTERY SPOT OF THE WORLD

The most mysterious spot in the world today! That describes eastern Europe—Soviet Russia and the border states. A great war is raging between the Poles and the Bolsheviks along the whole eastern boundary of Poland.

The Sun has Jimmy Hare, the world's most famous press photographer, on this front, and his pictures, hot from the front line, are appearing exclusively in this newspaper.

Staff Correspondent J. Herbert Duckorth has penetrated into the heart of the Bolshevik "Land of Silence" and is writing the truth about Red Russia. Duckworth went across Esthonia from Reval; with a peasant girl guide, he crawled under the barbed wire frontier by night and went first to Pskov. From there he went all over the heart of Soviet Land, visiting Moscow, Petrograd, Novgorod, Tver and the country districts. His stories are now appearing in The Sun.

TIPS FOR CANNING WITHOUT SUGAR

BY SISTER MARY

The department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin urging housekeepers to can all the fruit possible—without sugar if necessary.

Canning without sugar is practical in the case of certain fruits, but the woman who attempts it in the ordinary home kitchen, with the usual domestic equipment, must keep the following facts in mind if she would do so successfully:

REMEMBER

Sugar is a preservative.

In eliminating sugar you eliminate about 50 per cent. of your surety of success.

CONSEQUENTLY

To can successfully without sugar you must select perfect fruit.

You must have perfectly sterilized cans.

AND

Choosing Your Fruit

Utmost care must be taken in the selection of fruit to be canned in this way. Beware of over-ripeness. Bacteria breed quickly and at the first indication of "specking" or softening it is unsafe to attempt preserving by this method. Every woman has "put up," in the old days, fruit that was just on the borderland of being too ripe for use. We made our "butters," jams, et cetera, of this class of produce, and with success. But we used plenty of sugar at 4 cents a pound. We cannot afford to use sugar at 30 cents a pound with the old lavishness even if we could secure it. So don't run risks with other than perfect fruit.

Test Your Jars

If you use the old-fashioned jar, which is still the standby of most housewives, be absolutely secure that the grooves for the screw top are perfect; mate your jars and lids before the rubbers are adjusted so that you are sure the lids will screw down straight and quickly. All of us have had the experience of a screw top lid going on slightly crooked, though apparently tight. Don't take chances of this sort in sugarless canning. Also don't forget that the time and trouble taken in this matching up of your jars and lids will add to the speed of sealing, and speed in sealing each jar is a requisite in sugarless canning.

Also be sure that the lids themselves are perfect. Most screw top lids—all, in fact, that are worth using—have an inner cap of white glass. This cap must be perfectly tight. Test each one with your fingers, and if it shows the slightest degree of looseness, discard the lid. There is air under the loosened cap, and no way on earth—that I ever heard of—to get it out. And last, but not least, don't try to use old rubbers (beware of that economical trick of putting two old rubbers on a can instead of one new one) and inspect each carefully, discarding any that indicate the possibility of pin bubbles in the rubber.

Actual Process

Here are the musts:

The fruit must be boiling hot.

Cans, lids and rubbers must be sterilized.

Here is how I do it:

I can only one jar at a time. Place the empty can in hot water deep enough to reach within an inch and a half of the top of the can. The rubber has already been put in place. Next, fill the can with the boiling fruit, using a can funnel so there is no danger of spilling any on the outside of the can and getting the rubber wet. When the can is filled to within about a quarter of an inch of the top, remove the funnel and carefully finish filling the can with a spoon. Next, screw the lid down as tight as you can without lifting the jar out of the hot water. When you have done this, lift out the jar lifter, (don't pick it up by the partially tightened top) protect your hands with towels, and twist the top down as tightly as possible. Allow the jars to stand upright until cool enough to handle with the bare hands, then stand on their heads in some place where they may remain without having to be moved for 24 hours.

Inspect each jar before storing in the fruit closet. If any show bubbles, open and recan. There will be a slight unfilled space in the jar due to the contraction of the contents during the process of cooling.

Easiest Canned

Semi-tart berries that grow on bushes (strawberries are not in this class) are the easiest fruits to can without sugar. I always put up a good many elderberries, huckleberries and blueberries for pies and puddings. I never put sugar in these at the time of canning, and I have never lost a jar. Of course, I do not attempt to serve this type of fruit as a sauce, and consequently it is always re-cooked with sugar, thus bringing out the flavor. Blackberries, raspberries and grapes to be used for pies and puddings can be put up in this way, too, also gooseberries and currants.

Light Syrups

Cherries come under the class of fruits discussed above. They can be canned with a fair degree of safety without sugar, and can be made palatable at the time of using by the addition of the sweet then, but most of the larger fruits cannot be put up with any great degree of success without at least a light sirup.

Besides the preservative value of sugar, in the case of peaches, plums pears and quinces, it must be remembered that it takes much less sugar to adequately sweeten cooked fruit in its first heated condition than after it has cooled. Also fruit canned in sugar—even a very light sirup—has the advantage of standing in the sirup and thoroughly absorbing all the sweetness.

A "light sirup" is made in the proportion of one cup of sugar to a quart of fruit.

There is no trick or mystery about canning. Luck has nothing to do with it. The process is perfectly simple and definite. Accuracy and care assure success.

THE JELLYFISH IS MINUS BACKBONE

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Consider the jellyfish. When the tide is going out, the jellyfish drifts out. When the tide comes in, the jellyfish drifts in. It is a slimy, spineless thing ever floating about, despised by all creatures.

Behold the salmon. It travels the mountain streams for thousands of miles. It drives against the current, shooting clear of the water to leap a cataract. It is a thing of life and vigor—a game fish that tests the mettle of a man.

The difference is that the jellyfish is spineless and inactive; while the salmon has a backbone and uses it.

Just so with folks. They divide themselves into two great classes—those who act and those who drift.

Don't be a jellyfish. Get action! Even if you make mistakes, it is much better for you to try and fail than not to try at all.

REDS SHOT 200 SENT ON ARK

Startling Statement Made by Emma Goldman to Mrs. Philip Snowden

Anarchist Who Raised Ructions Here Fares Very Poorly in Russia

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, N.E.A.

LONDON, July 14.—Emma Goldman is authority for the statement that 200 "radicals," deported by the United States on the "Red Ark" Buford, have been shot by the Bolshevists.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, member of the British labor party delegation to Russia to investigate Bolshevism, who has just returned to England, saw Miss Goldman in Petrograd. It was there, Mrs. Snowden states, that Miss Goldman told her of the shooting of the deportees.

Emma Goldman is sick of Russia and disgusted with Bolshevism, according to the British labor party investigator, and she signed herself in Mrs. Snowden's notebook: "A political refugee from America in Russia and afraid to talk fully, fearing spies."

Confirms Duckworth

Mrs. Snowden says she doesn't know how Miss Goldman manages to earn her bread.

"Bolshevism has brought to the common man hunger, cold and terror," says Mrs. Snowden, fully corroborating the statements of J. Herbert Duckworth, whose revelations of Russian conditions in The Lowell Sun, made after an independent investigation, are startling America.

"I am a socialist; a democrat and a Christian," says Mrs. Snowden, "and I am opposed now to Bolshevism because it is neither socialistic, democratic nor Christian.

"The so-called 'dictatorship of the proletariat,' means dictatorship by the communist party," says Mrs. Snowden. "Six hundred thousand members of the communist party are dictated to by six leaders and the extraordinary commission to suppress the counter-revolution," says Mrs. Snowden.

Free Speech Throttled

She found utter intolerance of free speech and free press.

"Newspapers are not permitted to print news other than Bolshevistic," she said.

"Persons who do not believe in Bolshevism are denounced as counter-revolutionists. The leaders lie to the people, claiming the revolution is shortly to come to America and England."

Bolshevism, Mrs. Snowden believes, has been aided by the Polish war. "The people have united to repel invasion, several days.

If left alone by outside forces, she thinks Russian Bolshevism will purge itself, ceasing then to be Bolshevism as it is now known.

A timekeeper named Divers joked Brady about it, and Brady resenting the jest, when another girl told him that Divers had found fault with her work and "made her cry," got his associates to join with him in demanding Divers' discharge. The Norfolk & Western railway refused to discharge the timekeeper and as a result 10,000 railroad employes were on strike for

Will your brakes hold every time?

One failure may be disastrous

WILL your brakes hold in every emergency? That is the one test. Nine hundred and ninety-nine successful stops count for nothing if your brakes fail on the thousandth one.

Throughout this district there are countless hills which demand that your brakes be 100% efficient. Don't wait for an emergency on one of these hills to show the condition of your brakes. Safety demands this.

Brake inspection movement a splendid success

The aim of the Brake Inspection Movement is to persuade every motorist to have his brakes inspected before the touring season opens. State authorities have found that approximately 62% of the accidents traceable to brakes can be avoided.

Have your brakes inspected to-day

If they are in perfect condition the knowledge will increase your pleasure. If they need attention you want to know it for the sake of your car and its occupants.

If your brakes do need relining, go to a Thermoid dealer. He will equip your car with Thermoid because he knows it will give you the greatest satisfaction and the longest service.

Why Thermoid wears longest

To make Thermoid Hydraulic Compressed Brake Lining, it requires over 40% more material and 60% more labor than to make the highest grade of woven lining.

Thermoid Brake Lining is Grapnalized, an exclusive process which resists oil, gasoline and moisture.

Two thousand pounds of hydraulic pressure on each square inch make Thermoid Brake Lining uniform all the way through.

Have your brakes inspected to-day. It means greater safety.

STOP COAL EXPORT

With Lowell as with many other New England cities, the great question that disturbs the public mind is whether a sufficient supply of coal can be secured to keep the factories running.

At present, as already set forth in The Sun, the supply is very low and no relief is in sight. The Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the municipal council and the local coal dealers, has made one appeal after another for coal; but without result. Only mere driblets are obtainable with the result that the short supply on hand is getting so low as to threaten a shut-down of several factories in the near future.

In the midst of this menacing situation, Mr. Storrow, the fuel administrator, informs a conference at Boston, that there is plenty of coal at the mines and that it is being shipped to Norfolk, Va., in sufficient quantity to supply New England but from that point, it is being loaded on vessels to be shipped abroad.

How long is the government going to tolerate this state of affairs? Is this done with the government's sanction as well as its known connivance?

Why not arraign the exporters of this coal as profiteers who, for the increased price offered, are willing to menace the people and the industries not only of New England, but other parts of the United States? Where now is the Department of Justice that it tolerates this outrage?

Where is the Interstate Commerce Commission which we understand has the authority to issue orders that will relieve the situation. Where is President Wilson whose duty it is to protect the people against such imposition as results from the export of coal that is urgently needed here at home to sustain life and keep the wheels of the essential industries moving?

Should it come to the point that a situation would arise paralleling that under Fuel Commissioner Garfield during the war, it would sound the death knell of the democratic administration and the campaign of Cox and Roosevelt would be utterly hopeless.

This is a radical statement, some will say, but it is justified by the present coal situation. There is nothing to be gained by mincing words in an emergency of this kind. If the authorities at Washington do not wake up to the gravity of the coal situation and the extent of the robbery perpetrated by the export of coal, the citizens may be obliged to adopt summary methods to prevent a continuance of the abuse.

Perhaps it will be necessary for the citizens to hold indignation meetings in order to voice their views on the present outrageous disregard of the rights, the interests, the safety or even the lives of the people, as shown in the continued export of coal while both public utilities and essential private industries are threatened with suspension for lack of fuel.

This is a matter that concerns all the people. The mills of Lowell have to pay nearly twice as much for coal as formerly and have difficulty in getting enough to keep running, at any price. To allow the situation to become any worse than at present would be to invite a calamity.

The mayor of Boston has raised the alarm. When Boston hollers for coal, it is certain that Lowell is also in a serious plight. Much coal that was held up en route to Lowell has been commandeered by the Boston and Maine and other railroads. The shortage of cars is blamed, but in reality the one great cause why it is almost impossible to get a supply of coal for industrial uses is, that most of the coal mined is being shipped out of the country.

The demand of the moment is to stop it and stop it without further delay. Unless the export of coal be stopped within 24 hours, it will be the duty of the mayor of every city in New England to call a delegation meeting of citizens to demand that it be stopped forthwith and call upon the government to authorize measures to protect the people against the calamity of a forced suspension of industries.

GOV. CLEMENT'S VIEW

Whether unconsciously or otherwise, Governor Clement of Vermont has raised an important question in refusing to call a special session of the legislature to consider the ratification of the woman suffrage or 19th amendment to the constitution. He points out that in a recent decision the supreme court of the United States has ruled that a vote of the people of any state can have no effect in the ratification of a constitutional amendment. That decision places the entire responsibility for such amendments in the hands of the state legislatures.

Governor Clement very pertinently points out that the present legislature of Vermont was chosen without any reference to woman suffrage and hence without any instruction from the people on that particular question. He does not think it would be fair to the legislature or to the people of the state, to put the question of ratification before the legislature in such a peremptory manner as the special session suggested would involve.

He suggests that there should be an amendment of the federal constitution providing that amendments thereto, shall be submitted to a referendum of the people in the various states, in order to prevent the possible evils arising from the work of strong organized lobbies pushing amendments through congress and then through a sufficient number of state legislatures to secure ratification.

Governor Clement may be criticized as an enemy of woman suffrage; but there is much solid sense in what he says in reference to the power of ratification by the legislature. It is always well to allow the people to pass upon such important questions, if only for the purpose of informing the legislature upon popular opinion; and Governor Clement plays a shrewd political game in his own behalf in showing this deference to the will of the people.

THE THIRD PARTY

Republicans, who have been praying loud and long that the third party gathering at Chicago would develop into a movement to endanger democratic success at the polls in November, will have to change the tenor of their petition and keep on offering it awhile longer. There is not the slightest indication that the assemblage of political bedlamites who are cogitating and harranguing in the city by the lakeside, have anything in common with men and women of ordinary common sense. How many of this particular kind of economic and social malcontents there are in the country, no one pretends to know, but it is an insult to the name of American to think that there are more than a very few of them.

When we read of some of the reform proposals that have been advanced at the Chicago gathering, we find it difficult to believe that they have not been offered in humorous vein for the purpose of tickling a people sobered by hot weather, high cost of living and the congressional probe into campaign expenditures. There is nothing humorous, though, about the thunderous applause that is said to have greeted the remark of one speaker expressing the hope that "the working people of the United States would get together and do a job such as the workers of Russia have done." Perhaps it is just as well, however, to laugh at that also as the real workers of this country have no aspirations to embark upon a campaign of horror.

Sir Edward Carson is resuming his dictatorial attitude in Ulster, somewhat after the style of his threats in 1914. Carson is responsible for all the trouble that has occurred in Ireland during the past six years so far as that has been characterized by injustice on the part of the government and resistance by the people. The Irish people are certainly gifted with great patience in tolerating so much of Carson's audacity.

The municipal council has done the right thing in voting to make an addition to the Vocational school building on Broadway. Even if the school should be moved to Kirk street after the new high school shall have been finished, the building in Broadway would be a marketable asset. It would be an ideal location for a manufacturing plant, such as a machine shop or an automobile repair shop.

Perhaps now that 20,000 pounds sterling has been given to the University of Oxford to establish a chair of American history a few Englishmen may learn that John Hancock, and some of the other early patriots who helped to bring about the revolution were not, as a distinguished British historian has asserted, "smugglers whose illicit trade had been interfered with by the mother country."

"Senator Harding has gone into seclusion while preparing his speech accepting the republican presidential nomination." We should think a secluded place, with slow dirge music and drapery hangings of crepe, would be appropriate for his meditations on the Chicago platform.

One would feel a keener sympathy for Prince Henry of Prussia, who is reported to have been kicked and cuffed about and compelled to run the gauntlet by the Schleswig-Holsteiners, if the memory did not intrude of some of the things that were done by Hohenzollern soldiers in Belgium.

It is announced that the Murray Hill hotel in New York, a house of some sumptuousness in its day, is to be torn down to make a place for a new 3000-room hostelry. Another blow for the prophets who would have ushered in the day of doom for the hotel business with the dawn of prohibition.

It may be well to recall for the benefit of the present generation that Lowell has a special interest in the America's cup that Sir Thomas Lipton hopes to lift. It was a Lowell man—Gen. Benjamin F. Butler—and his yacht that first brought the piece of coveted silverware across the ocean.

If the administration at Washington allows the coal situation to become more serious, it will thereby help to give strength and vitality to the third party movement in Chicago. It is time the authorities awoke to the menacing character of the present coal situation.

It is gratifying to find that in spite of every difficulty, the mills of Lowell are running almost on full time with their usual quota of employes. The woolen mills alone are affected by market conditions that make their continued activity unprofitable.

The department of agriculture announces that prices for farmers' products decreased 1.7 per cent during June, and then proceeds to take all the starch out of its good news by stating that they are still 37 per cent higher than they were two years ago.

Vice Presidential Candidate Roosevelt says that the democrats are not to consider any state hopeless, but that the campaign fight will be carried on in every one of the states of the union. We need a little more of that spirit in Massachusetts.

If the ears of that federal official who spread broadcast the statement that half of the factories of Lowell were closed, haven't burned any lately it hasn't been for want of pointed comment by local mill men on his absurd announcement.

That seems to be a legitimate complaint of the men at the police station that, if the law compels them to furnish quarters for two or three weeks for stray dogs, the law should also provide the funds to pay for feeding them.

England, selling supplies to the Russian Bolsheviki and arms to the Poles to fight them with, seems to be in a position to get the best of the bargain at both ends and in the middle.

Lowell's younger sister, Miss Lawrence, down the river, is to spend $40,000 on a new playground. Lowell would be tickled if it could spend $4000 on the few playgrounds it already has.

Hurry up gentlemen of the park commission and rope off those streets for playgrounds—if the children are to use them they would like to begin while the summer is still here.

The word pictures that a Boston paper is presenting of Calvin Coolidge as a Vermont Denman Thompson ought to help make him solid with the farmer vote.

Give one thought to La Belle France today—it's a sort of national birthday over there—Bastile day.

SEEN AND HEARD

"No man can climb beyond the limitations of his own character."

Hoot mon rises from a bed of pain to remark that there still continues to be much dry comment by humorists on the wet subject.

Well, anyway, 'twere better for the returning conventionists to meet a bear than a laughing snake or a pink elephant.

If the prohibitionists could prevail upon bootleggers to drink some of their own brand they would soon be rid of bootleggers.

When Villa quits banditing, and Bill Bryan conventioning, the spiritualists may then see the spirit of a murderer and the murderer of spirits.

Humorous Breaks

Nowhere, perhaps, is to be found more unconscious humor than in the English penny-a-liners. Now in England, as among us, the journalist of a certain type depends upon verbosity to fill his column, and upon ponderous diction to afford it color. With him terseness is a literary crime. A bad fire is always a "terrific conflagration," a fight is a "desperate struggle," and fire and water respectively become "the devouring element" and "the watery grave."

But occasionally he produces a real gem of unconscious humor. The report of the murder of a man named Duncan once contained this amazing statement:

"The murderer was evidently in quest of money, but unluckily Mr. Duncan had deposited all his funds in the bank the day before, so that he lost nothing but his life."

Another wrote, in reference to a street accident:

"The unfortunate victim was taken to Guy's hospital where he now lies progressive favorably, although he is sedulously attended by the resident surgeon and some of the leading members of the medical staff."

A Glasgow paper contained this equivocal statement concerning a shipwreck:

"The captain swam ashore, and succeeded in also saving the life of his wife. She was insured in the Northern Marine Insurance company, and carried a cargo of cement."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

For Mr. Knocker

Mr. Knocker, where do you come in? queries Dr. James I. Vance. You have great kicking powers, but can you pull? You are strong at the brakes, but did you ever stretch the traces? You can raise objections, but did you ever put on anything that meant progress? You can defame and discourage the men who are trying to do something, but what single thing have you ever done to help your town up and out? You are wise, wonderfully wise. You know exactly how everything should be done. You have a mind that takes hold—not to speak of a tongue that bites. You have a wisdom that is seldom matched, never missed. One wonders why you have been overlooked. Such a boon reconstructor and regulator of human affairs should be elected by acclamation. It is a sight for gods and men when you get into action. Socrates and Methusaleh, from their caves in the land of shades, look on with envy as you dispense wisdom, but you never get beyond verbal pyrotechnics. Why don't you take hold and do something? Break into sweat. Bend your back to some burden. Stretch your muscles over some task. Empty your pocketbook to some good cause. Or at least join the crowd and help cheer some fellow who is doing all this. Not you. Not on your life! You were built for repose and advice. There you sit on your perch of self-esteem, dispensing criticism. It is an easy role to play. No one conducts so large a business on so small a capital as the critic. Brains thin by nature and exhausted by cultivation many still gain great notoriety by affecting criticism. But you are not really needed. A little of you goes a long ways. The people would be willing to vote you a vacation. They would let you go off on full pay, and, should you forget to come back, there would be no crape. There is a verse which says: "If a man thinketh himself to be something when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself." There is food for thought in that Scripture. Quit knocking, dear patriot. Abate your critical instincts. It is negations but positions that we need. Throw away your hammer and get a hoe!

The Lightning Bug

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

Consider the lightning-bug, my son,
Who isn't famed for a brilliant mind,
But who wins attention from every one
Because of the light that he sheds behind.

He brings us light and he brings no heat,
And that, of itself, is a wondrous feat.
A coup-de-something one rarely sees
On the part of political nominees,
For their procedure is different, quite;
They bring us heat, but they bring no light.

So consider the lightning-bug, my son,
Who sets an example for humankind.
May your fortune be, when your days are done,
To have radiated a light behind!

—EDMUND VANCE COOKE.

MATHEW TEMPERANCE INSTITUTE

The Mathew Temperance Institute held its regular weekly meeting last evening with President Arthur M. Flaherty in the chair and several matters of interest to the members were discussed. A committee was appointed to devise ways and means to assist in the movement for the erection of a chapel at Lakeview. Many of the members are prominently identified with the summer colony at Lake Masouppic and at their request the society has decided to offer its active co-operation in establishing the fund being raised for the chapel's construction. The members of the committee are Joseph Finnegan, chairman; James McGovern, secretary; Mathew Ryan, Harold McKeon, William Ryan, Francis A. Clarke, Bernard H. Rourke, Thomas J. Tighe, George W. Bowers, Thomas J. Durkin and Arthur M. Flaherty.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

After a heavy rain the roofs of some buildings within view of The Sun building show pools of water that remain for days, sometimes for weeks. The owners evidently have no idea of the condition of their property so far as the roof is concerned.

The members of the Lowell post of the American Legion are not interfering in city hall matters and are in no way concerned with the affair of Officer Rynne as some people seem to suppose. The members are not trying to discredit anybody who did not go to the war and they are not interfering with the rights of others if occasionally they endeavor to assert their own or to stand up for the interests of the city, state or nation.

It is most interesting to note how popular the movies continue to be even in the most heated seasons of the year. Certainly, one could not ask for a more sultry night than last Monday, when there was little or no inducement for one to remain indoors if he could possibly get out. However, most of the local movie houses had few vacant seats in their orchestra floors and a large part of their balconies was filled. I don't know whether the theatres happened to have especially attractive offerings Monday, but the weather certainly didn't deter a large majority of their patrons from attending. Perhaps there's a bit of psychology entering into the matter; if one has his mind on the plot of an interesting movie he won't think of the heat. At any rate, the movies are continuing to attract even in July.

June, the month of roses, is past, but beautiful displays of the flowers are still to be seen in some of the home gardens of Lowell. One such display, that cannot fail to attract the attention of any person with a love for color and the beautiful, is in the yard adjoining the residence at the corner of Lawson and Queen streets. At one side of the yard is a trellis with a bending arch connecting its two pedestals. At the base of one of the pedestals a crimson rambler has been planted, and its limbs have climbed up to and started across the arch. It is just now a wild riot of crimson bloom and beauty. At the other side of the trellis is a rose bush with blossoms of a delicate pink. The thought naturally occurs—what a pity that a picture so entrancing to the eye cannot be caught and preserved in a photograph. But, alas, no very practical way has yet been discovered for making photograph prints in the original colors of nature. The colored photographs that one sees in the store windows are not, as some people think, photographs in colors. They are colored photographs, that is the pictures are made in the usual photographic way and then tinted by hand with water colors. There are the autochroms, and similar other kinds of photographic plates, that give transparencies that in some degree reproduce the colors of nature but not many of these are made.

LEGLESS OPTIMIST DRIVES JITNEY

BY EDWIN D. RIDER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, July 14.—In W. E. Gannaway there's a whole sermon on optimism.

Gannaway is perhaps the only legless jitney driver in America!

In a wreck near Kansas City in 1910, Gannaway, a brakeman, suffered both his legs cut off just above the knee. Did he give up life's struggle as many similarly afflicted do and start begging on the street?

Started All Over

Not "Bill" Gannaway! He just started all over again. For three years he ran a little hotel, but this life wasn't active enough for an old railroader.

So he invented special controls for a Ford and became a legless jitney driver. From the clutch he had a wide iron band extended to the edge of the seat so that he can operate it by pushing with his left "stub." All the other controls have special iron handle extensions that he works with his right hand while steering with his left. The new controls are his own inventions.

An Expert Driver

He is said to be one of the most careful and expert drivers in the city. Many who live out Troost way wait for Gannaway to come around.

Bill has a cheery outlook and is happy in his new work. He has never had an accident. "Speedin' don't pay," he says, "just gets you tore up."

ORPHANAGE CHILDREN'S OUTING

The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street was held yesterday in Tewksbury, the children being entertained on the beautiful lawn of the O.M.I. novitiate. The trip to the neighboring town was made in two special electrics and was under the direction of Rev. Joseph A. Bolduc, O.M.I. In the course of the day, games were played, a program of sports was carried out and the little folks were treated with ice cream and tonic, while at noon they were served an appetizing dinner to which they did fine justice.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

While operating his motorcycle through Gorham street early this morning James Logan of 3 Webster street crashed into a tree and as a result he is at St. John's hospital with severe injuries to his head, while his machine is a wreck. The accident occurred at about 1.30 o'clock near the corner of Fay street and shortly afterwards Logan was found on the roadside about 20 feet away from his cycle. The ambulance removed him to the hospital.

$50,000 Fire in Chelsea

CHELSEA, July 14.—The dyehouse and bleachery of Walker Brothers was damaged early today by a fire which caused the sounding of a general alarm. The blaze started in the drying room. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

Returns Bag Containing $20,000

NASHUA, N. H., July 14.—Edwin B. Saunders of 134 Amherst street, wholesale meat dealer, while driving his auto back from Boston, picked up a bag in the road which contained $20,000. Of this amount $3500 was in cash and the remainder in stocks and bonds. When he opened the bag after reaching home he learned the address of the owner, a clergyman living just outside Boston, whose name he declined to give.

"TWO OLD VETS HOME"

Old Home in Tyngsboro Passes Into Hands of New Owners

The "Two Old Vets' home" in Tyngsboro, one of the oldest houses in this part of the country and long a familiar landmark has passed into the hands of new owners—George and Stella Ella Rand—and has been repaired and treated to its first coat of paint so that appearance that it has borne for many years has been much changed.

The house is supposed to have been built by Oliver Coburn. His father is believed to have been killed at the battle of Bunker Hill. In the same battle the son, who was called "Tumpy" by his comrades, was a drummer boy. "Tumpy" served through all of the Revolutionary war and then came to Tyngsboro to build his small home.

The house has all of the familiar features of the houses built over a century ago, including great fireplaces in the living rooms. Adjoining is a well that is noted for its soft and mellow water.

HUNTING TROUBLE IS HOBBY OF CHICAGO'S DEMON LEGISLATOR

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 13.—Lots of big city aldermen and councilmen dodge troublesome issues. They keep their jobs safe.

Not Max Adamowski, member of the Chicago board of aldermen from the twenty-eighth ward.

Adamowski goes out and borrows trouble. He's Chicago's demon legislator.

Paving ordinances and traction franchises and telephone rate raises bore him. There is no romance in them, none of the human touch. They're big things, but he prefers agitating for legislation on other things, even if some of them are bizarre.

Here are some of Adamowski's most recently proposed ordinances and investigations:

A law to prevent women from smoking in public.

Probe of the cost of apples from the orchard to the pie.

Police court fines for landlords who don't make apartment house janitors keep radiators hot in winter.

Ordinances regulating the high cost of eating in one-armed restaurants.

Investigation of cold storage food speculators.

And besides, Adamowski is interested in Alderman Kostner's plan to abolish by legislation "lightning-change" apartments of one and two rooms. He says the "bed-in-the-wall" flats are unsanitary. Calls them "race suicide flats."

Adamowski proposed his no-smokes-for-women ordinance because he said smoking has a bad effect on young girls.

He wants to find out, by pursuing the apple from the tree to the barrel, to the market, to the baker and finally to the restaurant, why an apple pie that used to cost the restaurant keeper 15 cents now costs 40 and 50 cents. He is against the half-dollar pie.

Flat dwellers are cheering the Adamowski proposed ordinance to fix the minimum winter flat temperature at 70 degrees Fahrenheit between 6 in the morning and 10 at night.

"I plan a minimum fine of $25 and a maximum fine of $200," says Adamowski, "for each time a landlord neglects to provide the necessary heat—each day to be a separate offense. The same for workshops and factories."

Adamowski is chairman of the council committee investigating the high cost of living. Just before they started probing activities of cold storage food speculators he called the committee together to start gathering facts. He had City Food Director Russell J. Poole prepare a lunch of sandwiches, pie and coffee, and lecture on prices.

The sandwiches cost 5½ cents each, the pie 5 cents a cut, the coffee a cent a cup. With statistics by the yard and the evidence before them the Adamowski committee began investigating the high cost of living—by eating the evidence.

The girls at Joplin, Mo., have discovered that the white cloth of sugar sacks, cleaned and dyed, makes lovely waists and smocks, as well as milk strainers and shoe polishers. One stenographer has a sugar sack waist embroidered in wool.

BOULEVARD DANCE HALL

Application for Dance Hall License Filed With License Commission

Louis and George Bechard and Edward J. and Theophile Lirette filed application for a license for the dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard with the license commissioners last night. The proposed erection of a dance hall on the boulevard is meeting with more or less opposition in the Pawtucketville section and the promoters sought the advice of the commissioners last night in the event of the erection of the hall. The commissioners announced that if any opposition was made after the filing of the application a hearing would be held. They also stated that no license could be issued until the dance hall is completed.

The promoters have already spent $8000 on the project in the purchase of lumber and other materials. The foundation of the hall is already completed and the entire hall will represent about $20,000 in capital.

Minor Licenses

The board granted the following minor licenses:

Common victualler—Constantine Victualles, 523 Dutton street; Lowell Community Service, by John J. Walsh, 175 Dutton street; Charles E. Beaulieu, 28 Thorndike street E. T. Shaw Co., 19-29 Prescott street. Hawker and peddler—John Satpian, 69 Fulton street; Gartono Maladrino, North Billerica; Isaac Harris, 17 Sheldon street. Second-hand motors, Lowell Oakland company, 524 Middlesex street. Express—William J. Canole, R.F.D. 2, Dracut; William G. Mellen, 26 Dingley street; Lodging-houses—Joseph Beaudreau, 10 Lee st.; Hogop Margkarian, 55 Gorham street, Mrs. Frances Howard, 78 Chelmsford street; Cora A. Toby, 75 Westford street; Elsie Mayo, 601 Merrimack street. To sell ice cream on the Lord's day—Henry Leclair, 871 Moody street; Goza Stepanian 259 Central street; Roasanna Barber, 10 Grove street; John E. Shrigley, 1161 Lawrence street.

WOULD REDUCE BLADDER OPERATIONS

CHICAGO, July 14.—A painless method of treating diseases of the gall bladder, which it was claimed would eliminate surgical operations in more than 50 per cent. of such cases, has been perfected by Dr. Frank Smithies, associate professor of medicine in the University of Illinois, it was announced today at the Augustina hospital clinic, where Dr. Smithies demonstrated his method to physicians and surgeons.

Following the line of experiment taken by Prof. Meltzer of the Rockefeller Institute, New York, Dr. Smithies' device consists mainly of a small, egg-shaped perforated ball, about one-quarter of an inch in diameter and one-half inch long and 54 inches of rubber tubing about the size of a lead pencil. The ball is easily swallowed by patients and the contents of the gall ducts are painlessly drawn through the tube by suction.

Dr. Smithies is secretary-general of the American College of Physicians and the American congress of Internal medicine.

SUMMER TELEPHONE CHARGES REDUCED

Under the terms of an order made public yesterday afternoon by William H. O'Brien, chief of the telephone and telegraph bureau of the public utilities commission, the New England Telephone and Telegraph company is directed to allow a five months' minimum charge for seasonal telephone service.

The decision affects owners of summer residences who desire to install telephone service for only a portion of the year. It will undoubtedly be appreciated by them. At present they must agree to pay for a seven months' service, even though they use the telephone for only a month or two. The reduction was made after a conference between Mr. O'Brien and the representatives of the telephone company.

BUMPER CROPS OF HAY AND TOBACCO

BOSTON, July 14.—Bumper crops of hay and tobacco in Massachusetts this year were predicted by the state department of agriculture today. A continuation of favorable weather, it was said, would result in nearly normal crops of all kinds despite adverse conditions in the spring. The department said that acreage had been decreased 15 to 20 per cent, as a result of the scarcity of farm laborers earlier in the season but that the supply of workers is sufficient now.

POOR LITTLE RICH KIDS BEHIND THE RED WALL

These exclusive photographs were taken by James Hare, world-famous press photographer, in Kiep, while the Polish and Bolshevik armies were battling for the city. When they were snapped the Poles were in possession of the city. Now the Reds have recaptured the famous old Russian city and have pushed the Polish line back. Fierce fighting continues.

"The group of kiddies," writes Hare, "are children of the richest people in Kiev. Despite their worn and patched clothing they are the best dressed youngsters in the whole city."

Below, former Russian general who eks out an existence by selling cigarets on the streets of Kiev. He went right on with his work during the struggle for the city.

Above, an aged Russian refugee who had money before the war and is now begging in Kiev. He is too old to be of any use in the Bolshevik labor gangs. Some of the Russian girls in Kiev still manage to dress attractively, in a crude way, despite the terrible shortage of clothing and cloth in Bolo-land—as the lower picture shows.

FARMER MANUFACTURER

Dairy Owners Move for Complete Independence in Milk Business

N.E.A. Staff Special

NEW YORK, July 14.—A step forward in the direction of complete independence from milk distributing companies is being taken by the dairy farmers of New York and five adjoining states.

Some $3,000 of these, organized in the Dairymen's league, Inc., already own co-operatively 12 country milk plants, and a campaign has just been launched to establish new plants in 13 different sections of league territory. The new project involves raising a fund of nearly $4,000,000.

All Milk Products

The plants include fluid milk shipping stations, butter and cheese factories and places for the manufacture of condensed, powdered and evaporated milk and other milk products.

Until farmers set out to get possession of country milk stations all such plants were owned by the distributors and manufacturers. Under the new scheme of things the farmer will be a manufacturer as well as a producer.

According to league officials the co-operative plan will give the producer a steady market for his milk and assure him a more equitable distribution of the proceeds. Co-operative activities will result in reduced costs, they declare, and consumers will reap the benefits.

Fair Price, More Trade

Fair prices, they add, will bring increased volume of business and increased returns to the producer-manufacturer.

Only recently the American relief administration placed with the Dairymen's League Co-operative association an order for something like 6,000,000 cans of the Dairymen's league brand of sweetened condensed milk. The total deliveries will amount in value to about $1,500,000.

HEALTH ADVICE

Rheumatism as Explained by U. S. Health Department

There are different forms of rheumatism, and some of the forms have several different names. Acute rheumatism, acute articular rheumatism and rheumatic fever are terms applied to one and the same disease. A milder form of the affection is called subacute rheumatism. In this form the symptoms are less severe, but the disease is more prolonged. It may continue for a long time and become chronic.

The term muscular rheumatism indicates an affection of the muscles as distinguished from joint affections. Lumbago and stiff neck are varieties of muscular rheumatism. The muscles, however, to a greater or less extent, may be involved in any form of rheumatism.

Other conditions simulating rheumatism, occurring in connection with or directly due to gonorrhea or to syphilis, are called gonorrheal rheumatism or syphilitic rheumatism as the case may be.

Rheumatism, either the acute or the chronic form may be due to the absorption of germs, or poisons produced by them, from abscesses at the roots of the teeth, or infections in the tonsils, nasal passages or other parts of the body.

Acute rheumatism (rheumatic fever) is a comparatively common disease in all climates within the temperate zone. It occurs chiefly during the winter and spring. Exposure to a cold damp atmosphere is the most frequently exciting cause in persons predisposed to the disease.

It may or may not begin with a chill or with a sore throat. The larger joints are usually affected. Swelling, heat, redness, tenderness and pain are the chief symptoms. The inflammation is apt to shift from one joint to another. The pain and fever are usually increased in proportion to the number of joints involved. The majority of cases are attended with profuse perspirations, scanty, highly acid urine, coated tongue and constipation. The heart is frequently involved.

In all cases of rheumatism a physician should be called for much harm may be done by improper treatment or neglect.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY ALL ITS OWN

In spring, when our lawns are dotted with glowing crocuses, one is not surprised to hear that this gay, yellow flower signifies cheerfulness in the romantic language of flowers.

Dedicated to Lovers

In the middle ages, however, the crocus was dedicated to lovers. It was said that it bloomed at dawn on St. Valentine's day and that it possessed the faculty to inspire love. Sashy maidens gathered crocuses and brewed love potions from them.

The old Greeks and Romans used the crocus as medicine to prevent pestilence and plague and the odor of it was so well liked that Roman houses were decorated with crocuses on festive occasions.

Crocus and Smilax

The Greeks have a charming legend about the origin of this flower. Crocus was a handsome youth who loved a beautiful shepherdess, Smilax. Because the gods would not allow them to marry, Crocus killed himself. Flora, the goddess, pitied Smilax in her deep sorrow, and transformed both lovers into plants. Crocus became the beautiful flower named after him, and Smilax a vine. The tendrils of this vine were used to bind the garlands of crocuses that the Greeks used at their marriage festivals.

NEW STATION TO STUDY THE SUN

N.E.A. Staff Special

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Perhaps science is about to "find a use for sun spots."

These mysterious patches on the face of the sun have puzzled observers for years. Now it is believed they influence the weather and the Smithsonian Institution is about to establish a new sun-observing station in the Hagua Hala mountains in Arizona, where clouds are rare.

For 15 years observations of the amount of heat reaching the earth from the sun (solar radiation) has been carefully measured and Smithsonian scientists at Calama, Chili, discovered that the amount varied constantly, due to sun spots and other changes in the surface of the sun.

They also found that these changes in the "complexion" of Old Sol were followed in a few days by weather changes on earth.

One hundred and fifty signboards have been recently donated by a lumber company to the chamber of commerce of ——, and have been placed at all of the cross roads and blind turns within a radius of 40 miles of that city.

SQUAW GOES INTO RING WITH "VAMP"

Personal encounters between Indian women to settle affairs of honor are not infrequent, and this is particularly true of the women of the Ponca tribe, who, although stoical and in many instances the slaves, particularly, of their husbands, are extremely jealous of their "men." They invariably settle their differences on the spot.

"They fight like wildcats," is the declaration of one rancheman who has lived among these Indians since the first days in Oklahoma. Seeing these women on the streets here daily, attired always in semi-tribal costume, seemingly paying little attention to anything that is going on, it is impossible to understand that they possess this spirit of jealousy. Their ties with their bucks they hold inviolate, however, and the squaw who attempts to go between them must fight whenever her interference becomes known.

Only recently there was a settlement of an affair of this nature in the general store on the Big V ranch, southwest of this city. The two Ponca squaws happened to meet in the store where they had both come to trade. One had accused the other of trying to "vamp" her husband and this was the first meeting of the two. Excepting for a brief quarrel in the Ponca tongue there were no preliminaries, and the bout started forthwith.

"It was one of the most bitterly fought encounters I have ever witnessed even between Indian women," said one of the white men who happened to be present. "It was not only a fairly good boxing match, but it developed into a rough and tumble, together with hair-pulling, biting and scratching, with frequent clinches.

"No Indian seemed to have any intention to interfere with the bout, and the white men have learned that these are strictly affairs of honor, to be kept away from. In fact, the man who would interfere might get a good trouncing for his trouble. Consequently, the two women were permitted to have a finish fight.

"That portion of the general stock of the store that happened to be in the way of the fighters suffered considerably, and when the bount finally ended, with the complainant as the victor, there were cans of vegetables and fruit scattered everywhere, tubs were overturned, turnips, potatoes, sweet potatoes and onions were fairly well mixed on the floor. The Ponca women permit no double standard of morals. The man in the case is held equally guilty by his squaw with the woman who has tempted him, and he is not infrequently given a sound trouncing by his wronged wife."

"There are very few instances where the squaw, if she so desires, cannot and does not thrash her buck if he proves rebellious or unfaithful," said the man quoted above. "The women are accustomed to do more work than the men, who really do none at all if there is any way out of it. Consequently, the women are in better fighting trim. If the buck gets gay he is attended to immediately by his squaw.

"There are very few of these affairs of honor that ever reach the courts. None of them do through the Indians themselves. Once in a while the courts learn of a misdemeanor and the offending parties are taken in, but this is very seldom."—Tulsa World.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 14.—A firm undertone prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, although trading was less active than at the outset of yesterday's session. Favorites in the Equipment, oil and railway groups were responsive to short covering especially American Car, Mexican Petroleum and Reading in which initial advances extended from one to almost two points. Tobacco, sugar and rubber shares also strengthened. American Woolen was the only reactionary feature, falling back a large fraction.

An extension of the early advance was followed by profit-taking which canceled most gains. Later oils and equipments featured another rally with independent steels, motors and investment rails. Mexican Petroleum rose two points, Baldwin 2½, Lackawanna 3½, Crucible 2½ and Studebaker 1½. Conspicuous transportations included Jersey Central which jumped 5 points on a few sales and Canadian Pacific and Northern Pacific gained 1 point each. Call money opened at 8 per cent., that being considered a fair rate in view of tomorrow's heavy treasury withdrawals. Foreign exchange was weak, bills on London falling three cents below yesterday's closing price.

Unfavorable trade reports precipitated the selling movement in automobile shares and related issues at midday. Studebaker, Chandler and General motors lost 1 to 2 points and the rubber tire accessories 1 to 3 points. The reversal also affected steels, equipments and rails.

Shippings were among the weak stocks of the final hour when the shorts renewed their aggressive tactics in equipments and steels. The closing was heavy.

OFFICER RYNNE'S CASE

Hearing Scheduled for Today Didn't Materialize—Officer's Own Story

Michael F. Rynne, the patrolman who was last week transferred from the municipal swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard to other police duty on the charge that he refused to wear a regulation police uniform, stated today that he was told by Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Supt. John W. Kernan of the park department when the new bath house was opened for the season to wear a bathing suit while on duty at the bath house. He did so, thinking that he was complying with the wishes of his superiors. The next development, he said, was an order from the park commission asking him to wear his regular police uniform, despite the instruction of the superintendent and the mayor that he should wear a bathing suit.

In order to clear up the matter and present his side of the story Patrolman Rynne visited Clarence W. Weed, chairman of the board of park commissioners, last Saturday, and asked for a hearing.

It was agreed then, Rynne said today, that he should be given a hearing at the office of the park department in city hall at 12 o'clock, noon, today. He visited the office at 12 and found the door locked and nobody connected with the department, in sight, he says.

"I do not feel that I have been given a square deal in the matter," Rynne said after coming from city hall. "I have refrained from telling my side of the story, hoping that I would be given an opportunity to present it to the proper officials. When I was ready to do so this noon, however, I found the door of the park department office locked despite my previous arrangement with Chairman Weed to be heard today. I think it is now time for me to let the public know my side of the case."

High Humidity Today

pleton street the usual wire trouble caused by excessive humidity was in evidence but Manager Charles J. Leathers said that the situation had not yet become serious. High humidity dampens the delicate mechanism of the huge switchboard at the exchange and, of course, this trouble is almost immediately reflected in the service. But as soon as any defects are discovered they are remedied by experts so that the effect on the general public has so far been almost negligible. The real humid days come later in the summer and then more serious inconveniences may result but up to the present time this has not been the case.

Asked if individual subscribers could do anything to avoid this trouble, Manager Leathers said that they could not, as the trouble was wholly in the main exchange. In Worcester 600 'phones have been put out of commission by the humidity.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $50.00

100,000 MARKS CAN BE CONTROLLED FOR $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks held on option advance to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $160.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly. Send for explanatory circular.

EDITOR RATHOM TO BE A WITNESS

CHICAGO, July 14.—John R. Rathom, editor of the Providence, R. I. Journal will be an important witness for Mrs. Mary C. Melvin, who, with the aid of Gaston Means, is fighting to prove the validity of the alleged second will of James C. King, most of whose estate, now valued at $5,000,000 will become Mrs. Melvin's property if the will is held genuine, counsel for Means announced today. They petitioned Circuit Court Judge Baldwin to permit Mr. Rathom to make a deposition that Means showed him the contested will in October or November, 1915. Judge Baldwin consented.

The Northern Trust Co., trustee of the estate, contends that Means, before he showed the will to anyone, made a prolonged and thorough investigation of King's life.

"He showed the will to Rathom in 1915," Mrs. Melvin's attorneys declared, "shortly after he found it, and asked Mr. Rathom to have it photographed because he wanted to send photographs to various typewriter manufacturers to determine what typewriter was used in writing the will.

"The investigation was made to get evidence to prove the genuineness of the will."

der the true welfare of the nation. It is, of course, well known that seven-eighths of the opposition of these senators is not to the league of nations, but to the person of the president of the United States himself.

"History will take care of the great part Woodrow Wilson has played. But the democratic party enters the campaign with the clear cut purpose of proving that the world war has not been fought in vain. Senator Harding says 'Should the democrats win, the treaty and the league will be ratified.' He is right. No one, probably not even Senator Harding himself, knows what could happen should the republicans win. One branch of his supporters, such as Senator Hiram Johnson, assures the nation that a republican victory means no League of Nations. Another branch, led by such men as former President Taft, assures the nation that a republican victory means the acceptance of the league with certain undefined reservations.

The rest of Senator Harding's statement is the usual vague summoning forth of bogies and imaginary ghosts, of horrible pictures of American soldier boys waging war in Poland, Russia and Turkey, and at the end he talks in glittering terms about the charge of 'a surrender of the republic.'

"I yield nothing in my devotion to the United States to Senator Harding, to Senator Penrose, to Senator Johnson, or to any of their followers. Rather, I believe they are the ones who fail to visualize the great future and the independent future of this nation.

One of the prominent issues is thus becoming early and clearly drawn. A democratic victory means ratification of the treaty and the League of Nations, which as the world knows, is already constituted. A republican victory means that the United States, with Russia, Mexico and Turkey, shall remain outside. The election of Harding means that in case of future war the United States will enter the war after the conflic has begun. The election of Cox means that the United States, in participation with the other civilized nations of the world, through the League of Nations, solve international difficulties and prevent a recurrence of the holocaust of 1914-1918."

ST. LOUIS GIRL RESCUED

Jessie Costello, Abducted in April, Found With Gypsies, in Havana

HAVANA, July 14.—Jessie Costello, 10 years old, daughter of John Costello, of St. Louis, said to have been missing from her home since April 25, was rescued last night by detectives who raided a house in the Jesus del Monte suburb of Havana and arrested a gypsy woman named Milano Merino, and her son and daughter, George and Anna. The raid was made at the solicitation of the girl's father, who the police say, has been on the trail of the child's alleged abductors for more than a month. Besides abduction of the child, Costello charges the gypsies with having robbed him of $1750 in money which, according to the authorities, was found in the raided house.

LOWELL BOY IN OLYMPIC TRYOUT

William F. Walsh, prominent in his grammar school days as an athlete for the Morey school and on last Memorial day as the winner in the half-mile run on the South common, will be the only boy from this city who will compete in that event in the National A.A.U. junior tryouts for the Olympic games at the Harvard stadium in Cambridge on Friday, July 16. If Walsh comes out a winner on Friday he will be listed up for the senior tryouts on Saturday.

Walsh has shown considerable speed lately and his friends and backers expect good results on Friday. Even if he does not come through as a competitor unattached for the Olympic games he has a chance of showing his speed against several other men from distant parts of the country.

The Mandarin, which will have a cargo-carrying capacity of 10,500 tons being 445 feet long, and with beam of 55 feet, is the first of four sister ships contracted for with the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works of Shanghai by the United States shipping board. The other three vessels are to be launched in coming months.

Old Welsh Dishes Are Favorites on English Prime Minister's Table

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE, FIRST CIVILIAN LADY OF GREAT BRITAIN, PREPARES HER HUSBAND'S DISHES

LONDON, England, July 14.—What's the old saying about the way to a man's heart? Mrs. Lloyd George, wife of the prime minister of England, must have learned it long ago. At any rate she has kept to the old Welsh traditions of good cooking, and knows the secrets of her husband's favorite dishes.

Here are four of Lloyd George's favorite dishes from recipes prepared by the first civilian lady in the British empire:

His Favorite Soup

The white parts of 8 or 10 leeks, and 4 potatoes, 3 pints of milk, half a pint of white stock, a small piece of margarine or butter. Method: Slice the potatoes and leeks very thin, put in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of water and a little salad oil or other fat. Simmer gently till tender. When quite soft, pass through a wire sieve and add milk, and stock. Pepper and salt to taste. The soup should not boil after the milk is added or it will curdle.

His Favorite Pudding

One pound flour, 1 pound of suet, a less raisins, one-half pound of suit, a pinch of salt. Mix all together and moisten with milk. Put the mixture in a basin and boil (or steam it) for two hours. Serve with sauce or sugar.

His Favorite Tea Cake

One-half pound flour, 1 ounce of butter, 1 tablespoon of sugar. Rub the butter into the flour, add the sugar. Mix with the milk into a stiff dough and roll into thin, round cakes. Bake on a frying-pan, turning them over so as to brown both sides. Serve hot buttered.

His Favorite Currant Cake

Two pounds of flour, one-half pound of butter, 1 pound of raisins, 1 pound of currants, one-half pound of lard, one-quarter pound of mixed peel, 1 pound of sugar, 3 eggs, 1 packet of baking powder, 1 nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful carbonate of soda, some milk. Method: Rub the butter and lard into the flour, add the other ingredients, mix with sufficient milk to make rather a stiff dough. Divide into two or three cakes and bake in the oven.

Most people think that about the only typical Welsh dishes are stewed leeks, and the well-known Welsh rarebit. But here are four very old Welsh recipes which may be interesting to cooks who want to try something new. The Welsh names of the dishes are given, as prepared in Lloyd George's native town of Criccieth in Wales.

"Brwas"

Crumble a teacupful of white bread, put it into a basin, add a little salt, 1 teaspoonful of good dripping. Cover it with boiling water, let it remain for a few minutes, then crumble a little crisp oatmeal cake and add it lightly on the top of it, not too much to make it hard.

"Siran Gwyn"

Cover a basinful of oatmeal with 1 quart of cold water and half a teacupful of buttermilk, leave it to steep for two nights, then pour off the water. Put the thick portion through a sieve, adding another pint of cold water to it. Put it in a pan with a little ginger and sugar to taste. Boil for ten minutes, stirring it all the time.

"Torth Gri"

Two basinfuls of white flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of baking powder, 1 of egg powder, 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar, pinch of salt, quarter of pound of butter or margarine. Put baking powder and the egg powder in the flour; also rub in the butter, then mix all together with a little milk, roll out and bake on a griddle.

"Llymru"

Three basinfuls of oatmeal, 3 quarts of water, 2 teacupfuls of buttermilk. Cover the oatmeal with the water and buttermilk; let it remain for two nights; then pour off the water, add a little fresh water to it and put it through a sieve. Then put it in a pan and, when it begins to boil, add 3 tablespoonfuls of white flour to it mixed with cold water and free from lumps. Boil it all together for 10 minutes, stirring it all the time.

JUST A FACULTY

BY JAMES HENLE,
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 14.—"It doesn't take brains to make money."

That is a common enough saying.

Recently a sheriff's jury declared John W. O'Bannon incompetent. Not only has O'Bannon accumulated a fortune of from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000 through his own efforts, but testimony in court brought out the fact that during the past 52 days, when he was confined in the Riverdale sanitarium he has made $2,000,000.

Still Money Capable

"Who's looney now?" O'Bannon might inquire with some pertinency.

Nobody doubts that O'Bannon is not his old self, but, on the other hand, nobody can deny that he is still capable of making heaps and heaps of money. While he was in the sanitarium he worked out a scheme by which that institution could incorporate and quadruple its profits.

I brought the story of this amazing paradox to Dr. John D. Quackenbos of this city, eminent specialist in nervous diseases.

"There is nothing really surprising in this case," Dr. Quackenbos declared. "There are many wealthy men who develop monomania or paranoia and who do not lose their money-making ability.

Calls It a Faculty

"Money-making in itself does not imply nor require the possession of a gigantic intellect. It is as specialized a faculty as the ability to play the violin or to play chess. We read of infant prodigies who are musical wonders or marvels at chess, but they seldom at maturity show a normal, well-rounded intellect.

"More than one rich man, I have no hesitation in saying, is much inferior intellectually to his chauffeur.

"Many a man has made money in Wall street simply as the result of blind luck. I have yet to see that the acquisition of wealth requires the use of extraordinary intelligence."

CASE CONTINUED

Ralph S. Saybell, charged with breaking, entering and larceny, pleaded not guilty and was given continuance for trial on July 16, under $200 bail, in police court this morning. He was arrested by Lieut. Petrie, Inspector Walsh, Sergt. Bigelow and Officer Burns late yesterday, after a report had been sent into the station that a freight car off Meadowcroft street had been broken into.

FIRST RACE THURSDAY

America's Cup Contests Resumed After Lapse of 17 Years

NEW YORK, July 14.—The first race in 17 years for the America's cup will start tomorrow off Sandy Hook, the contesting boats being the cup defender Resolute, and the challenger Sir Thomas S. Lipton's Shamrock IV. It may be interesting at this time both to yachtsmen and to a great many who are not acquainted with this form of sport to read a few facts in connection with this historic yachting trophy.

To begin with the America's cup at first was not an international trophy. In fact it had no significance other than being a prize offered by the Royal Yacht Squadron for a race around the Isle of Wight, Eng., which was open to all nations. In August, 1851, the schooner yacht America, owned by Commodore John C. Stevens and four other members of the New York Yacht Club, won this race and the cup became their property. Six years later Commodore Stevens and his associates conveyed the prize to the New York Yacht club in trust as a perpetual international trophy which has since been known as the America's cup, taking its name from the schooner yacht which won it in British waters.

The first race for the America's cup, as an international prize, was held on August 8, 1870, over the regular course of the New York Yacht club in New York's lower bay. The challenging boat was Cambria, owned by James Ashbury, of the Royal Yacht Squadron, Eng., and the cup was defended by practically the whole fleet of the New York Yacht club. That, however, was the only race in which the challenger ever had to sail against a fleet and the only contest in which the issue was decided by a single race. Cambria, by the way, finished tenth in that event while the old America finished fourth, the race being won by Magic, the yacht Idler finishing second.

In all there have been twelve contests for the cup, in the second of which Mr. Ashbury challenged with the schooner Livonia and the New York Yacht club agreed to defend the trophy with only one boat in the race. The 1871 contest was the best four out of seven races, Livonia won a single race owing to the steering gear of the defender Columbia breaking down. Only twice since that day, October 16, 1871, has a challenging yacht crossed the finish line ahead of the defending boat. On September 10, 1895, Valkyrie III, after following the defender finished 1 minute and 16 seconds ahead of the American boat and on October 4, 1901, Shamrock II. finished two seconds ahead of Columbia but lost to the defender by virtue of conceding 42 seconds time allowance.

In the races of 1876, 1881, 1885, 1886 and 1887, the contests were decided on the basis of the best two out of three races. From 1893 to the last race in 1903 the agreement was for the best three out of five races.

On only three occasions has one of the competing yachts for the America's cup failed to finish. In the last race of the 1903 contest, Valkyrie III. withdrew immediately after crossing the starting line. On October 17, 1885, Shamrock lost her topmast and withdrew in the second race of that year and on September 3, 1903, Shamrock II., and not Intan in the final race of the series as she was already beaten and had nothing to gain by continuing.

Just once in the history of the cup races has a competing yacht been disqualified. This was in the second race of the series of 1920 when Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie III. was disqualified for fouling Defender.

The fastest time ever made in a race for the America's cup is credited to the old schooner Columbia. On October 12, 1871, the day before she was defeated by Livonia, she sailed 30 miles leeward and windward, 60 miles in all, in 8 hours, 1 minute and 53 seconds. It must not be inferred, however, that the Columbia was the fastest yacht that ever sailed for the cup. There is no method of determining the relative speed of two or more boats other than by the results of a race in which they sail together. When Columbia made the fast time referred to she doubtedly the conditions of wind, weather and sea were most favorable.

The fastest time ever made on a 15-mile course straight away and return, 30 miles in all, is credited to the defender Vigilant. In a race on October 13, 1893, she covered the course in 4 hours, 24 minutes and 22 seconds.

The fastest time in a triangular race for the cup was made by Columbia on October 3, 1891, the time for the distance, thirty miles, being 3.50.15.

In the first three contests for the cup the challenging boats were schooners and the defenders for the second and third also were schooners. In all other contests, however, the yachts have been sloops or cutters.

The smallest challenger in the history of the cup race was Atlanta, which was built at Bellville, Ontario, Can., in 1881. She measured 65 feet on the water line and was the first sloop to appear in a contest.

The first yacht ever built especially to defend the trophy was Puritan in 1885. This was in 1881. Prior to that year the New York Yacht club had selected from its fleet the yacht considered to be best suited for the purpose. Pocahontas did not come up to expectations and was rejected in favor of Mischief, one of the finest sloops of the fleet. Since that year, however, new defenders have been built for every contest.

There were two candidates for the honor of defending the cup in 1886, two in 1887, and four in 1893, and in every contest, excepting one since the race between Atlanta and Mischief the cup has been defended by a yacht built for that particular race. The one exception was in 1901 when Constitution built for the race of that year was discarded in favor of Columbia, which successfully defended the trophy in 1899.

REDS PURCHASE LOWE

CINCINNATI, July 13.—George Lowe, right handed pitcher, today joined the Cincinnati Nationals, having been obtained from the Springfield, Mass. team.

RIFLE GRENADE PACES TO NEW RECORD

TOLEDO, O., July 14.—A big upshot in the racing of the $5000 Tecumseh stake for 2.12 trotters and the establishing of a new world's record for 3-year-old pacing geldings featured the second day of the grand circuit races at Fort Miami park yesterday.

King Watts, a 70 to 1 shot in the auctions, was the winner of the feature race, while Rifle Grenade, in the 3-year-old pace, was the record breaker, and both were driven by the Indianapolis reinsman, Lon McDonald, who has had such signal success both here and last week at North Randall.

The largest field of the season, 12 in number, started in the Tecumseh. Alta Donovan, the Tavern "steak" winner, being an even money favorite against the field, while King Watts sold at one time for $30 in $600 pools.

Eliza Dillon was bumped going away in the first heat and her driver, Fred Hyde of Hartford, was thrown and badly cut about the head, although not seriously injured.

King Watts came from behind and won the heat in a driving finish with the favorite in 2.05¾, the fastest trotting heat of the season.

Golden Spier was the contender in the second heat, but the Watts gelding was a bit the best at the end, which clinched first honors for him. He got lost in the shuffle in the final and the outsider, Allie Ashbrook, won.

When King Watts won the first heat, the $2 mutual tickets on him paid $157, while they paid $131.20 on Allie Ashbrook in the final. King Watts is owned by George Dudley of Youngstown.

Rifle Grenade was third choice in the 3-year-old pace, but he lost the field in the first heat and won handily in 2.06¾, the new record for geldings of his age. The next two heats were easy for him in slower time.

Charley Rex, a heavy favorite, was an easy winner of the first two heats of the 2.07 trot, but tired a bit in the final, and lost to Tommy Todd. The winner is owned by Chauncey Sears of Fall River, Mass.

YOUNG GOLDIE NOW ON THE WARPATH

A lively appearing lad of the 125-pound class comes to the front in the person of Young Goldie of Charlestown under the chaperonage of W. M. Sampson of Adams ave., this city. Manager Sampson says his charge would like a crack at "some of these 125-pound boys who seem to talk right" and is ready to hand a set-back to anyone of his weight. Young Goldie is now at one of the summer resorts working out every day and the minute he is called into action he will be in and ready to show his best brand of wares. He has already boxed several exhibitions with some of the best boys in New England and has made a very creditable showing. Manager Sampson may be reached at 16 Adams avenue.

RECORD PRICE PAID FOR TWO-YEAR-OLD

AQUEDUCT, N. Y., July 14.—The highest price ever paid for a two-year-old in this country was recorded here yesterday when Samuel C. Hildreth obtained Inchcape, a chestnut colt by Friar Rock, for $125,000.

An offer of $100,000 made by Hildreth after the colt's victory in the Tremont stakes last Saturday was refused by Trainer Fred Burlew, acting for his employer, J. H. Rossetter, the California shipping magnate and breeder.

Inchcape has started twice this year and was successful on both occasions. He was bred in California.

ORO FINO TAKES THE FREE-FOR-ALL

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 14.—Oro Fino, 2.03¾, bought by the Woodstock Driving club from S. B. Hastings of Boston at the Readville sale, won the free-for-all pace here yesterday in a thrilling four-heat race at the closing day of the second meeting of the Maritime and Maine circuit, before a crowd of more than 7000 persons.

Driven by J. J. (Jed) Hanlin of Boston, Oro Fino found most of his opposition in the Problem, his former stablemate in Tommy Murphy's grand circuit string, but he easily out brushed them all when called upon.

JONES AND ADAIR GET UNDER WAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 14.—Match play to decide the amateur championship of the western golf association began on the Memphis Country club course today after two days devoted to qualifying rounds. The pairings for today included:

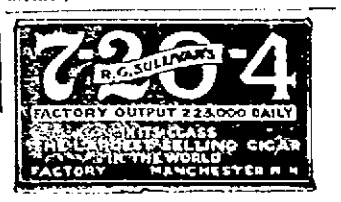
Bobby Jones, Atlanta, vs. Frank Crager, Helena, Ark.; Chick Evans, Chicago vs. J. L. Hickey, Atlanta; Perry Adair, Atlanta vs. Henry Wentzler, Memphis.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Victors defeated the Outlaws on the South common yesterday morning, 17 to 4. The batting of Cummings and Kennefick of the winners and the hitting of Moran and pitching of Sullivan of the losers were the features. Joseph D'Amour was the umpire. Both teams were made up of members of the local fire department.

MRS. ROOSEVELT GOES TO GREET HUSBAND

EASTPORT, Me., July 14.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leaving her children at the family summer home on Campobello island, has gone to Hyde Park, N. Y., to greet her husband for the first time since he was nominated as the democratic candidate for the vice presidency. She expects to return Saturday, accompanied by the candidate's mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt.



U. S. TO ENTER TEAMS IN CYCLE EVENTS

ANTWERP, July 13.—America will have 12 opponents in the bicycle road race and 10 in the Velodrome track events in the Olympic games. Among the contestants will be some of the best amateur cyclists on this side of the Atlantic, including Pekres, the famous Dutchman, who has been winning all over Europe.

Olympic committees today announced the following nations had entered the Velodrome events to be held August 5 and 10:

Great Britain, the United States, Holland, Denmark, Italy, South Africa, Canada, Luxemburg, Switzerland, Poland and France.

All of these except Switzerland will compete in the 170 kilometre road race on August 17, Czecho-Slovakia, Norway and Sweden have entered for the road race, but not for the Velodrome contests.

After much confusion due to clerical errors, it has been finally announced that the polo matches at Ostend will be played from July 24 to 31, instead of the dates in August which were announced last week. The American polo team includes Colonel Nelson E. Margetts, Col. John C. Montgomery, Captain Terry de la M. Allen and Captain Arthur Harris, regulars, with Captain William W. West, Captain K. C. Greenwald, Captain Sloan Doak and Captain Harry N. Chamberlain, substitutes. All of them are army officers, who have recently been playing in France and who are now training with the American rifle and equestrian teams at Coblenz. Against the Americans will be the Belgian, Spanish, French and British teams, this being the first time in the history of polo that five national teams have engaged in a tournament.

Although the names of her participants have not yet been received, America, according to the Olympic committee, has also entered the archery target events, which will be held here from August 3 to August 8. Only two other nations, Holland and France, have teams entered for this feature of the Olympiad.

The executive committee with the main events of the meeting only a few weeks off is endeavoring to overcome what appears to be a lack of immediate interest prevailing among many of the various sub-committees recently appointed. Some of them are charged with work of importance, but up to the present have shown so little activity that they have been sharply censured by Belgian newspapers. With the exception of the executive committee and one or two others, bodies charged with arrangements for the Olympic games have done very little up to the present, and now find themselves flooded with work and in confusion.

PLAY RESUMED IN CLAY COURT TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, July 14.—The scheduling of 27 early round doubles matches, and the coming of the 1919 national turf tennis champion for the singles, Lindley Murray, assured a heavy day's play in the national clay court tournament at the South Side Tennis club here today. In order to catch up with his field in singles, Murray faced the task of playing through three rounds in the day of play. He is not entered in the doubles.

Several fourth round singles matches were scheduled to be resumed this afternoon after they were postponed in the middle of play for a point by a violent thunder storm yesterday afternoon. Edmund Levy of California took the courts with an advantage of 4-2 in games, and 40-30 in points against Wray Brown of St. Louis. Roland Roberts of San Francisco and Harry Waldner of Winnetka, Ill., the latter the president of the Western Lawn Tennis association and a veteran holder of many championships, resumed their match today with Roberts victor in one set, 6-2, and holder of a margin of 3-1 in games for the second set.

The victory of Vincent Richards of New York over Wallace Bates of California, in the fourth round yesterday, kept the 17-year-old Yonkers star in the forefront of the tournament. He won from Bates in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, after taking an early lead of 4-0 in each set, and did not seem to put forth his best tennis in the winning. One other fourth round match was finished yesterday before the storm forced play to suspend. In this contest George O'Connell, promising schoolboy star of Chicago, defeated the Filipino student, A. Marasigan, 6-2, 6-2.

INJURIES FATAL

Little Girl Struck by Auto Dies at Hospital

Alice C. Corte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Corte of 15 Elm street, died last evening at St. John's hospital as a result of a fractured skull received in an automobile accident, which occurred in Central street late yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 o'clock at a point near Tyler street, the automobile, the property of Cruickshank Ice Cream company, being operated by Justin B. Jenkins of 201 Appleton street. The operator of the machine claims the little girl darted from the sidewalk into the path of his car. He said he applied the brakes but was unable to bring the auto to a full stop before the little girl was struck. The child was rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance and died at about 7 o'clock. Deceased was 12 years of age.

MRS. LONG BURIED IN EDGELL GROVE

FRAMINGHAM, July 14.—The funeral of Mrs. Mabelle H. Long, who was killed with Pilot Gordon H. Groah of Lynn in the aeroplane accident at Salisbury Beach, Saturday took place at her home on Winter street this afternoon at 2. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. William Allen Knight of Plymouth Congregational church, of which Mrs. Long was a member. Interment was in Edgell Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Long's husband, Richard H. Long, democratic candidate for governor last fall arrived at his home here yesterday from San Francisco, where he was a delegate-at-large to the democratic national convention. Two youngest children, Charles and Mabelle, accompanied their father.

ATTEMPT TO KILL VON HINDENBERG

BERLIN, July 14.—An unidentified man broke into Field Marshal Hindenburg's house yesterday and fired at the field marshal. The bullet missed its mark and the man escaped.

JOHNNY DUNDEE MASTER OF JOHNNY DOWNES

BOSTON, July 14.—Johnny Dundee had an easy time earning the decision over South Boston Johnny Downes in 12 rounds of boxing here last night.

That Dundee could have given Downes a worse mussing up than he did was apparent. He is one of the few boxers who does not like to damage an opponent badly when he can earn the award without doing so.

For four rounds Downes put up a stiff argument. He jabbed Dundee in the face, uppercut him with his right and a few times shot right to eye and jaw.

While Downes was doing these things, Dundee was hooking his rival in the face with his left, jabbing him on the nose and mouth and banging away at the kidneys and stomach.

In the sixth round it looked like the curtain for Downes. After Dundee had hooked him a few times he drove one to the wind that almost doubled Downes up. He saw Downes was in bad shape from the punch and with rights and lefts to the face and body sent the South Boston boy to the mat just as the bell sounded.

After that round Dundee did not exert himself to any great extent, simply working so as to carry Downes along for the remainder of the bout.

Dundee at times showed Downes how easy it was for him to hit him where and when he wanted. A few times he introduced his act of bounding off the ropes. Downes several times caught him with the right to the head when he did it.

Dundee may be slipping, but he did not show any signs of it last night. He is the same fast, clever and cunning boxer he always was, still a past master in carrying along a boxer so that he can make a good show.

REPORT NOT FAIR TO MASSACHUSETTS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 14.—The figures recently published by Col. Ayres of the Russell Sage Foundation, purporting to show that Massachusetts had dropped to ninth place among the states in educational matters, are shown in a statement issued today by Payson Smith, commissioner of education, to have been only "estimates," and essentially wrong with respect to several states.

Backing Commissioner Smith in his statement is the United States bureau of education, which declares that Col. Ayres' estimates are not accurate enough for precise comparisons, and "vitiate his entire work in its application to individual states."

"The estimates," Commissioner Smith said today, "were made in the census office at the request of the bureau of education. In making them, however, no consideration was given to anything that has happened since 1910. In each case eight-tenths of the increase between 1900 and 1910 was added to the population of 1910 and the sum was assumed to constitute the population of 1918. It was assumed that the increase from 1910 to 1918 would be uniformly in the same arithmetical ratio as between 1900 and 1910.

"The limitation of that method when applied to rapidly growing states is apparent. According to it, if a place had 100 inhabitants in 1900 and 1000 in 1910, it ought to have 1720 in 1918. In other words, the increase was 900 per cent in ten years, but would be only 72 per cent in the following eight years. It is inevitable that these estimates are much too low for many of the states, and too high for others.

"When the figures of population are too low, the ratios based upon them are too high, as a matter of course. Of the states at the head of the list, it is certain that the school population of Montana, Arizona, District of Columbia and California is greater than the census office estimates which were published and used by Col. Ayres. The reported total school enrollment in all those states is greater than the estimates of school population, the ratios being 122.3 per cent, 107.8 per cent and 106 per cent, respectively. In Montana and Arizona the enrollment in public schools alone is greater than the estimated school population used by Col. Ayres.

"Further proof of the incorrectness of the census office estimates in some states is adduced in the District of Columbia, the report of whose actual population in 1920 has been published. That population is 437,571. Calculated upon the ratio developed in 1910, the number of children between 5 and 18 is about 88,389. There has been little increase since 1918, as the school records show; the number of children two years ago was nearly as great as the number now. There were not fewer than 85,000 children between 5 and 18 in the District of Columbia at the time the census office estimated the number to be 74,521. Col. Ayres used the smaller number in his calculations, and naturally the ratios based upon it are excessively high.

"In 'School Life,' the official publication of the bureau of education, the faulty work of the report of the census office is shown in the case of Montana, which, in the report of Col. Ayres', is placed first among the states. 'With correct data', School Life says, 'that state would be several degrees removed from the top of the list!' It seems unnecessary to go further in the examination of the figures."

ARTILLERY PRACTICE AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, July 14.—Two battalions of the 42d Railway Artillery Regiment, an outfit largely composed of New England men, will arrive at Camp Devens about August 1 for two months of firing practice along the coast, according to Lieut. Waller C. Sanders, sent in advance as the representative of the regiment. Lieut. Sanders has been recruiting in the state of Maine for his outfit for some time and he says that a good many men in the regiment are from that state.

The regiment is armed with eight-inch guns mounted on railway trucks so that they can be moved with ease from point to point. Their range is 13 miles. Most of the firing, says the lieutenant, will be done either at moving or at stationary targets in the water.

The 42d Railway Artillery Regiment served in France, was at the Argonne, at St. Mihiel and in several other engagements. Its colors were decorated by the French with the Croix de Guerre. The regiment is part of the 20th Railway Artillery Brigade, which has the famous oozefinch as its shoulder insignia. The oozefinch is a bird which lives on a hill because one leg is longer than the other, and it has to stand on a slope. It has one feather and flies backwards to keep the dust out of its eyes.

ployment in the big machine shop, the Gillespie Mfg. company and the United States Cartridge company, but there are still perhaps 50 per cent. of the operatives idle. While all of them could take a vacation of two or three weeks without any great inconvenience they feel that a vacation of two months would be more than they could afford. Some of them have felt that the mills might be reopened soon so that they have not bothered as yet looking for employment elsewhere."

What was the real cause of closing down of the mill?" asked the reporter.

"Well," said the employe, "the company made a proposition that the help would work at the rate of wages in force in the month of June before the 15 per cent. increase was granted. This arrangement was to remain in force till September when according to Mr. Morrison, the rate would be restored or the same rates as paid in other mills of the same kind would be adopted.

"Some of the operatives thought this was a straight move for a cut-down in wages and that is why they rejected it. For my part, I think they made a mistake as by this arrangement the mills could have been kept running, while other woolen mills such as those of the American Woolen company have been shut down."

Another resident of the Navy Yard stated that he believed most of those who voted against accepting Mr. Morrison's proposition resided in Lowell and were confident that they could easily get employment in some of the factories in the city. Their view of the matter was of course different from that of the people who live around the mill and have worked there for a great number of years.

"Did the Merrimack Woolen mill pay as good wages as were paid in other woolen mills?" was asked another operative.

"They certainly did" was the reply. "The Merrimack paid the same scale of wages as the American Woolen Co.'s mills and during the war the operatives made splendid wages, many of them earning $50 and $55 a week. For my part I feel now that the help made a mistake in not accepting Mr. Morrison's proposition."

Another former employe of the mill said that the reason why Mr. Morrison's plan was not favored was that "it was regarded as a cut-down, that it would lower the standard of wages and that mills in other places would point to the Merrimack Woolen mill in Dracut as working on a lower scale than is in force elsewhere. The unions are against any movement to put in force a lower scale of wages. But Mr. Morrison stated that his plan was proposed only to avoid a shut-down and keep the employes working during two months when business was so dull that woolen mills everywhere had to shut down.

A gentleman at one of the local stores said that so far as he could learn the local sentiment among the people who resided in the village, it was strongly in favor of reopening the mill.

President Morrison's Statement

President Morrison was reached by telephone today and asked as to the prospects of reopening the mill before September.

"At the present time," he said, "there's nothing to warrant reopening, as I have not heard that the operatives have changed their minds in regard to a shutdown through July and August. They voted in favor of two months' idleness rather than accept the plan which I proposed, and under which I hoped to keep the mill running when other woolen mills had shut down. I guess some of them thought I was trying to put something over on them, but that was not so. I was willing to take a big chance of losing on two months' work at a time when orders were being cancelled and when conditions generally were very bad. The shortage of coal has come on the heels of other troubles to make the situation still worse. I calculate as in the plan to pay the same wages as other woolen mills and the arrangement I proposed was not a cut-down, but a mere 'tide-over' to enable us to keep running through the dull spell. I simply proposed a return to the rate of wages paid before the 15 per cent. increase and that is the rate paid today by practically all the woolen mills in operation.

"I am sorry for the shut down, sorry for our mill people being thrown out of work and scattered through the city. It was my hope to hold our force together in spite of dull times without suspension. I felt it was the best course but the operatives decided otherwise."

Running Full Time

In a report appearing in The Sun yesterday relative to the condition of affairs in mills in and around Lowell it was stated that the Beaver Brook mill of the American Woolen Co. was running on part time. An official of that mill informed The Sun today that the mill is running full time.

NEW PARKING LAW TO BE ENFORCED

"The people of this city might just as well begin now to acquaint themselves with the new parking ordinance which was adopted at the meeting of the city council yesterday morning after the proposal of Commissioner Salmon," said Supt. Welch this morning when asked as to the method of enforcing the law.

"The new law," he continued, "forbids the parking of vehicles within five feet of hydrants and within 30 feet on either side of any fire house. The maximum penalty provided in the provision is a fine of $20. Lately, Judge Enright has been imposing that amount on men found guilty of violation of city ordinances.

"I heartily endorse this law and will make every effort to have it strictly enforced as soon as it becomes effective on the 17th of this month. Since it would be almost impossible for us to post signs at all hydrants in the city it remains for the autoists to keep in mind the ordinance so that they will not have to be summoned into court.

"It will be much easier to enforce the law in regard to the fire houses because the firemen stationed there will require strict adherence to it."

DON'T LEAVE POOR PUSSY TO STARVE

If you plan to go on a vacation this summer, even though only for a few days, make arrangements for the care of your cat, or when you return you may find your pet no longer alive.

Such is the gist of a warning given local householders today by Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health, who says that the number of calls his office has had for the removal of dead cats has increased almost startlingly within the past few days.

"Many people," Mr. O'Hare says, "leave the city for their vacation and leave behind their cats, thinking that in some way or other the animal will manage to get along until their return. That is not true especially when there is any extended period of drouth as there usually is during the summer months. If a cat cannot get water to drink it will die of thirst, much more rapidly than a human being deprived of liquids. We note this situation summer after summer just as soon as the warm weather begins and people start on their vacation. This year again the annual toll of dead cats has started and one of our men is being kept on the jump removing the animals. Just a little forethought on the part of the vacationists will avoid a lot of this trouble."

AMBULANCE CASES

Louis Laserles of 217 Salem street and employed at the Lawrence Mfg. Co. received severe injuries to his face when he fell on an emery wheel while at his work shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. The ambulance removed him to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

Joseph Lamoureux of 15 Gershom avenue fell from a ladder while painting the exterior of his home shortly before 9 o'clock this morning and, besides losing two or three teeth, he also received cuts about the face. He was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital in the ambulance.

Nine families, including 42 persons, living on Ohlsen avenue, Nutley, N. J., are complaining to the water board because all the water they get for family use is supplied by a single one-inch pipe.

HALF OF NORMAL SUPPLY BEING SHIPPED

WASHINGTON, July 14.—President Wilson has been kept fully advised as to efforts by the railroad administration, the interstate commerce commission and the coal operators' association to deal with the coal shortage situation, especially at lake ports.

A report by D. M. Eldrd, assistant to the director general of the railroad administration, showing the present movement of coal about 50 per cent of normal was sent to the president today with other documents.

Discussing rumors of the possible appointment by the president of a fuel administrator, White House officials warned against intimations that such an official would not be named, explaining that an emergency might arise later to make the appointment necessary. It was said at the White House, however, that ample powers to meet present conditions were vested in the interstate commerce commission under the Esch-Cummins railroad law.
